Thieu Warns Of Attacks in Buffer Zone

Threatens Invasion of North; U. S. Pilots Hit Missile Sites

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's chief of state threatened today to bomb Hanoi or invade North Vietnam if the North Vietnamese don't stop attacking the South Vietnamese half of the demilitarized zone.

The threat by Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu came in the wake of a Communist attack on a South Vietnamese border post as well as the raid Thursday by perhaps 2,000 North Vietnamese troops on the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

In the air war against North Vietnam U.S. planes attacked Communist missile sites Thursday within the defense ring surrounding Hanoi and Haiphong, North Vietnam's major port. Two of the sites attacked were only five and seven miles from Haiphong.

Just south of Haiphong, two U.S. destroyers, the Waddell and the Duncan, were hit by Red shore batteries Thursday. But the Navy said there were no casualties and damage to the ships was light.

Geneva Violation

Thieu said Communist attacks in the South Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam are a deliberate violation of the 1954 Geneva agreement, and South Vietnam "reserves the right to retaliate in any form to protect itself."

Asked what form the retaliation might take, Thieu said Hanoi might be bombed or South Vietnamese troops could be sent into the North.

"And these actions must be considered as self-defense," he added.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky flew to Quang Tri today to survey the damage from the latest Red attacks south of the Ben Hai bridge, which marks the border between North and South Vietnam and is the dividing point between the northern and southern halves of the demilitarized zone.

Ky's government filed a protest with the International Con-

U.N. Mission Leaves Aden

British Blamed For Not Helping In Official Dealings

ADEN (AP) — The U N mission to help the South Arabian Federation and Aden toward independence angrily broke off its visit today, charging the British with lack of cooperation.

The three-man mission's sudden departure resulted from its refusal to deal officially with the British-backed South Arabian federal government and the government's retaliatory refusal to let the head of the mission, Manuel Perez Guerrero of Venezuela, make a policy statement on television.

Guerrero said his group would deal only with the British as the administering power.

More Violence

"We will offer the mission every cooperation, but they must deal with the federal government direct," said acting Information Minister Hussein Ali Bayoomi.

The mission's visit, which be-

Seaman Says He Saw Speck After Slayings

Pair Allegedly Spent Some Time In Chicago Bars

PEORIA. Ill. (AP) — A merchant seaman from South Carolina testified today he drank in three saloons with Richard Speck less than five hours after the bodies of eight slain nurses were found in their dormitory.

Speck is on trial in Circuit Court on charges of murdering all eight.

Robert (Red) Gerrald of Mullins. S. C., described how he met Speck in a saloon on Chicago's south side at 11 a.m. July 14, 1966 The nurses' bodies were discovered at 6:30 a.m.

"I was sitting at the bar at Eddie's and Cooney's at 95th and Ewing," Gerrald said. "Speck came in approximately at 11 or 11:30. He recognized me and came and sit (sic) with me. I asked was he working and he said no."

Hour in Tavern

Gerrald explained that he had met Speck during the last week of April 1966 when both were employed on a Great Lakes oil boat. Gerrald said the last time he had seen Speck prior to July 14 was in the middle of June when Speck left the ship.

Gerrald said he and Speck spent an hour in the tavern. He said he had a whiskey and ginger ale and, "Richard had a hamburger and a bottle of beer."

"Speck had a couple bites out of the hamburger," Gerrald said, "and the bartender came and asked him if anything was wrong Speck said he didn't feel like eating anything.

"We went to the Ebbtide at 92nd Street. We arrived at 12:45 and stayed about an hour.

"Richard made a phone call. There was a lady and a man and they brought up about these nurses being killed. Richard

Assembly Approves Bill Ending Oleo Ban

Tax of 5¼ Cents Per Pound Placed On Margarine Sale

MADISON (AP) — A 72-year era of dairy domination neared an end Thursday night when the Assembly passed 67-30 an oleomargarine repealer bill with a new sales tax of 5¼ cents a pound.

A hard core of rural interests suggested most of the 42 amendments offered in a 10-hour debate, but was stymied in its efforts to do more than lengthen the marathon session before the measure was adopted and sent to the Senate.

The proposal to remove the nation's last ban on colored oleo includes using the sales tax to help fund a $5 million animal and dairy research center at the University of Wisconsin.

If the Assembly bill becomes law, purchasers of colored oleo in Wisconsin still would have to pay a tax of five and a quarter cents per pound.

Neighboring Illinois, where many Wisconsin residents have been buying colored oleo for years, has no tax on oleo as such but does impose a four per cent sales tax. On oleo costing

Vietnam Hero Disarms Gunman

2 Police Die as Bystanders Stand by

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla (AP) — A man who killed two policemen could have been stopped without bloodshed, Police Chief William Barnes says.

"If just one person had stepped in, my men would be alive today," Barnes said. He said a group of women witnesses told him several men stood by Thursday while a berserk man disarmed Sgt. William H. Fletcher and killed him with his service revolver.

"They just stood there," Barnes said. "And if my man had used his pistol to subdue the suspect he would have been charged by the press with police brutality."

Charged With Murder

Fletcher, 52, and motorcycle patrolman David Van Curler, 31, a father of five, were slain with their own service revolvers as they answered a complaint at a federal savings and loan association.

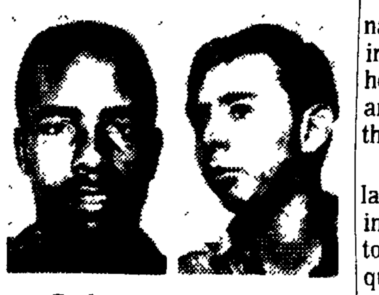
John C. Cooley, 32, an unemployed Negro, was charged with first degree murder. He was captured in front of the Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan Association as he stood over the dead policemen, a gun in his hand.

Cooley was subdued by Thomas Gorham, 20, a Silver Star winner who picked up Van Curler's discarded gun and got the drop on Cooley. Van Curler's pistol had only one bullet in it but the other was empty.

Van Curler Fletcher

With Fletcher and Van Curler lying dead in the street, Gorham held the gun on Cooley while onlookers yelled: "Kill him! Kill Him!"

"Even the guy yelled, 'Yeah! Shoot me, I wanna die!' And I told him, 'You don't have to worry about that'," said the Army veteran who won his medal by overrunning a Viet Cong machine gun nest.



Cooley Gorham

'Didn't Look Tough'

"When the guy saw me he dropped the gun and raised his hands," Gorham said. "That's all I wanted. I ignored the cries of the crowd.

"That guy didn't look as tough as a Viet Cong."

Gorham remained calm until police reinforcements took charge of Cooley, who was not injured.

Fletcher, a 19-year veteran of the force, first answered a call for help by a female teller who said a man had tried to kick in the door, shouting, "Let me in, I'm John the Baptist!"

Witnesses said the man, raving and wild-eyed, first shot Fletcher, then cut down Van Curler before he could get off his motorcycle.

Two boys who watched the episode told police the man took Van Curler's pistol out of its

Baby Saved by Angler on Avon

HAMILTON, Scotland (AP) — Angler John Culshaw was fishing Thursday when his line hooked a drowning baby.

The child, 20-month-old Sam Rodgers, was floating face down in the River Avon. He had fallen in after toddling away from his riverside home.

Vulshaw, 16, said he reeled in "and panicked when I saw it was a baby."

At that moment the baby's father charged down the bank and scooped the baby up. Culshaw's hook was embedded in the child's jacket.

Doctors at Hamilton Hospital said the baby's condition was serious but said he had a fair chance of surviving.

Conviction Appeal Planned

Bobby Baker Gets 1 to 3 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker, onetime Senate aide, was sentenced today to not less than one year and not more than three years in prison.

Baker stood quietly in the courtroom as Judge Oliver Gasch pronounced the sentence.

Baker was convicted of seven counts on charges of income tax evasion, theft and conspiracy. The judge sentenced him to one to three years on each count, with the sentences to run concurrently.

His attorneys said the conviction will be appealed.

Says Nothing

Before pronouncing sentence, Gasch said· "Mr. Baker you may speak."

"I have nothing, your honor," Baker said.

Baker told a reporter who called his home here Thursday that he was "fine" Since his trial, he said, he had been "looking after quite a few enterprises."

"I have plenty to keep me busy," he said.

This has been his story since 1963, when he resigned as secretary to Senate Democrats after issues were raised about his financial dealings outside his Senate job.

He made $19,600 a year at that post but also amassed a fortune he estimated once at $2 million in various interests such as law, real estate and motels.

At one time, Baker's immediate superior was Lyndon B. Johnson, who was Senate Democratic leader before he became vice president and then President.

Referred to Kerr

At his trial, Baker testified that then-Vice President Johnson referred him to the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., when Baker went to Johnson about his financial troubles.

A big issue in the trial was what Baker did with some $100,000 raised by California savings and loan company executives in 1962, ostensibly for political campaigns. Baker said he turned the money over to Kerr, who died in 1963. The government charged that Baker pocketed $80,000 for his own use.

Might Affect Surtax Plans

Federal Reserve Board Cuts Its Discount Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first drop in the Federal Reserve discount rate in more than 6½ years could spell more trouble for the administration's plan for a 6 per cent surtax on corporate and most individual incomes.

The board, in a dramatic move Thursday which could signal a further general easing of credit and lower interest rates, dropped the discount rate from 4.5 to 4 per cent over most of the country effective today.

But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said the action should reinforce opposition to the surtax plan designed partly to stem inflationary pressure expected by government economists later this year.

Proxmire said softening business conditions demanded the unanimous action taken Thursday by the board for 10 of its 12 districts. Although the Atlanta and St. Louis districts failed to seek a lower discount rate, they are expected to follow suit.

If government policy now is aimed at stimulating the economy, Proxmire said, "it would be a mistake to shove up taxes that would discourage business expansion at the same time we reduce interest rates to encourage business."

The Treasury Department welcomed the discount action as a sign of a "desirable further easing of credit availability and interest rate levels." The administration has sought lower interest rates.

Some government experts said the lower discount rate would act as a stimulant to the economy which is now more sluggish than the administration anticipated. This could give the administration stronger economic data to present to Congress later this spring in defending its surtax plan.

A lowering in the discount rate normally means lower interest rates for businessmen seeking loans and for consumers buying houses, automobiles and other goods on the installment plan.

Just how fast the lower discount rate might be felt on consumer loans is open to conjecture. One New York banker said loan demand still is good but in time consumers should be able to borrow money more cheaply.

The discount rate is in the charge made by the Federal Reserve for funds borrowed by its more than 6,000 member banks to improve their reserve positions. Other interest rates are pegged upward from it.

Israel, Syria Fighting Starts On ground, Air

TEL AVIV, Israel, (AP) — While a tank battle raged below, Israeli Mirage jets and swift Syrian MIG21s slugged it out today in dogfights that Syria said swept over Damascus. Israel said six MIGs were shot down and Syria claimed two Mirages.

An Israeli spokesman said two MIGs were shot down in a morning battle and four after fighting in the skies resumed in the afternoon. He made no mention of Damascus and said all the Syrian planes were downed in the area of the Sea of Galilee, where the intense ground fighting was in progress.

Before the first aid battle, Israeli and Syrian forces engaged in a long-range duel of tanks, artillery and mortars across the desert frontier south of the Sea of Galilee that continued into the afternoon.

Ransom Kidnapings Rare

NEW YORK (AP) — Kidnaping for ransom in the United States became commonplace in the depression '30s, but since World War I crimes like the abduction in Beverly Hills of 11-year-old Kenneth Young have become increasingly rare.

One major recent kidnaping that has remained unsolved is that of Daniel Goldman in Miami in March 1966. His parents were asked for $50,000 ransom, but the money was not paid and the boy never found.

Three Others

The FBI says the Young case, the Goldman case and only three others of more than 700 kidnapings since the passage of the Lindbergh law in 1932 remain unsolved. Under the law, the bureau is given jurisdiction when it is believed the victim has been taken across state lines.

The three other unsolved cases:

Mary Lou Olsen, 10, kidnaped Jan. 3, 1960, in National City, Calif. No request for ransom was made. The body was found nine days later in a ravine 6 miles south of Tijuana, Mexico.

Peter David Levine, abducted while on his way home from school in New Rochelle, N.Y., Feb. 24, 1938. The boy's body was found washed up on the shore of Long Island Sound in New Rochelle May 29 after attempts to pay a $30,000 ransom were unsuccessful.

Charles Fletcher Mattson, 10, snatched Dec. 27, 1936 in Tacoma, Wash. while playing with three friends. A ransom of $28,000 was demanded. The child's body was found near Everett, Wash.

Other Cases

Other major kidnaping cases since 1930 include:

Michael Katz, Kansas City, seized March 18, 1930. Returned March 19. Ransom of $200,000 paid.

Nell Donnely, Kansas City, seized Dec. 17, 1931. Returned Dec. 18. Ransom demand of $75,000 not paid.

Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., 19 months, Hopewell, N. J., seized March 2, 1932. Found dead May 12. Ransom of $50,000 paid.

Charles Boettcher II, Denver, seized Feb. 12, 1933.

Lack of Jurisdiction

Judge Dismisses Powell's Court Suit

WASHINGTON, (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge George L Hart Jr. dismissed today Adam Clayton Powell's suit for his seat in Congress.

Hart also denied Powell's application for a three-judge court to hear the constitutional challenge of the resolution that excluded him. He said the federal court does not have jurisdiction in the case.

Herbert Reid, one of Powell's attorneys, said that the issue will be taken as quickly as possible to the U.S. Court of Appeals. Reid said he would file the appeal probably some time today.

'Firmly Embedded'

"The doctrine of separation of powers, which developed over a period of two millennia, is firmly embedded in the warp and woof of our constitution," Hart said in his 12-page decision.

Hart said for the court to decide the case and grant what Powell had asked "would constitute a clear violation of the doctrine of separation of powers."

On that basis he accepted the core of the House defense against the action by the New York Negro Democrat.

Powell was denied March 1 his seat in the House, he brought suit in U.S. District Court to regain it.

Misuse of Funds

The House excluded Powell on grounds he misused Education and Labor Committee funds, defied New York State courts in a defamation suit and was contumacious toward House committees that investigated him. He contends the House wrongfully established qualifications not required by the Constitution.

Powell asked Hart to set up a three-judge panel to hear a constitutional challenge to the resolution that excluded him.

The law authorizes a district judge to establish such a panel when an act of Congress is challenged. The House contends its resolution is not an act of Congress.

Powell, who will try to regain his seat in a special election Tuesday, also asked Hart for an injunction ordering the House to seat him immediately. Thursday in Albany, New York's highest court ruled Powell could run for the 18th Congressional District seat.

Hoffa's Son Enters Field Of Politics

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — James P. Hoffa, 25, son of imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, says he will be a Democratic candidate for the Michigan Legislature.

Young Hoffa said Thursday he will run in Detroit's heavily Democratic 19th District in an April 25 special election to fill a vacancy created by the recent death of House Democratic Leader Joseph Kowalski.

Hoffa, an attorney, has served since last summer as a legislative aide to the State Senate Labor and Judiciary committees.

Appleton Wins Reduction on Condemnation

Circuit Court Places Reduction on Second Soldier Square Site

The City of Appleton this morning won a second reduction in its continuing court fight against awards made for property condemned for city use.

A 12-member Circuit Court jury, after deliberating only about an hour and a half, sct the fair market value, as of July 5, 1966, at $55,792 on property taken by the city from C. F. and Lenore Manser, who now live at 100 Cherry Court.

The County Condemnation Commission had awarded the Mansers $60,000 for the house, garage and property, following a hearing last Sept. 23. The property, at 116 E. Lawrence St., was condemned by the city for construction of the Soldiers Square Parking ramp.

City Atty. David Geenen, acting for the city, appealed the condemnation commission award last October. The city contended the amount awarded was excessive.

The Circuit Court jury heard two days of testimony. The Manser real estate involved a 120 by 42 foot lot, a three story frame house and a garage.

Last week a circuit court jury lopped $4,500 from a condemnation commission award to Rudolph C. Breitung, 313 N. Division St., who had been awarded $22,000 for 17,500 square feet of land at W. Franklin and N. Division streets.

Senate to Seek Advertising Ban On Tobacco

MADISON (AP) — The Wisconsin Senate was asked today to outlaw advertising of cigarettes and other tobacco products in newspapers and on radio and television.

The Senate proposal said there is public evidence of "the dangers to health, such as correlations between smoking and lung cancer or heart disease."

The bill would apply to newspapers and magazines published within the state and to broadcasts originating within Wisconsin. Hence, it would have no effect on network commercials and national magazine advertising.

Sens. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, and Raymond Johnson, R-Eau Claire, introduced the bill. It was sent to committee for a public hearing.

Early Market Rally Reversed

Reduction in Rate Of Federal Reserve Spurred Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market entered a decline early this afternoon following a brief early rally on recognition of overnight news that the Federal Reserve Board had cut the discount rate.

In early trading, gainers outnumbered losers by about 6 to 1. In the afternoon losers outnumbered gainers.

Veteran Wall Streeters reported that canny traders seized this opportunity to make good profits on the latest upswing of the market, realizing the cut in rates was a recognition of an already existing condition of easier credit.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was down 4.96 at 856.29.

Early gains ranged from fractions to about a point and trading was heavy enough so that the ticker tape lagged briefly. Then prices softened as trading simmered down.

Average Off

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 1.0 to 318.8 with industrials off 1.8, rails off .6 and utilities unchanged.

A lower tone prevailed among autos, mail order-retails, electronics, chemicals, rails, airlines and the international oils, the latter reacting to some extent to news of Israeli-Syrian conflict.

Sperry Rand opened late on a block of 50,000 shares, up ¼ at 30⅞, but this slight revival from recent selling pressure was only temporary. The stock soon showed a fractional net loss and was pacing the list on volume.

Xerox lost about 4, IBM more than 2, New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad nearly 2 apiece.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange turned lower after an early rise.

FV Center Theater

Limited Space Presents Problem for King's Talk

Despite limited audience space in the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center's Fine Arts Theater, the Rev. Martin Luther King's talk May 12, will not be moved. Seating capacity in the theater is 375.

The decision was made by the lecture committee, composed of faculty and students, at a meeting Thursday afternoon. David Price, instructor of English, is chairman of the committee, which made several other decisions regarding the talk.

King's appearance at the center has been made possible by a grant from the University of Wisconsin's Central Administration.

Total enrollment at the center is 540, but the 300 students holding activity cards will have first chance at the tickets which will go on sale to them and to faculty members April 17 at $1 per ticket. This group also may purchase a ticket for wives or husbands, but not for other relatives or friends.

The second group of tickets will go on sale April 19 at $2.50 each for other students, and on May 3, if there are any left, to the community.

To supplement seating capacity, the committee is considering the possibility of closed-circuit television, with 200 overflow spectators gathering in the cafeteria.

Also being considered is a reception for a limited number of students and faculty immediately after the talk.

As is usual with a speaker of King' caliber, normal security precautions will be taken, and the university committee is arranging this security with local authorities.

Ray Buchberger To Head Darboy American Legion

DARBOY — Ray Buchberger was elected commander of the Leo Van Roy American Legion post at its meeting Wednesday night.

Pat Berben is vice commander; Floyd Jahnke, finance officer; Gordon Mader, chaplain; Kenneth Schmalz, service officer, and Pat Stumpf, sergeant-at-arms. The new officers will be installed at the monthly meeting of the Calumet County Council.

The post approved purchase of the book "The American Legion Story" for donation to the Holy Angels School library. Berben and John Spierings head the committee for replacement or repair of the school's flag pole. Cost will be paid by the auxiliary.

Plans for the annual picnic were discussed. Retiring officers will meet with the new officials sometime this month to make definite plans.

Delegates to attend the annual spring conference at Two Rivers April 23, are Art Alesch and Buchberger.

Royalton Grade Closed

Mite Mighty Potent Parasite; Classes Scratched Due to Itch

ROYALTON — The Royalton Grade School was closed last Monday when 73 of 90 pupils were sent home because of an infestation of acariasis (mites).

The Board of Health closed the school. It reportedly will be reopened next Monday.

Families of the pupils were urged by the Waupaca County nurse's office to use a thorough soap and water bath and application of benzyl benzoate emulsion, or the emulsion and DDT to suppress itching and get rid of the tiny parasites.

The mites can be passed from one person to another, and may cause infection and rash. Ordinary laundering or dry cleaning of clothes will kill the pests.

Royalton is located six miles west of New London on State 54. The school is in the Manawa School District.

'Recession' Unmentionable In Washington

Everybody Doing Best to Defeat 'Readjustment'

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody is doing something about it but nobody talks about it. The Federal Reserve, the Johnson administration, the consumer act as if they fear a little recession. But none of them use the word.

But — the consumer holds cautiously, perhaps fearfully, to his dollars rather than spending them, the federal reserve continues to free more anti-recession money, the administration has opened its spending spigot all the way.

Doesn't this indicate the fear of a recession? Maybe, but nobody talks about it. They'd rather talk about the weather.

Do actions speak louder than words? You would have to say so, especially when so little action is needed to drown the sound of words such as these, all of which have been used to describe present economic conditions:

Various Descriptions

Slowdown, present adjustment, continued moderation, readjustment, rolling adjustment, pause, economic lag, downturn, shakeout.

No fear in these soft words. All have been used in recent days and all may have their specific meanings. But sometimes, too, their use is meant to disguise.

Long after a pause has deepened into a recession, "pause" remains in use "Recession" is a label, emotional, dangerous and easily remembered. Better to be ponderous "a period of reduced general economic activity," as Webster says it

A terrible fear is associated with the word, and not just because of chilling memories of bad days To acknowledge the existence of a recession tends to assure its continuation Fear breeds caution among those who should spend.

Danger Passes

The unmentionable word thus is something seen only in foresight of retrospect It belongs to the future or past but never to now Forecasters use it and so do historians. And by the time it is history the danger is passed

Recent slowdowns, later identified as recessions, have been common, but not one person in 10 can say when they occurred Not that many read history For the record: 1948-49, 1953-54, 1957-58, 1960-61

Several factors disguise the present relative doldrums the war in Vietnam is causing government to spend heavily, the rate of employment remains unusually high, the economy, though slowing, is slowing from a very fast pace.

Still another factor is at work. Since the economy has boomed for six long years a slowdown has been anticipated for a long time. It isn't unexpected. It is not expected to last long.

Some Expansion

Even Pierre Rinfret, an independent economist who has used the unmentionable word ("a recession began in December"), foresees further expansion for 1968 although perhaps at a more sluggish rate than the zippy economy of 1961-1966.

Also disguising a recessionary situation is the subjective nature of the word. It isn't a scientific term. It sometimes is very loosely defined, and it is often applied differently.

You will find many economists who say we have a civilian economy recession (marked by a housing slowdown, declining car sales, depressed retail sales). But the civilian economy is only part of the mix. You can't ignore military spending.

Nevertheless, there are standards for defining a recession: a sharp decline in the federal reserve board index of production, a rise in unemployment, a decrease or plateau in the growth of Gross National Product.

Index Down

We do not have all these factors today. The index is down sharply, the GNP is slowing, but employment is high.

There is further evidence of a slowdown, however: retail sales are sluggish, capital spending is off, corporate profits for the first quarter are being called disappointing, durable goods orders are slow, housing hasn't recovered from its doldrums.

A key forerunner of recessions is present also. This is the relation of sales to inventories, and sales are slowing in many areas of the economy faster than inventories of unsold goods can be diminished.

Sure the economy is lagging. Perhaps we should call it a recession. But before we apply it we have to define it. That usually is when all the figures are in. And then it is just a tiny part of history's hoard of information

Play Cast Picked At St. John High

Michigan's Finances Hurt Romney's Chances

Failure of Tax Reform Serious Blow to His Presidential Aspirations

BY ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

LANSING, Mich. — Just when his presidential prospects can least afford it, Gov. George Romney is facing serious trouble on his homefront that dwarfs anything encountered during his four previous years in office.

What Romney confronts today has, in fact, destroyed the political future of many a governor. fiscal crisis He lost the first battle in his 1967 fiscal war last week — and lost it badly The Republican-controlled state senate rejected, 25 to 14, Romney's tax reform package (levying a new 2 5 per cent income tax).

Novak

Evans

That defeat in itself scarcely affects Romney's chances for the Republican presidential nomination But unless some tax plan is adopted by July 1, the state will enter the new fiscal year with an unconstitutional deficit around $220 million. At worst, that would threaten payless paydays in state government At the least, it would mean protracted conflict in Lansing. Either condition could be disastrous for Romney.

Chances Not Good

Moreover, chances that Romney will get his tax plan through now seem somewhat less than ever. That explains the gloom suddenly enveloping the governor's office.

Nursing a highball after the senate vote, a Romney cabinet member told us ruefully. "I wonder if any governor of a large, industrial state can run for president anymore "

On a mechanical level, the need to be in Lansing fighting fiscal wars disrupts Romney's gradually accelerating campaign His scheduled trip to South America in May (the first of three contemplated overseas journeys) may be postponed.

But far more important is what will happen to the Romney image if the senate defeat escalates into full-scale fiscal crisis. In response to past criticism of Romney's fumbling on Viet Nam, his supporters have fallen back on his genuinely impressive record as Governor.

Long Recognized

In speeches outside the state, Romney compares the fiscal mess he inherited from the Democrats in 1963 with the current fiscal stability that helped bring him a third-term landslide last fall. Thus, his campaign strategy can ill afford the loss of this vital keystone.

Actually, the danger now imminent was recognized by Romney four years ago. Seeking to act before the crisis arrived, Romney proposed reform of the state's antiquated tax system in 1963 and again in 1965, only to be rebuffed by the legislature.

The irony today is that Romney's coattails returned the legislature narrowly to Republican control last fall, thus absolving the Democrats of responsibility for fiscal crisis. At the same time, defeats of moderates in last year's Republican primaries made the senate measurably less responsive to Romney's wishes than ever before. Thus, Romney faces a deadly cross-fire between liberal Democrats and conservative Republicans.

Seeking vengeance for the payless-payday crises that extinguished Gov. G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams's flickering presidential ambitions a decade ago, Democratic legislators now yearn to tarnish Romney's reputation for forceful leadership. Joining them is a handful of anti-Romney Republicans, such as Sen Robert Huber, leader of right-wing forces in Romney's own Oakland County That combination of unanimous Democratic opposition and Republican defections defeated him in the senate last week.

Now Depends on House

More enlightened Democrats say they will support tax reform if Romney makes concessions — such as shifting more of the income tax burden to business But this might lose Romney more Republicans than it gains him Democrats. Thus Romney for now will continue to concentrate on massing Republican support — turning next to the house, controlled 55 to 54 by Republicans.

But optimism is in short supply One key political adviser privately urged the governor last week to return Robert J McIntosh to the job of legislative liaison, where he performed masterfully during the Democratic - controlled legislature of 1965-66. Once intended to run Romney's campaign for President, ex-Congressman McIntosh has been downgraded to a secondary campaign role.

Other Romney advisers feel that far more drastic measures are needed. Even before the senate defeat, one high staffer suggested to Romney that he might have to settle or a package of nuisance taxes (on cigarettes, liquor, and the like) to avert a fiscal crisis. Romney replied heatedly that he insists on genuine tax reform and would veto any patchwork solution.

If the choice boils down to that and Romney oes not retreat, a long, hot summer is in prospect for his presidential campaign.

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Like a pair of pursuing bloodhounds, fame and publicity have recently been coming nearer and nearer to the organization known as Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

Unquestionably, SDS leaders fear publicity. Public exposure of SDS goals and programs may prove to be the catalyst which changes the organization's image from that of radical youths seeking "student power" to that of a subversive left wingers planning a revolution.

Fame and publicity are beginning to have effects on the SDS in Wisconsin. Charters have been denied to SDS chapters by Samuel G. Gates, president of La Crosse State University, and Leonard Haas, president of Eau Claire State University. At the University of Wisconsin in Madison, SDS has been suspended by the student senate.

Public Reaction

The reason the tide may be turning against SDS is public reaction to the group's activities.

Last November the calm of Harvard University was shattered by 800 pushing, shoving student demonstrators who objected to the campus appearance of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara. The screaming youths prevented the secretary from speaking.

A few weeks later, at the University of California in Berkeley, academic functions were brought to a standstill by a student strike which was set off by objections to campus recruiting by the U.S. Navy

At City College of New York in mid-November, hundreds of radicals presented President Buell G. Gallagher with a week of sit-ins and picketing over the school's policy of ranking students for the draft. The pressure was kept up into December and finally 34 students were suspended for violation of campus political rules.

A short time later, the draft again was the issue and it led to a student government break with the administration of the University of Michigan. Mass meetings resulted and reform "demands" were presented to the administration.

Support From UW

When the national office in Chicago asked for "sympathy demonstrations" to support the student strike at Berkeley, SDS members in Madison quickly organized a group of "spur-of-the-moment" demands upon the administration of the University of Wisconsin.

Lists of similar incidents can practically be carried on into infinity and the list of campuses where they occur reads like a Blue Book of American Higher Education — State University of Iowa, Stanford University, Columbia University, Yale University, University of Chicago, UCLA, Amherst, Howard University, New York University . . . the list including public and private schools goes on and on.

What's going on isn't a secret. Bettina Aptheker, a communist attending school at Berkeley and daughter of famous New York Communist Herbert Aptheker, lays it on the line:

"What we are engaged in," she said, "Is a student revolution and I am not afraid to use the word. The authorities must understand that we students must have self-government, or they will have trouble."

Miss Aptheker was, of course, one of the most articulate participants last August at the SDS national convention in Clear Lake, Iowa.

What college and university administrators fear most is that "student power" will cause an end to academic freedom.

Often cited is the example of the University of Caracas in Venezuela where the campus is now occupied by government troops. The school has been reduced to helplessness after several years of student - created chaos. Classrooms at the university have become a mere mockery and the campus has been referred to as a "huge guerrilla camp."

Carl Davidson, the SDS national vice president who wrote the paper on student syndicalism which often has been referred to as "The Blueprint for Takeover of a University," has laid out a detailed plan which would disrupt campuses with student chaos.

Lawrence University, here in Appleton, may be on the threshold for what the SDS considers "greater things " One of the classical SDS devices, the underground newspaper, has been successfully put into practice on the Lawrence campus. It's called "The Mole," and it thrives by promoting campus discontent and using the popular "filthy language technique."

Visit-Ins

In addition, David Chambers, vice chairman of the Lawrence SDS, recently was elected president of the school's student senate by nearly a 3 to 1 margin. Recently, the Lawrence SDS has been actively promoting "Visit-Ins" in an attempt to bring about an "open dormitory" policy.

In support of his action which denied the SDS a charter at LaCrosse, President Gates said his action was a "value judgment," and added "there are very real reasons why we should deny this charter." He termed the SDS a "beat the draft movement designed to disrupt school administration."

Regents of the state university system, who supported Gates' action, also have voted to investigate advertisements sympathetic to the SDS programs which were paid for by faculty members at Whitewater State University.

Urging students not to serve in Vietnam, they appeared under headings which read: "Make Love, Not War," and "Serve Your Country — Don't Go to Vietnam."

Haas, in denying the SDS charter at Eau Claire, said the group is affiliated "with a national organization that fails to meet university standards."

"Mockery of Law. . ."

Without naming the UW demonstrations in which 19 persons were arrested recently, Haas said the SDS has followed "practices on other campuses that have made a mockery of law and orderly change."

Marty Tandler, a UW senior who is Wisconsin - Minnesota field secretary for SDS, told The Post-Crescent that the actions at LaCrosse and Eau Claire are "flagrant attacks on the SDS and free speech."

He said the La Crosse SDS members went through the standard steps of applying for membership and received a supporting 4 to 2 vote from the student senate.

"But," Tandler said, "it was vetoed by Gates, and the attorney general said such decisions are up to the individual schools."

Wasting Time

Showing that the actions by Gates and Haas have the national SDS concerned, Tandler stated that the organization is "wasting a lot of time fighting this issue, which is a matter of civil liberties. Our energies could be used better in other areas."

If SDS officials are concerned with events that are beginning to occur on individual college campuses, you can imagine their reaction to a greater anti-SDS movement which is developing nationally.

Knowles Backs the Kellett Bill

Gov. Warren Knowles stated the case practically and properly in his special message to the legislature Wednesday calling for a prompt passage of the Kellett Bill to modernize and improve the efficiency of the sprawling administrative branch of state government. Let passage of the bill be recorded as a bipartisan achievement, the governor said.

Gov. Knowles stated the case as it should be regarded in the legislature. He noted with purpose that both Republican and Democratic legislators served on the Kellett Committee which produced unanimous agreement for a reorganization plan after many months of hard work. The platforms of both political parties last fall contained endorsement for the idea.

Political leaders of necessity must view legislative bills in terms of who will get the credit, or most of it, when the bills are explained to the electorate in the next election campaign. But as the governor pointed out, there can be enough credit to go around when measures which the state cannot do without are in trouble.

The governor pointed to the water pollution act and the vocational school districting act of the last session as examples. He could have mentioned the highway safety bills and the air pollution bill before the present session and the recreational lands acquisition act during the administration of Gov. Gaylord Nelson as other examples.

As Democrats charged when the Kellett Bill was sidetracked in the Senate last month, Republicans may be calling for bipartisanship because they do not have the votes to pass a bill: If that be true, so be it. The roll calls will record who should get the credit.

Gov. Knowles presented a detailed compromise to make possible clearing the major obstacles before the bill, the merger of the Conservation Department and the Department of Resource Development and the merger of the Board of Health and the Department of Public Welfare. The governor's plan represents an expansion of a phased merger which was in the bill as it reached the Senate.

A new board of natural resources with jurisdiction over conservation and water pollution would include members of the existing two boards and would present a completed plan to the 1969 legislature. As an addition, the governor would retain the two existing boards as advisory agencies. The same advisory status would be assigned to the Board of Health within a merged department for health and welfare services.

The Kellett Bill will integrate 86 state agencies into 14 major departments and 12 independent agencies at a saving to the state of at least $3 million yearly. The bill will be back before the Senate next week. It should be approved as defined by Gov. Knowles, as a bipartisan accomplishment.

Test Election Proves Little

Special congressional elections are watched closely by the political experts in Washington for signs of what the electorate may do on a broad scale in the next general election and for attitudes on issues which have sprung up since the past general election. But more often than not, the results of special elections must be read primarily with recognition of political factors within the state.

The election of Sen. William Proxmire in a special 1957 election in Wisconsin, for example, was heralded in Washington as a significant switch in national opinion because Sen. Proxmire, a Democrat, became the man to fill the post left vacant by Sen. Joseph McCarthy, whose record stood poles apart from that of Sen. Proxmire. But within Wisconsin, the election has become the foundation point from which the state's present equal party division grew and the Proxmire campaign in 1957 had the benefit of division within the Republican Party over a nominee for the vacant Senate seat.

All of this can be recalled because of the special congressional election in Rhode Island which has apparently left Democrat Robert Tiernan the victor over Republican James De Prete Jr., subject to a counting of absentee ballots and a possible recount of all the votes. Both national party organizations poured money into the race because of its status importance.

In addition, the election was advertised nationally as sort of a referendum on President Johnson's policy for Vietnam. Democrat Tiernan defended the President's policy. Republican De Prete called for a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam as a possible way of bringing about truce negotiations with Hanoi. From the standpoint of being a foreign policy referendum, the special election was something of a bust.

The Democratic candidate received 48.9 per cent of the votes. The Republican candidate received 48.4 per cent. A third candidate, the Rev. Albert Perry, who ran as a "peace candidate," received 2.7 per cent of the votes, enough to tip the results for those critical of Vietnam policy but not enough to make any sweeping judgment from the election in the field of foreign policy.

The most significant result perhaps from the special election is that it took place in a district which has elected a Democratic congressman since 1940. Republicans, thus, have hailed the all but equal division of the votes as a continuation of a national trend indicated from Republican gains in the congressional elections last fall.

In the face of this record, the gain for a Republican candidate standing for a halt in bombing of North Vietnam also takes on some significance. But this is risky business. The people of the Rhode Island congressional district, after allowance is made for local political factors, seem to be saying that they are, along with the rest of the nation, about evenly divided in their opinion on what the nation should try next to bring the Vietnam dilemma to a conclusion.

Does Bridge Building Include Dams?

There appear to be some pretty sharp operators in the Kremlin.

A major part of President Johnson's foreign policy is to do some "bridge building" to Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. We have generally concurred in this effort to improve relations, expand trade and try to break down the artificial barriers created by the Communist governments. But is the bridge building to include participation in American dam building?

The Soviet Union has inquired into the possibility of its government bidding for the contract to provide Grand Coulee Dam with hydroelectric generating equipment. And apparently there is wide concern in Washington over the proposal primarily for political reasons.

However much the climate between Russia and the United States has improved and presumably will if and when the Vietnam war ever ends, handing out a bid on such an important American project to a Communist country is a political liability. There are genuine causes for concern as well if the letting of such a contract raises the dangers of sabotage. And opening the bidding to foreign firms and especially Communist ones once again raises the problem of when the lower costs involved can warrant the letting of a contract outside of the United States. Congressman John Byrnes has raised this question in reference to the possibility that a firm in Great Britain will offer a lower bid than a Wisconsin firm in a contract with the United States Navy. And Great Britain is generally counted as an American ally, in most foreign affairs.

The Russian request is a solid put-up-or-shut-up challenge to President Johnson's bridge building proposals. But while in general the proposals have been wise, we cannot completely forget that the Soviet Union's leaders are opposing us in the war in Vietnam. Ideally the proposal should be judged on the bidding, the ability to meet specifications and whether there is any danger to the United States by awarding the contract to a Communist country. But the political ramifications are sure to be taken into consideration as well.

Looking Backward

'Eight-Hour Law and No Mistake'

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 13, 1867.

The so-called eight-hour Act has become a law as introduced by Gen. Hobart of Milwaukee.

It will be perceived that while eight hours are made the legal standard of a day's work, this limit is adopted with some restrictions. It does not apply to persons who are hired by the month, week or year.

Women or children under 18 years of age cannot be compelled to work more than eight hours, and children under 14 years of age are not permitted to work more than 10 hours. Where no agreement is made to the contrary, a carpenter, mason, etc., will labor only eight hours as a day's work.

This law differs from that of Illinois, because the recent statute of that state restricting a day's work to eight hours applies to those hired by the week.

25 YEARS AGO

Friday, April 3, 1942.

A delegation from Appleton attending the spring conference of the Wisconsin Izaak Walton League included E. W. Shannon, R. L. Swanson, Paul Beaver, Walter Krieck, Orlando Sherburne and Ray Challoner.

Four card clubs at New London — The Bid and Bye Club, the Culvert Club, the Thursday and the Friday Bridge Clubs — met at the home of Mrs. J. W. Monsted and, instead of playing cards, the women participated in a knitting bee. The groups decided to suspend their card playing and knit helmets, sweaters and other articles of clothing for servicemen.

James Gustman, Kaukauna High School orator, was to compete that week in the district forensic meet at De Pere. The first and second place winners were to go on to the state tournament in Madison.

10 YEARS AGO

Friday, April 5, 1957.

Named queen of the Venetian Festivities in Neenah July 4 was Sharon Stecker. Members of the court of honor included Sue Breitenbach, Sue McConnell, Judy Zitelman and Sharon Nelson.

Ray Kissinger was the new track coach at Appleton High School. Jim Schulze and John Cotton, members of the previous year's first-place team, were back as sprinters and co-captains.

John Treiber was stage manager, Liz Temple head of stage design and Steve Root lighting head of the Appleton high school production of "Janie," to be presented by the senior class that week.

Taylor Writes

Another Visit to Dallas Confirms View of Oswald as Canny Red

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

DALLAS — New Orleans District Attorney Jim Garrison's probe into President Kennedy's assassination since my December-January articles from New Orleans regarding Lee Harvey Oswald brings me back to Dallas.

Taylor

In the face of the fast-breaking New Orleans contentions, I wanted the views now of the chief federal and local officials personally in command of the investigating teams that supplied the material here for the Warren Commission Report.

For years it has been a federal offense to threaten the life of a President. Never, until after President Kennedy's assassination, had it been a federal offense to kill our chief executive.

Accordingly, the statutory responsibility fell here. And the man it fell on is Homocide Bureau Chief J. Will Fritz of the Dallas Police Department. The regional F.B.I. Secret Service, U.S. postal inspectors, etc., and additional teams sent from Washington all worked through Captain Fritz.

QUICKLY CLAMMED UP

It is an eerie feeling to sit alone with him in his small, 14-by-9½-foot office where he led the questioning of Oswald for 12 hours. "I didn't have trouble with him," Captain Fritz said, "if we just talked quietly like we are talking now, until I asked him a question that meant something, a question that would produce evidence. Then, every time, Oswald immediately said he wouldn't talk about it and seemed to anticipate what I was going to ask."

The interrogations broke into five sessions during the 45½ hours Oswald was under arrest. He was in this small room for two hours and later five hours after he was brought in at 2 p.m. Friday from the Texas Theatre; an hour beginning at 10:25 Saturday morning; two hours that afternoon after he vainly tried several times to reach on the telephone in New York lawyer John J. Abt, a frequent defender of alleged Communists; two hours Sunday before Oswald left Captain Fritz's office at 11:15 and was shot downstairs at 11:21.

The regional F.B.I. chief here is veteran investigator J. Gordon Shanklin, famous in the bureau. Says his special agent, James W. Bookhout, whom Shanklin placed at most of Fritz's interrogations: "Any time you asked a question pertinent to the investigation Oswald refused to discuss it." Oswald handled the Secret Service local agent in charge. Forrest V. Sorrels, Secret Service Inspector Thomas J. Kelly and U.S. Postal Inspector Harry D. Holmes the same way.

Yet this is the Lee Harvey Oswald that William Manchester has the unmitigated gall in "The Death of a President" to falsely state "we know" went insane at 9:30 the previous night. This is the cool, canny Communist that millions have been led to believe was a "crackpot."

Systematically shoveling out that nonsense has a purpose, as I wrote last December from New Orleans, but in a century of nonsense this is the greatest nonsense of all.

INVESTIGATION STILL OPEN

I find that none of the investigation participants here are in touch with New Orleans District Attorney Garrison. Not one. Captain Fritz tells me he has not closed his own investigation. Nor, I find, has the F.B.I. But the men who know the most about the horror here November 22 remain today absolutely convinced that Oswald performed alone.

Mr. Garrison's contentions take on a totally different projection through their eyes than our public has any reason to grasp.

They do not know Mr. Garrison's case, being "hands off" about what's happening in New Orleans. But they do know Louisiana law, much of which comes uniquely from French Napoleonic roots. And, surprisingly, they can see how both Mr. Garrison and they themselves may be right.

The Louisianan claims a conspiracy. Under Louisiana law Mr. Garrison has only to prove that conspiratorial discussion did, in fact, occur, whether anybody did anything about it or not. He does not have to prove participation in President Kennedy's assassination.

Should Mr. Garrison be able to take an additional very long step beyond this, of course, and prove that Mr. Clay Shaw or any alleged conspirator paid or otherwise abetted Oswald, and can prove Oswald was the assassin, the abettor could be convicted as an accessory to the murder.

However, a fact that I find unfathomable to the knowing officials here is the subject of a second article.

Glass Container Use By U. S. Housewives Setting Record Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. housewives in 1965 used more glass bottles and jars than in any previous year.

Almost 30 billion new glass containers were produced to carry items ranging from soda pop to catsup, according to estimates made for the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute.

Counting the re-use of millions of bottles for milk, soft drinks and beer, Americans consumed some 72 billion bottles and jars of glass-packaged products in 1965.

That averages out to more than 375 per capita — more than any other type of rigid container.

Wisconsin Report

State's Prohibition Against Gambling Goes Back to 1848

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Your agent in the statehouse press gallery has had a provocative query from a group of Green Bay readers whose spokesman writes that it was inspired by the recent observation that the current legislature has yet produced no a single example of the bills for the legalization of public gambling that have turned up in the past.

Wyngaard

Why is gambling illegal in Wisconsin? Why do the "fuddy duddy" ideas of another generation survive today? How can interested persons "get this thing rolling?" Why must the Wisconsin vacationer at a northern resort be deprived of the pleasures freely available to the visitor in Nevada resort towns? Why does the state ignore the enormous economic gains that would flow from the legalization of gambling for its own citizens, and those thousands from other deprived states who would pour across our borders? And so forth.

Specifically, my correspondent suggests an objective discussion of the arguments for and against the legalization of public gambling everywhere in this state which has prohibited such activity since its founding.

HOW TO START

To start the discussion at its easiest point, the movement for the legal sanction of gambling must be in the legislature, in the presentation of an amendment to the State Constitution.

The present Constitution in Article IV, Section 24, in language unchanged since it was written, says that the "Legislature shall never authorize any lottery." Gambling has always been illegal under the organic law of the state adopted in 1848.

Why does the prohibition survive? Clearly because the people of Wisconsin so desire. None of the many proposals for amendment has ever been considered with genuine seriousness in the legislature, for all of the publicity and the occasionally feverish arguments in committee rooms. If this reporter's judgment is relevant, moreover, the legislature on this score at least has faithfully reflected the will of the people of Wisconsin.

My correspondent volunteers most of the usual arguments in favor of a repeal of the anti-lottery rule, such as they are. He maintains that it will generate prosperity in many Wisconsin localities. He says the rule against public gambling is an inheritance from blue-nosed puritans whose notions are no longer accepted or supported today. People have an inherent love (he used the word 'craving') for gambling, and when it is denied to them by law, they will find ways to satisfy it through illicit means.

By legalizing gambling and recognizing human nature, "the pressure on the people would be less tense" he asserts. In a time of respectable support for birth control pills and the elimination of Friday meat abstinence, he goes on, the law against gambling should be reconsidered.

MAYBE . . . MAYBE NOT

Perhaps, but there is nothing to show that such a view has more than fractional support, and there is much to suggest that even some of that sentiment evaporates under objective reflection.

On the argument against the idea, this reporter's judgment is not entirely detached. But the conviction of responsible authorities that legalized gambling is a gravely serious invitation to shady and criminal elements to invade a territory or a state and to corrupt the general law enforcement machinery.

The idea that gambling generates economic prosperity is illusory. It does not create wealth. It diverts purchasing power from other channels. It tends to sap the incomes and resources of those who are the least affluent, and thus creates social welfare and public expenditure problems.

As a practical political matter, thousands of citizens of Wisconsin have deep objections on moral principle to the idea of publicly approved gambling enterprise. They will inevitably stifle any proposals, as abundantly shows in the history of the state. As to the "appetite" of some persons for gambling opportunities, the objectives of the legal codes of civilized communities is to control the anti-social tendencies of individuals.

Realist Can be as Biased as Idealist

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The man who thinks of himself as a "realist" laughs at the man he calls an "idealist." He looks upon the idealist as someone with a distorted and inflated view of human nature.

Harris

It is my suggestion that the so-called realist's view of human nature is just as distorted in the opposite direction. The idealist often makes the mistake of believing that men are better than they are; but the realist makes the contrary mistake of believing that men are worse than they are.

First of all, what is the "self?" When I am confronted are.

First of all, what is the "self?" When I am confronted with a tax-raise on my property, do I respond as a property-owner, as a parent who wants better schools, as a Democrat or a Republican, as an urban dweller who knows the city needs more money to render better services, or an absentee landlord who merely wants more profit from his property?

Secondly, the maxim that "people act in their self-interest" implies that people know what their self-interest truly is. But history is replete with the tragic instances of people acting against their real self-interest under the illusion that they were favoring it.

Moreover, the interests of people are numerous and complex, often contradictory. Hardly anybody has an obvious, unequivocal and single-faced interest in any important issue. Each of us is a "multiple" person — wage-earner, home-owner, citizen, parent, and many other functions. And to suggest that our immediate economic gain is always the over-riding motive is to fall into the Marxist trap of economic determinism.

The maxim that "people act in their self-interest" is true only in the most blurred and broadest sense. We might say that the martyr who willingly goes to his death for a cause is acting in his self-interest, because he believes that his deepest self is best served by sacrificing himself for an idea and ideal he cherishes beyond life.

This is why "self-interest" is a useless tautology as an explanation of men's motives and behavior. Nobody is only one self, and nobody has only one interest. We are a mixture of impulses — and the idealist merely suggests that we can change the mix to favor our long-range and benevolent interests rather than our short-range and greedy ones. This is nothing for the so-called realist to laugh at.

trol Commission charging that North Vietnamese soldiers moved across the bridge Wednesday, forcing South Vietnamese civilian police to abandon their post at the southern end of the bridge.

The government said South Vietnamese artillery opened up on the Communist force and the steel girder bridge. It said eight rounds hit the bridge, but it remained passable to traffic.

The United States and South Vietnam have charged the Reds with repeatedly violating the demilitarized zone and infiltrating troops through it into the South. U.S. intelligence also reports that some 35,000 regular North Vietnamese troops are now in and around the zone.

Series of Attacks

Thursday, the Communists followed up the crossing of the Ben Hai bridge with a series of attacks on Quang Tri City, which is about 10 miles below the zone on the main north-south highway. These attacks hit a regimental command post at Quang Tri City, other South Vietnamese posts and a number of American installations in the city. Ten U.S. military advisers were killed and nine wounded.

The Red force penetrated within the city and was there for much of the day. They opened the gates of the city prison and freed about 250 prisoners of war.

The U.S. military advisers' compound and a nearby compound housing U S. aid personnel were among the American centers hit.

A joint force of U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops was rushed to the city by helicopter and by road.

Four Battalions

South Vietnamese military headquarters said the attacks were made by four battalions of Red troops, or about 2,000 men The headquarters said 156 Communist soldiers were killed in the fighting. South Vietnamese casualties were not announced but were serious in some units

The attackers got inside one artillery position and damaged two 105mm howitzers. There and elsewhere they burned and blew up vehicles — perhaps 20 to 30 in all.

Quang Tri Propince is one of the most politically sensitive in South Vietnam. During last year's Buddhist crisis it was in almost open revolt against the Saigon regime. Coupled with its location along the border, this makes it a sore spot for the Saigon government and for U.S. forces.

U S. B52s have repeatedly raided suspected Red concentrations in the province and did so twice Thursday night and today.

American air raids in the North Thursday penetrated into the heartland of the Red defense network around Hanoi and Haiphong — the area the pilots call "the iron triangle" because of its bristling network of surface-to-air missiles and radar-controlled antiaircraft guns.

All-weather Intruder jets from Enterprise swept in low to blast a series of SAM sites around Haiphong with bombs and air-to-ground missiles. They also hit a fuel dump only six miles from Haiphong.

Overcast skies, which limited the day's air strikes to 80, prevented good damage assessment.

Seaman Says He Saw Speck After Slayings

said to the bartender, 'Whoever did it must be a sex maniac.' "

Gerald Getty public defender of Cook County (Chicago) who is representing Speck, cross-examined the witness. Getty asked Gerrald when police questioned him.

"It was approximately 2 p m. to 5 p.m. July 15," Gerrald replied.

The interrogation took place at a police station at 90th Street and Cottage Grove, on the South Side.

Earlier a pathologist told the jury the cause of death of each of the eight young women. He said five had been strangled and three had died of stab wounds. He said the body of one nurse bore about 18 stab wounds ranging in length from a quarter inch to four inches.

The state, presenting its evidence in a chronological pattern, had a Chicago detective describe how he found the bodies of the slain young women.

Detective Jack Wallenda's testimony came Thursday after the defense concluded an unexpectedly brief cross-examination of Corazon Amurao.

Miss Amurao, 24, the Philippine exchange nurse who survived the slaughter, identified Speck, 25, as the killer Wednesday.

Gerald Getty, Cook County public defender who is Speck's counsel, cross-examined Miss Amurao gently. He passed quickly over the details of the four hours during which the girl, hiding under a bed, watched her friends taken to their deaths.

He asked Miss Amurao if her first description of the intruder was, "a man, 25 years of age, 6 feet tall, short or crew cut hair, no hat, wearing a waist-length jacket, dark pants?"

The girl replied, "I did not say 'crew cut,' sir."

The police artist sketch showed a man with a crew cut. Getty alleges that Speck wore his blond hair long on July 14.

U.N. Mission Leaves Aden

gan Sunday, was accompanied by steadily increasing violence by rival nationalist groups boycotting the mission in an attempt to discredit the South Arabian Federation. The nationalists contend that the federation of 17 sheikdoms and sultanates is a British device to keep a reactionary, pro-British clique in power.

"We did not find here the cooperation to which we were entitled to expect from the British authorities," siid Guerrero as he and his colleagues boarded a plane for Europe.

"We asked for certain conditions, but we have not received any response."

"Britain is the cause of more bloodshed in the world than anyone else," the Afghan member, Abdul Sattar Shalizi, said.

A last-minute row at the mission's beachside hotel capped their five-day visit. The diplomats refused to allow their baggage to be searched by Royal Air Force police, the normal procedure for all outgoing passengers since an Aden airways plane exploded in the sky last November.

"We are not tourists," protested Moussa Leo Keita, the Mali delegate.

Gherrero also indicated that his group was not satisfied it would be allowed free contact with all shades of opinion. In the television speech he wasn't allowed to make, he said the British would have to guarantee that before the mission would begin its work.

The U.N. General Assembly sent the mission to Aden to advise on elections and the establishment of a caretaker government to complete preparation of the territory for independence. The British hope to make the federation independent in 1968.

Mother of Accused Milwaukee Slayer Found Dead in Auto

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The mother of a young man facing trial in the stabbings of three girls was found dead Thursday night in her car. Police said a note was found beside the woman's body.

Mrs. Eva Schlaitzer, 47, was found by police who had been asked by neighbors to search for the woman.

Authorities said the car was parked in a garage near her apartment. Its ignition was on and its fuel tank was empty, they said.

Assembly Okays Repeal of Oleo Ban

35 cents per pound the Illinois sales tax would amount to 1.4 cents.

"We were whipped," said Assemblyman James Azim, R-Muscoda, who authored nearly a dozen of the unsuccessful suggestions for changes. "And I don't know why."

The session ended only 40 minutes before midnight. It was marred by frequent confusion on parliamentary procedure, quarrels over partisan matters, breakdowns of an electronic voting machine, and two party caucuses.

But Republican leaders seemingly never doubted they had the necessary votes. They continued to press for action even when nerves frayed and tempers flared.

Only four changes were made in the proposal sponsored by the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation during 46 roll - call votes.

One of the votes wiped out the original provision of 7½ cents a pound tax on the yellow spread. It was reversed with the adoption of the 5¼-cent levy.

Restaurant Servings

The other two alterations approved would bar the serving of oleo in restaurants and other public places unless requested by the customer, and would prohibit the use of whale oil, coconut oil and certain other foreign substances in the manufacture of the product.

The tax-with-a-fraction was endorsed after a levy of 5 cents a pound failed on a 49 - 49 tie vote.

Democrats refused to go along with a request to erase the record to let Assembly speaker Harold Froehlich, R - Appleton, cast his vote for it.

Froehlich announced shortly after the tie vote that he had pressed his button but the electronic machine had failed to record his preference.

Democrats, rebelling because they said Froehlich had repeatedly cut off their debate in the past, also argued Froehlich's vote would mean placing a tax on a food product.

Froehlich, chief sponsor of an oleo repealer that cleared the Assembly in 1966 but which died in the Senate, had voted earlier to keep the 7½-cent tax in the bill.

'Extend Courtesy'

"The question is not whether we have the right to tax or not to tax," said Assembly majority leader Curtis McKay, R-Cedarburg. "The question is whether or not the courtesy of this body extends to the man who wields the mallet."

The vote to allow the tie vote to be wiped out and taken again was 53-46. But it failed because a two-thirds plurality was necessary.

A second threat to the Farm Bureau's package came when Republicans tried to take out the authorization for the $5 million farm research building.

They said it should be eliminated because the bill no longer carried a revenue provision that would finance its construction.

Minority leader Robert Huber, D - West Allis, dug a little deeper into the partisanship issue when he answered he was "sick and tired of the papier-mache governing" of the GOP.

'Not Irresponsible'

"You are not in fact irresponsible by voting for measures which you feel are needed," Huber said, even if a revenue clause is not attached to a bill

At last, Republicans asked for a caucus. When they came out from behind closed doors, most agreed to the 5¼-cent tax. Only three Republicans voted against the majority. Five Democrats voted against their party in the 52-44 count in favor of the tax.

The degeneration of the oleo issue into party politics was highly unusual. In the past, the lines of division generally have followed rural-urban splits with party affiliations disregarded as dairy supporters defended the ban passed in 1895.

The extra one - quarter cent was added to the nickel tax because Assembly rules forbid another attempt at a flat five - cent tax after the first try fails.

6-Cent Tax Beaten

A suggestion for a 6-cent tax was voted down. A try at a 5½-cent levy failed on the same 49-49 tie that had frustrated the nickel tax. Finally, the assemblymen settled on the unusual fraction.

The reception of the proposal in the Senate was expected to reverse precedent set in the last 30 years as former Sen. Earl Leverich of Sparta chaired the Agriculture Committee and doggedly fought all efforts to repeal the ban.

Leverich was defeated in the 1966 primary. His committee now is headed by Sen. Frank Panzer, R-Brownsville, who has said he will not oppose oleo bills.

Legislators from both houses are predicting the Senate might raise the tax slightly, which could force the creation of a compromise committee to work out the final form of the measure.

The relative swiftness with which Assembly supporters of the plan moved through the waves of amendments and numerous efforts to delay the bill was in marked contrast to the pace of former repealer bills.

Assembly rules require a two-thirds majority to suspend usual procedural barricades. and have allowed a united band of rural legislators to frustrate attempts at speedy action.

Not even the one-third-plus-one minority could be mustered by the dairy defenders to block the final action.

All that remained for opponents was the amendment method. When they ran out of amendments, they could do no more.

When the amendments stopped and the bill was moved to a passage vote, there was not one word of debate.

holster and, stepping over his body, walked to Fletcher and began pumping bullets into him.

"I hate you, I hate you," Gorham quoted Cooley as screaming at the dead officers as they lay in the street.

Cursing at Police

Police Lt. Patrick Hickey said Cooley, a thin man about 5-foot-9, fought police, was screaming and cursing when officers brought him into the station, but later was calm and carefree as he was questioned.

Police at nearby Riviera Beach said Cooley's wife earlier in the day had signed a complaint against him, claiming he chased her and their children out of the house with a butcher knife. Police said they had an order to pick him up on charges of forgery and mental incompetency. He formerly was a furniture mover.

Gorham said of the incident: "The thing that really hurts is that I could not get there 30 seconds earlier — just 30 seconds, that's all. I don't know what I could have done. But still."

Weddings Take Share of Week's News Headlines

The wedding of Miss Sharon Percy and John D. Rockefeller IV dominated the social news last weekend. The ceremony brought together political and social figures from all over the U. S. Among those at the rite, held at Rockefeller Chapel in Chicago Saturday, were the bride's parents, U. S. Sen. and Mrs. Charles Percy; the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller III; Gov. and Mrs. George Romney of Michigan; Gov. and Mrs. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, and Miss Lynda Johnson and George Hamilton. The couple is honeymooning in the Far East.

Also married this week were Lynn Redgrave and John Clark, who announced their engagement two days before. The rite took place in New York City, in the apartment of producer Sidney Lumet. Clark, 34, was divorced from his first wife in Mexico two weeks ago. It is Miss Redgrave's first marriage.

First in Years

The first divorce among members of British royalty in many years took place Thursday, when the Earl of Harewood, 17th in line of succession to the throne, was divorced by his wife of 17 years on the grounds of adultery. Lord Harewood, 44, has announced plans to marry his mistress, Patricia Tuckwell, 38.

Darryl Zanuck's daughter, Suzanne, will be married Saturday to Pierre Francois Savineau, a French merchant captain who made news when he underwent an app'endectomy without anesthetic several years ago. Her father is head of 20th Century Fox Film Corp.

Mrs. Karen Schaf, 25, got a rather unusual birthday present this year. She is the daughter of newly elected Wisconsin Supreme Court Judge Robert W. Hansen. Tuesday was Mrs. Schaf's birthday.

Mrs. Luci Johnson Nugent, expecting her first child sometime in June, was back in the family home — The White House — for a visit this week. She said she didn't realize until her return how much she'd missed the excitement and gaiety of the old homestead. Texas is her home though, she says, and that's where her baby will be born.

In Dallastown, Pa., the sixth daughter to Dr. and Mrs. John R. Rojahn followed a family tradition. Miss Clare M. Rojahn received her nurses' cap. Her five older sisters have accomplished the same, starting in 1949.

In Edgerton Saturday two families merged. Married were Kathleen A. Wentworth, a widow with nine children, and Norman R. Taylor, a Lodi farmer, who has six. He also was widowed. The children range in age from three to 15 years.

Real Rose Petals fell about newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller IV as they left their wedding reception and departed for a Far Eastern honeymoon Saturday. The bride is the former Miss Sharon Percy. At left, Kevin Brownell of Montclair, Calif., is undaunted by the cast that encases his right leg and midsection. Kimberly Vocational Classes Show Winter Accomplishment

Many winter evenings of work and several bouts with blizzardy weather were components that went into the Kimberly Vocational School Open House Sunday. The results of their work were shown by adults who took advantage of the variety of instruction offered during the winter season.

Among crafts and skills taught and displayed were holiday workshop items, cake decorating, knitting, sewing, slip covering and draperies. During the Open House teachers and students explained how the work was done and told of plans for next year's classes.

Visitors to the display, held in the student commons at Kimberly High School, were served refreshments by members of the cake decorating class.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Winius and daughter, Mary Lou, above, stopped to look over the handiwork display, which incorporated themes for the important holidays of the year. At right, knitting skills received appreciative comments from Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gloudemans, Kimberly, who attended the Open House with sons Todd and Jay. (Post-Crescent Photos)

The event will be sponsored by Our Lady of the Rosary Praesidium of the Sacred Heart Legion. The Rev. Robert Smith, assistant pastor of the church, is the group's spiritual director.

Active and auxiliary members and non-members have been invited to attend.

The Rev. Frank Melchoir, assistant pastor of Holy Name of Jesus Catholic Church, Kimberly, is the Green Bay Diocesan director of the Legion.

Y's Menettes Tell Officers

Mrs. Gene Britton was named president of Appleton Y's Menettes when the group met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Donald Sturtevant. Mrs Kenneth Johnston will assume the duties of vice president; Mrs. Rodney Vaughn, recording secretary, and Mrs. Norman Johnson, treasurer.

Members exchanged recipes at the meeting and participated in a "dessert tasting."

The group also discussed plans for the international Y's Men's convention to be held Aug. 21 to 25 at Green Lake. The Appleton Y's Mens Clubs will be hosts for the event.

National Staff Member To Visit Scout Council

Miss Dephane Tabor of the national staff of the Girl Scouts of America will be the main speaker at 1:15 p.m. Thursday at Faith Lutheran Church when members of the Fox River Area Girl Scout Council hold their annual meeting.

Miss Tabor, a graduate of Baylor University, Waco, Tex., is one of a three-member team coordinating the Piper Project, a nationwide Girl Scout program designed to retain and gain members. Other team members are film star Debbie Reynolds and Mrs. J. Lucian Smith, Atlanta, Ga.

Given Citation

Miss Tabor was named to the 1965 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America" in recognition of her "outstanding ability, accomplishments and service to her community, country and profession." She joined the national scouting staff in 1953.

Miss Tabor

Delegates from units in Appleton; Neenah; Menasha; the Running Waters Association composed of Clintonville, Marion, Tigerton and Wittenberg; Hiawatha Trail Association, made up of Bonduel, Shawano, New London and Hortonville, Chain-O-Lakes Association whose members are from Waupaca, King, Rural and Weyauwega, and the Heart of the Valley group, composed of Kimberly, Kaukauna, Sherwood, Little Chute, and Seymour, will attend the meeting.

Those interested in the scouting program have also been invited.

Italian Judges Acquit Gina Of Obscenity

ROME (AP)—Actress Gina Lollobrigida, 39, was acquitted today by an appeals court of obscenity charges stemming from the film "Le Bambole" (The Dolls).

A five-judge tribunal interrupted its hearing to go to a nearby theater and see for itself—projected bigger than life on the screen—the exposed Lollobrigida right thigh that had caused the legal action.

A difference

The judges returned to their courtroom and deliberated for two hours, after which they held she had committed the minor infraction of offending public decency but was not guilty of the more serious charge of taking part in an obscene spectacle. The court then granted an amnesty.

The judges' decision applied to French actor Jean Sorrel, director Mauro Bolognini and Producer Gianni Hecht Lucari, as well as to Miss Lollobrigida.

The thigh-revealing sequence brought a charge of public obscenity against the Italian actress and conviction last Nov. 5 at the city of Vierbo.

She, Sorrel, Bolognini and Lucari were each sentenced to two months imprisonment and fined 40,000 lire ($64). The jail terms and fines were suspended.

Grand Squares Set Hobo Party

The Grand Squares will sponsor their annual Hobo Party at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Moose Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Nelsen will teach the "Silver Dollar" dance during the round dance program, to begin at 8 p.m. Square dancing will be held at 9 p.m. Lyle Leatherman will call the dances.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Loberger and Mrs. Leatherman have charge of the Mulligan Stew, to be served hobo style.

Wife 'Out of Swing of Things' Says 'Nothing Doing' to Switch

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have known Bill and Rita for a long time. We were at their home last Saturday, and after several hours of talking and drinking, my husband managed to get Rita alone in the kitchen. I was left in the living room with Bill.

I don't drink and my husband says this is my trouble. He claims I can't get into the swing of things because I am not relaxed. I've always had a hunch that most people drink because it gives them an excuse to do and say things they wouldn't do and say if they were sober.

My husband finally came out of the kitchen and announced that he and Rita were going out to get some fresh air and he hoped Bill and I had a good time. I told him nothing doing We had an argument and my husband and Rita left.

My husband came right out and said he sees nothing wrong in switching partners if everyone agrees. According to him, 20 years is a long time to be married to one woman and he is getting curious. He also said he deserves some credit for being open and aboveboard.

He is a very persuasive arguer and sometimes I wonder if I am crazy. Please advise. — Spoilsport

Dear S.: There's nothing wrong with you, Doll. Your husband is the nut in the family. Also, I think you need some new friends.

Sure, people get curious — and some times it doesn't take them 20 years. But curiosity is no excuse for behaving like animals.

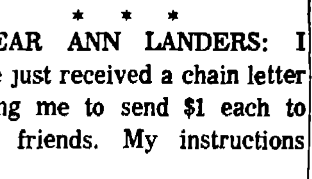
DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have just received a chain letter asking me to send $1 each to nine friends. My instructions said I was to make nine copies and send them off airmail special delivery within 96 hours. Do you realize that this would cost me $9 plus $3.42 in stamps? And it would take several hours to get those nine copies out because I don't own a typewriter?



Landers

The letter said if I complied with the request I would save a life and end up rich. It said if I failed to follow the instructions someone dear to me would meet a terrible fate and I would die broke.

I think it's awful to scare people like that. Please tell folks that chain letters interfere with the peace of mind of the average person and nobody has the right to do this. — Shook Up

Dear Shook: I will say even more. If they involve payment of money, chain letters are against the law.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 19-year-old son has a habit of bringing friends to spend the night. The last friend stayed three months.

He ate every meal here, I did his laundry and nursed him through the flu. I got tired of giving him maid service without so much as a thank you or a dime in return, so I told him to leave.

Now when the boy sees me in town he doesn't even say hello.

My husband claims the house belongs to our son as well as to us and that I should make his guests feel welcome. He makes it sound so logical I sometimes think he is right. Is he? — High Grocery Bill

Dear High: No. A freeloader who hangs around for three months can hardly be regarded as a guest.

Your son should be allowed to offer hospitality to his friends, but he has no right to expect his mother to be a cook, maid, laundress and nurse to the strays he finds around town.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Collegians Must Save Their Trump

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you read the newspapers very carefully you may discover that some college students are not conservative. Perhaps that accounts for their failure to make four spades when they played today's hand in the annual intercollegiate championships held last month in several hundred colleges.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

South had a problem if West opened the queen of hearts. The reckless sort of student who didn't think of conserving his trumps would play the king of hearts from dummy at the first trick.

East won with the ace of hearts and returned a heart, making South ruff. When South then drew trumps he had only one trump left.

Now South had to knock out two aces to make his contract. When he knocked out the ace of diamonds (if he tried that suit first), back would come a heart, and South had to use up his last trump Eventually, East would get in with the ace of clubs and would defeat the contract with his last heart

Plays Low

South makes the contract by conserving his trumps more carefully. He must play a low heart from the dummy at the first trick.

If West leads another heart, South can be forced to ruff once. But dummy will play the 10 if West leads a low heart at the second trick and will play the king if West leads the jack of hearts. This develops a heart trick in the dummy so that the defenders cannot make South ruff twice.

South ruffs the second heart, draws trumps and knocks out the ace of diamonds. If East returns a heart, South does not have to ruff. This gives declarer time to knock out the ace of clubs and thus make the contract under the protection of his last trump.

Daily Question

As dealer you hold: S Q 10, H K 10 9, D K J 9 7, C K J 9 7. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. You have 13 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton but should discount a point or so for the doubleton queen of spades (which is not worth 2 points in high cards and also 1 point as a doubleton) and perhaps another point because the hand is aceless. You wouldn't go to jail for opening this hand, but an expert would pass it.

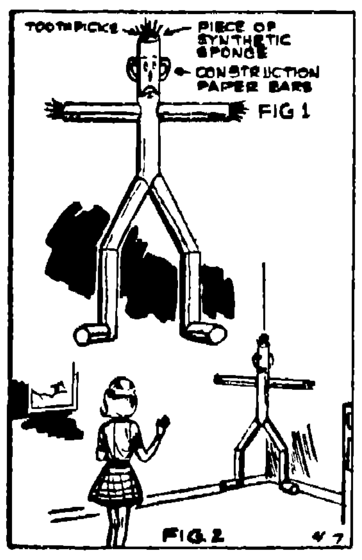
Make a Scarecrow From Mailing Tubes and Paper

BY CAPPY DICK

A scarecrow to stand guard in the corner of your room is today's fun project for boys and girls The comical figure is constructed of mailing tubes or the tubes used in rollers of paper towel

Figure 1 shows how the tubes are to be used The arms and legs are held to the body by means of mending tape The ends of the tubes must be cut to fit the curved surface of the tube forming the body



Paint His Face

Similarly, the ends of the legs must be cut on angles to fit snugly so they may be taped The same is true of the short pieces of tube forming the feet

Glue construction paper ears to the scarecrow's head Paint his face For hair and fingers stuff pieces of synthetic sponge into the openings and press toothpicks into the sponge

Mrs. Humphrey Discusses Husband's Role in Politics

By RONALD THOMSON

LONDON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's wife says it is an honor to be a yes man to a "liberal and brilliant" man like President Johnson.

Muriel Humphrey made a hit with British women journalists Tuesday at a news conference while her husband conferred with political leaders.

Shirley Lewis of the Guardian said Mrs. Humphrey "disarmed even the most cynical of us" and Ann Batt of the Daily Express praised her "disarming honesty."

Not Ruffled

She wasn't ruffled when one writer asked about criticism that Humphrey was a presidential yes man.

"There is nothing wrong in that," Mrs. Humphrey replied. "To be a yes man to a liberal and brilliant man like the President is an honor."

How did it feel to see her husband the target of demonstrators shouting such things as "baby murderer"?

'Care Deeply'

"It upsets me," Mrs. Humphrey said. "We have three sons who at any time can be involved in the Vietnam war. We care very deeply about the boys who have gone into the war."

She told the writers about a visit to wounded American soldiers in a hospital in the Philippines.

"These boys believed what we are doing in Vietnam is right," she said. "There was greater strength there than on the campuses back home."

But noisily protesting students pose no problem for her husband, she said. "They stimulate him.

"He was a professor in his early years when we were first married, and I think he still feels some day he would love to go back and teach.

"A politician never looks very far ahead," Mrs. Humphrey said with a smile. "He might not be in office next time around."

It was moved by Mrs. Heil that there be reconsideration of the motion carried on February 27, 1967, with regard to food vending services at Appleton High School West Second by Mr. Schneider. Motion carried.

Mrs. Heil then moved that the food vending service contract with Zaug Vending Services for Appleton High School West be deferred until September 1968, and that the staff, including present cafeteria employees, be informed now of the institution of vending service on that date. Second by Mr. Roberts. Carried

A letter requesting further study of the summer school deletion from the 1967 Revised Operating Budget was submitted by Mr. Sumnicht. The Superintendent again summarized the costs of summer school subjects which had been deleted. Mr. Sumnicht moved that a committee be established by the President of the Board of Education to investigate the possibility of reinstituting a summer school program and to examine the means for its financing. Second by Mr. Schneider. Motion carried.

President Buchanan appointed the following committee: Mr. Roberts, chairman; Mr. Sager and Mr. Sumnicht, and asked that the members report their findings to the Board at a regular meeting no later than April 13, 1967.

New Business:

The Administration reported briefly on recent Federal legislation which affects wages paid to custodians, and of the consequent added costs to the school system's 1967 Revised Budget incurred by call-back time of custodians for service in school buildings when they are being used by outside groups. Mr. Sager moved that charges to outside groups be increased to cover added costs and that the new rates be effective March 15, 1967. Second by Mr. Whitney and carried.

The Board President then requested a fifteen - minute Executive Session which was moved by Mr. Schneider. Motion seconded by Mr. Sumnicht and carried.

Mr. Sumnicht moved that the meeting reconvene. Second by Mr. Schneider. Carried.

The Chairman of the Professional Improvement Committee, Roy Whitney, reported as follows: On Monday afternoon, March 13, 1967, the Professional Improvement Committee of the Board of Education and the Negotiations Committee of the Appleton Education Association agreed to the following:

1. Effective at the start of the 1967-68 school year, the salary schedule negotiated in June, 1966, ($5400 base) will be implemented, but without the $400 maximum limitations.

2. Effective on January 1, 1968:

a. An increase in the salary schedule to a B. A. base of $5750, along with the proportionate increases for all steps and schedules as used in computing the $5400 schedule.

b. The Board will assume 50% of the present costs of the Group Health Insurance Program.

c. Implementation of the Group Life Insurance Program agreed upon in the June, 1966, negotiations, which provide that the Board of Education will pay half of the premium.

d. Elimination of the head-of-household (dependency) allowance:

1. All staff members on Steps 3 through 10 who are receiving head-of-household (dependency) allowance on the schedule dated August 28, 1967, will be moved up one step on January 1, 1968, as the final act in eliminating this feature from the salary schedule

It was further agreed that a new salary schedule effective January 1, 1968, be adopted as follows:

Classification I B.A.	$5750 to $9000 16 steps
Classification II B.A. plus 15 graduate credits	$5900 to $9210 16 steps
Classification III B.A. plus 24 graduate credits	$6000 to $9310 16 steps
Classification IV M.A.	$6150 to $10,065 18 steps
Classification V M.A. plus 15 graduate credits	$6,300 to $10,215 18 steps

The Appleton Education Association Negotiations Committee, who had just arrived from the general meeting of teachers at Madison Junior High School, was asked for its report on the proposal. Gordon Myse, attorney for the Appleton Education Association, related that the membership present and voting at the meeting held at Madison Junior High School had agreed by a majority vote of 307 to 48 to accept the Board of Education salary schedule offer as presented by Roy Whitney, Chairman, Professional Improvement Committee, and as detailed in the foregoing paragraphs.

Mr. Whitney moved to adopt the salary schedule for the 1967-68 school year as outlined in his report. Second by Mrs. Heil. Motion carried by roll call vote.

A motion was made by Mr. Schneider to resolve into Committee of the Whole. Second by Mr. Sumnicht. Carried.

The move to reconvene regular session was made by Mr. Schneider, seconded by Mr. Whitney, and carried.

Mr. Sumnicht made a motion to adjourn. Second by Mr. Roberts. Carried.

Sherwood Legion To Sponsor Boy Scout Troop

SHERWOOD — Several youth activity programs will be sponsored by the Thomas E. Kees American Legion Post this year, the group decided Tuesday.

These include sponsoring a high school junior boy, attending Kaukauna, Hilbert or St. Mary High School, Menasha, to Badger Boys State in June and being responsible for the local Boy Scout Troop, previously sponsored by Harrison School Community Club.

The post will also pay for a change in gold numbers, printed on the Girl Scout banner which it donated to a troop which has now disbanded. The flag will be imprinted with the numbers assigned the new troop.

Roman Becker and Mervin Dallman were chosen delegates to the Sixth District Spring Conference April 22-23 at Two Rivers.

A public social will be staged by the Legion Post and its Auxiliary April 29-30 at the Legion Clubhouse here.

Lloyd Berken, Appleton, past state commander of the American Legion, will be the featured speaker for Memorial Day exercises sponsored by the post.

Church Group Plans to Honor Senior Women

First English Lutheran Church Women will honor the senior women members of the congregation at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the church fellowship hall.

A program entitled "Lavender and Lace" will feature bridal fashions of the past.

Mrs. John Newbury and Rachel Circle members have charge of the program. Mrs. Mary Gadbois, chairman of the hostess committee, will be assisted by members of Naomi Circle.

Invitations have been sent to 135 guests. All women of the church have also been invited.

Crash Program

Fox Valley Included in Red Cross Recruit Drive

Red Cross has included the Fox Valley area in a national staff-recruitment drive for men and women for overseas and United States duty.

Increased personnel assigned to Vietnam and need for more Red Cross social workers at military bases and hospitals in the United States, were given by the national office as the reasons for the current, crash recruitment program.

Mrs. Kay Kirchberg, Outagamie County Chapter executive secretary, said that a recruitment team will be in Milwaukee Monday and Tuesday to interview personnel for jobs as field directors, military hospital social workers and recreation specialists.

Applicants who want further information before traveling to Milwaukee for interviews may call the Appleton office, or call person-to-person to the chapter in Milwaukee.

Qualifications

Basically, qualifications include good health and freedom to travel. No age minimum or maximum has been indicated. Preference will be given college graduates with study and experience in social sciences, but Mrs. Kirchberg said, "Comparable work-experience certainly will be considered."

The work of a male field or assistant field director involves counseling servicemen and women on personal and family problems, assisting with transportation during emergencies and aiding in maintaining communication between servicemen and their families. Most of the men work on military bases overseas and in the States.

Communication in the states is a matter of contact but it is getting increasingly difficult to reach men in Vietnam, especially those on patrol and on the firing lines, Mrs. Kirchberg said.

Being Repeated

"Our Outagamie experience is being repeated by chapters all over the country, and our figures show a continuing 100 per cent increase over 1965 in service to the military and their families."

Women social workers in military hospitals in many cases pick up the work of the men in the field. The men meet the helicopters when they bring in the wounded, but the women are there in the hospital when the full impact of the injury hits the soldier, she said.

Recreation workers are being sought for immediate assignment in both Korea and South Vietnam. The work carried on by these young women requires aptitudes in handicrafts, music or drama to help them develop planned recreation for servicemen when they come in from the field, Mrs. Kirchberg explained.

"I am told that Wisconsin has been a successful recruiting ground for Red Cross staff, and I believe it's a compliment to our families, our community agencies, and to the schooling our young people receive here," the Red Feather agency executive added.

Unanimous Vote In State Senate To Outlaw LSD

MADISON (AP)— A proposal outlawing the sale and use of LSD won uanimous approval of the Senate Thursday. The bill goes to the Assembly for debate.

LSD, known chemically as lysergic acid diethylamide, is a hallucinatory drug.

Madison Police Chief Wilbur Emery has estimated that 300 students at the University of Wisconsin are frequent users of either LSD or marijuana.

The bill imposes sentences of up to one year for a first conviction, and up to two years for a subsequent offense The proposal, sponsored by Sen Taylor Benson, D-Franksville, classifies LSD as a "dangerous drug."

On another voice vote, the Senate killed a proposal by Sen. Joseph Lourigan, D-Kenosha, to establish a unirameral, or one-house, legislature in Wisconsin

Residents Asked To Keep Debris Out of Gutters

KIMBERLY — With residents taking advantage of the mild weather to clean debris from yards, Eugene Hietpas, street commissioner, has asked their cooperation in keeping debris out of curbs.

This type of debris cannot be picked up by the street sweeper and spring rains wash it down into catch basins resulting in flooded streets, said Hietpas He asked residents to pile debris on terraces near the curb where the large vacuum could be used.

Gerald Rusch, 26, Milwaukee, was sentenced to three months in jail Thursday after he pleaded guilty of failing to support his former wife and two daughters between April 1, and June 16, 1966.

Rusch appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on a complaint brought by his former-wife, Marie. Rusch told the court he now is divorced.

UW-Oshkosh Among Schools To Get Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal Office of Education has approved grants totaling $319,910 for 10 Wisconsin colleges and universities, it was announced this week.

Grants totaling $289,910 for laboratory and other special equipment were approved for:

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, $23,712; Marquette University, $11,390; Ripon College, $28,164; Stout State, $74,978; Edgewood College, $1,911; Platteville State $36,647; Whitewater State, $16,196; Stevens Point State, $8,333; Oshkosh State, $70,885, and Eau Claire State, $17,694.

Grants of $15,000 were approved for Stout and Oshkosh. The money will be used for closed circuit television systems.

Seek Members For Golf Club At Hortonville

Organizers Offer Reduction in Dues To Early Signers

HORTONVILLE — In an effort to bolster memberships in the proposed public golf course here it was agreed at a recent public meeting to give charter members a reduction in annual dues.

The golf course committee, as the first step of the proposed project, has made application for a loan from the Farmers Home Administration (FHA). James Suehring and Ralph Munroe, FHA representatives, were at the meeting to explain procedures of the loan which will be applied to construction of the course and answer questions concerning the project.

It was agreed to use the date the loan is approved by the FHA as a cut-off date for charter memberships. It is anticipated the loan will be approved this spring.

Memberships will probably increase after the cut-off date to more than the $100 fee now in effect, authorities said.

Drive Planned

Memberships total 103, which represents $10,300. A drive for new members is planned for the near future. Since it is a public course, charter memberships are available to all persons living in the area, authorities said. A percentage of memberships will be made available for persons living outside the area, they said.

A clubhouse was discussed and it was agreed one was necessary as a service center to supply revenue for the operation of the course.

A committee was selected to form a set by bylaws which will be presented to the members at a later meeting.

Persons with questions on the proposal or desiring information on memberships were instructed to contact Harold Bartlett, Robert Rindt, John Amburgy, John Quinn, Dr. Keith Breyer, Ron Hooyman and Gene Riedl.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

TRUE ☐ FALSE ☐

True. No less an authority than Dr. Karl Menninger finds that frequently patients not only are cured but proceed to improve beyond what they had ever been before. Such a former patient increases his productivity, gets more fulfillment out of life and expands his horizons. He develops new talents, new powers, new effectiveness. He becomes "weller than well." It is possible that many of us could apply the principles of psychotherapy to greatly improve also.

A love broken can never be mended.

True —— False ——

True, in many instances. When a love is broken, one or both of the partners is apt to be hurt, humiliated, and disillusioned, so that it will be extremely difficult to patch things up so that they will be as they were. Our love feelings are usually closely interwoven with our deepest sense of self. Therefore, our egos can get involved in a break-up, so that it is hard to mend the break without losing face. Sometimes a love affair breaks because there is litle promise in it — another good reason why it probably will never be mended.

SALUTE

A COLUMN FOR DRAFTEES, SERVICEMEN AND VETERANS

BY JERRY T. BAULCH
For The Associated Press

If you're in college now don't worry too much that Congress will change the draft rules so as to keep you from getting your degree on schedule. Even the young men who enter next fall may be safe for awhile.

The two draft revision plans before Congress — one by a Presidential Study Commission and one by a Congressional Study Panel — both provide escape hatches for those now in college. But for those who plan to take graduate study, they create uncertainty.

There's even more uncertainty for those of you just getting out of high school. If you're an 18 or 19-year-old in high school, don't make any plans you can't change. President Johnson's expected order making 19 the prime draft age could decide your future.

The question now is when he'll issue his executive order and when it will become effective. Also, what Congress will do about undergraduate deferments.

The President probably will end deferments later this year for future graduate students, except for doctors, ministers and dentists, and Congress is likely to go along with him. But those now taking graduate study probably will be allowed to get their degrees, and those already accepted for study next fall also are likely to get the green light.

Lottery Still Iffy

Although Johnson has decided to go to the lottery system, Congress may decide against it.

If Congress enacts the Presidential Study plan, students then in college or in recognized apprentice training schools would be permitted to obtain degrees or complete their programs. Thereupon they'd be tossed into the selection pool of that year's 18-year-olds, subject to the lottery.

But the commission that studied the draft for the House Armed Services committee not only would keep the present deferments, but would go further. It would defer each one so long as his college certifies he is a full-time undergraduate, or until he reaches 24, whichever comes first. His student deferment would make him ineligible for any other type of deferment than extreme family poverty.

Under either system, there would be no Selective Service College Qualification Test nor would the colleges have to report a student's relative class standing to his draft board.

Once either system went into effect, there would be no more draft deferments for graduate students except those studying to be dentists or ministers or doctors. But Congress may tack on some advanced science study deferments.

Have local draft boards lost the personal touch? Is the draft machinery creaky?

Both commissions agree the local draft boards are too static. Almost half the members have served more than 10 years and about 8 per cent more than 20 years. A sampling found one-fifth of the members over age 70. The average age is 58.

The Presidential commission found a typical board's busy members forced to leave most of their draft problems to the clerk.

"The idea that the draft boards are a group of your neighbors sitting in judgment or consideration of your fate is not a workable real plan right now," said the commission. "No one seems to know who the members of the draft board are."

The Congressional study group suggests this can be overcome by limiting membership to 10 years. But it wants to keep the present system of boards, as does Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the draft director.

The presidential study group wants a massive overhaul of the system. It wants to reduce the 4,000 local boards to three or four hundred with limited tenure and broaden the membership to include women, for one thing. The volunteer boards would handle only appeals. The registering and classifying of draft eligibles would be done by an identical number of area offices manned by civil service workers.

Ask New System

As to the lottery, President Johnson has ordered Hershey to work out a system to go into effect no later than Jan. 1, 1969.

Hershey has fought the lottery idea, but recently said it might be o.k. if it can be done without hurting the current deferment methods which act to encourage enlistments. Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services committee is among those opposing the lottery, and he's powerful opposition.

The lottery idea is the focal recommendation of the Presidential panel, which called it "impartial random selection." Johnson turned the phrase into a title, "FAIR" — meaning "Fair and Impartial Random" System of selection.

At any rate, Hershey says he can't do anything about the lottery until Congress decides what it wants to do about college deferments.

Hershey, as well as the House commission, notes that the World War II lottery foundered on the complications of deferments.

And the House group argues that when there is a pure lottery without deferments this blocks using skilled workers or scientists in essential defense industries.

Dear Jerry:

I've just finished my obligated military tour of active duty and would like to take advantage of the GI educational benefits. But I don't want to go to college. I'd like to take on-the-job training at an auto repair shop so I can learn a new trade. Is this possible?

Vernon W., Tullahoma, Tenn.

Dear Vernon:

No. The GI bill passed by Congress last year does not provide help for on-the-job training. Educational assistance available for veterans includes recognized colleges, universities, trade or vocational schools. Such things as auto mechanics and other trades can be learned at some of these approved schools.

Dear Jerry:

My father recently died and my mother is now living with me as a dependent. Is she eligible under the new military medical law for medical care in military and civilian hospitals or in Veterans Hospitals? I am a retired Marine.

Sgt. K., San Diego

Dear Sgt. K.:

If your mother is dependent upon you for more than half of her support she is entitled to medical care at military facilities. But she is not eligible under the law for care at civilian hospitals, as is the case for your wife and dependent children. Neither your mother or other dependents can use VA facilities under the new law; only you are eligible.

U.S. Pump Priming To Head Off Recession

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Never before has federal government policy been geared as it is today to preventing a threatened recession from becoming reality. Never before have so many stimulating actions been taken so early in an economic slowdown to reverse the slowdown before it leads to stall and slump.

Sylvia Porter

Never before has the federal reserve system moved so aggressively in advance of a widespread business decline to make credit easier to get, to force down borrowing costs, to spur consumer and business spending — and thereby to give new spark to our economic growth. What's more, never before have our central bank's governors been so eager to explain on the record as well as off the record what they are doing and why.

Experiment in Planning

What we are witnessing right now is an unprecedented experiment in economic planning to revive a faltering expansion, and what's so extraordinary about it all is that the U.S. government does not officially acknowledge the fear (much less the existence) of a recession.

In fact, top officials shrug off the pessimists who say flatly that "the U.S. entered a recession in January," insist that the declines have neither gone far enough nor lasted long enough nor become general enough to warrant a "recession" label.

Most leading private economists also believe this is no more than a temporary "adjustment," liken this period to the slowdown of 1962 which led not to recession but to renewed upturn.

There Are Weak Spots

Nevertheless, there are significant weak spots. Industrial production has declined sharply, new orders for durable goods have had the biggest drop since 1957, layoffs have increased, the work week has shortened, retail sales have been sluggish, indus'rial raw materials prices have softened, and the rate of our overall economic growth has nquestionably leveled off.

Thus, while they're not saying is is a recession, both the deral government and the ederral Reserve Board are ting as though it were, and ius they are pulling out the nti-slump weapons. To give you a quick summary of what has been and is going on:

— The Federal Reserve System has been pumping credit into the banking system on a massive scale, providing banks with major amounts of funds to lend, giving them a clear signal to encourage borrowers again. Interest rates have been falling fast — so that it's not only easier but also considerably cheaper to borrow. After a prolonged period of "begging" for money at almost any price, you now can start bargaining for the cost of what you want.

Tax Incentive

— The 7 per cent investment tax credit has been restored to re-stimulate business spending for plants and equipment. This tax incentive should help revive spending programs running into the hundreds of millions of dollars as the year progresses.

— The federal government is speeding up its scheduled rate of spending. Billions of dollars "frozen" during 1966's fight against an overheated boom are being "unfrozen" for housing, highways, military bases.

— The depressed housing industry is a special target, and various moves are being made to channel funds directly into residential construction and to hasten the drop in mortgage rates.

— Hefty Social Security benefit hikes are to come at mid-year, with the knowledge that these added incomes will be spent immediately by the millions receiving them.

— The Veterans Bureau has accelerated payments of veterans' life insurance payments to put more money in the hands of average U.S. families.

Tax Refunds

— Millions of taxpayers are now getting or are in line for income tax refunds, as a result of tax rate changes made in 1966.

The results are emerging. Housing is definitely reviving and will rise more. Surveys of consumers reveal confidence is perking up — and assuming this is translated into less saving and more spending of today's record consumer incomes, our economy will get a big lift. The stock market's recovery clearly reflects the belief of investors that corporation profits are not heading for a demoralizing slide.

Vietnam could, of course, violently alter all predictions and projections, but war developments are unforseeable. On the basis of what we can foresee, though, the odds are the stimulants will work and our economy will be on the uptick before 1967 ends.

The question should soon be not the danger of recession but the precise timing and strength of the revived advance.

USAF Officer Gets Position At Lawrence

Lt. Col. C. C. Voils Named Professor of Aerospace Studies

Lt. Col. Cecil C. Voils, presently on duty with the United States Air Force at Weston, Ontario, has been appointed professor of aerospace studies at Lawrence University effective June 15.

Voils

Col. Voils will replace Maj. Leigh W. Gisvold, who has headed AFROTC activities at Lawrence since 1963. Maj. Gisvold will return to Turkey, where he had been stationed before his Lawrence assignment, in a new post as adviser to the Turkish Air Force at Izmir. He will leave Lawrence in mid-May.

The new professor of aerospace studies is a stock control officer at the Weston, Ontario, depot, and has been designed as an outstanding supply officer from 1961 to 1966. He has also received the Commendation Medal.

A native of Lincoln, Neb., Voils received the bachelor of science from the University of Nebraska in 1952, and the master of business administration from the Air Force Institute of Technology at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio. He has attended other service schools at Warren, Maxwell and Offutt fields as well as Royal Candian Air Force schools at Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal. He has held one overseas assignment, at Chambley Air Force Base in France from 1954-57.

Col. Voils and his wife have three children.

Art Entries From Xavier Accepted for Anthology

Four Xavier girls have received certificates of acceptance for art entries in the sixth annual anthology, "Art of Young America."

The drawings of Lynnda Hughes, Lee Ann Eggers, Pat Herlache and Frede Van Sleuwen were selected from more than 14,000 drawings and will be printed in the December anthology.

The anthology is a division of the National High School Poetry Press and is aimed at encouraging the growth of art in schools.

Gambles Store Is New Catalog Order Center

Gambles store, Valley Fair Shopping Center, has been appointed as a catalog order center for Aldens Catalog Service, according to Gary Thorson, manager of the store. Aldens, the fourth largest catalog order firm in the United States which has for 78 years supplied customers in this area with high quality merchandise at money-saving catalog prices, brings to town its full selection of merchandise from its beautiful 780-page spring and summer catalog.

"The new catalog service will provide Gambles shoppers with a wider selection of goods, and it will save time and effort for them, too," manager Thorson told reporters. Simplified ordering, both in the store or by telephone, will be a distinct advantage in this new service.

Gary Thorson, Manager

"Our customers," he continued, "will be able to choose any item from the catalog in the store or may order by telephone from their homes." Convenient credit terms will be available so that customers may charge items purchased either in the store or by phone.

According to Mr. Thorson, surveys made by competent authorities indicate that there are three principal reasons why catalog shopping is becoming more and more popular: 1) lower prices; 2) greater selection of goods to choose from as compared with local stores; and 3) convenience, including the elimination of traffic problems and travel time.

Reflecting its continued leadership in the catalog industry, the Aldens current Spring and Summer catalog contains over 288 pages of fashions for young juniors, misses and women. Many of these pages feature fashions from London, Paris and Rome. Every item in Aldens catalogs is hand-picked by Aldens expert buying staff to bring customers outstanding value and a guarantee of greatest savings.

Aldens had its beginning in an extremely modest mail order business established in 1889. Then known as the Chicago Mail Order Millinery Company, it advertised millinery supplies in a small leaflet catalog and a five - man staff filled orders from a loft at Wabash and Congress Streets in Chicago.

The company grew quickly and by 1926 the catalog had grown to 300 pages. Operations of the Chicago Mail Order Company, as it was then called, were transferred to an eight-story warehouse building. Today the company ships merchandise nationally from four warehouses in Chicago and is the fourth largest catalog order company in the country.

Although all of Aldens original sales were for cash, the company extended credit facilities starting in 1937. Today catalog sales made on a credit basis account for more than 50 per cent of the total sales. Full credit terms, including extended time payment credit, will be available to customers here.

Mr. Thorson invites all of his customers to browse through the new catalog and try this new service. He states that he is prepared to take catalog orders immediately and will promise prompt delivery. (Adv.)

Council Committee Maps Sale Plans For Goodland Field

Miller Electric Seeks Site For Future Plant Expansion

Within 24 hours after getting the assignment, the council's commercial and industrial development committee met Thursday and mapped plans for steering Goodland Field sale negotiations and future ball park deliberations.

The special meeting was called by Ald. John MacDonald (7th), committee chairman, who said no time should be wasted in helping a local industry with its expansion plans while also assisting the Appleton Foxes Baseball Club.

Mayor George Buckley told the committee he had sent a letter to officials of Miller Electric Co., asking it to submit a firm offer to the city for the Goodland Field property which consists of 8.3 acres.

Consider Complex

Buckley also said he wrote officials of the baseball club that the council withheld action on its park renovation request, and that a joint city-county complex project would be considered if Goodland is sold.

The committee also decided to:

— Contact the baseball club and indicate it will be kept informed of all negotiations, and that Appleton would continue to support professional baseball.

— Call a joint meeting at 4 p.m. Monday to form a group to consider possible sites for a new ball park. Asked to attend will be the president of the park-recreation commission, public works director, city planner, baseball club officials and the council's land acquisition committee.

Consider Needs

— Have the board of public works and the park-recreation commission consider the city's needs in the event Goodland Field is sold, and determine the scope of a proposed new facility — whether it will be a baseball park or a sports complex.

— Check if federal funds are available for a new park-recreation facility, assigning that to the council's special aids panel consisting of the city attorney and finance director.

— Consider a joint land and money arrangement with Outagamie County should a sports complex be recommended as the answer for the area's needs.

— Hold a special meeting of the board of public works Tuesday to make a full progress report.

Aid Discussion

Buckley said he would discuss federal aids availability with Rep. John Byrnes (R-Green Bay) when he holds a conference with him here next Friday.

It was disclosed that as soon as the city hears from Miller Electric, the board of public works and the firm will start negotiating.

MacDonald said there are at least four sites within the city that might be considered for a future baseball park or sports complex. However, he and other committee members agreed the land use plan should be considered by the appropriate boards and commissions which will be making recommendations.

Should the city and electrical firm not arrive at agreement on a sale price for Goodland Field, the council would then be faced with having to make improvements at the park, including a new lighting system in the near future at a cost of more than $100,000.

"Many things have to be considered as we proceed," MacDonald said.

Commission Attacks Action Of City Council

Charge Aldermen By-Passed Park Unit On Goodland Issue

A sharp attack was made on the city council by the park-recreation commission Thursday in a special meeting called to protest the handling of the latest developments concerning Goodland Field.

The gist of a two-page statement passed by the commission and forwarded to the mayor and council is that the commission feels it was by-passed.

It charged aldermen with being unfamiliar with governmental procedures, and inferred the council's commercial and industrial development committee lacks jurisdiction.

Council Notified

(Wednesday night the council was notified that Miller Electric Co. is interested in purchasing Goodland Field. The council instructed the committee to be the steering group and make necessary followups, including exploration of plans for a new baseball park or sports complex.)

The park - recreation commission asked the council to review its action, taking into consideration the functions of the park group.

Attending the commission meeting at city hall were Commission President Arthur Jones, Wendall H. Smith, William Heerman, Victor Sumnicht and Ald. Al Stoegbauer (4th).

Alds. Arthur E. Mueller and Orville Strutz (17th) did not attend. However, Mueller arrived later and told a reporter he "wanted nothing to do with the commission action."

Special Meeting

The commerce and industrial development committee also held a special meeting in the same room an hour later to put

'Gerrymandering' Hit In Amendment for Redistricting of County

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Senate Thursday adopted an amendment to a legislative reapportionment bill which would substantially change the lines of Outagamie County's Second Assembly District, leading minority Democrats to charge that the legislative seat was being gerrymandered to remove a Democrat from office.

Final consideration of the bill was delayed until next week.

The seat is held by Democrat William Rogers, D-Kaukauna. If effected, the amendment would make major changes in the voting structure of the district, according to Rogers and senatorial critics of the measure introduced by Sen. Raymond Johson, R-Eau Claire, and supported by legislators from the Outagamie County area.

The vote on the amendment to the bill introduced by Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, was 21-12, a straight party line tally.

Rogers said today he has been assured by the Democratic Party organization that the legality of the measure will be challenged in the courts if the legislature enacts it. Rogers called the bill an "obvious gerrymander."

Later this morning, Louis Hanson, chairman of the Democratic Party, confirmed the plan to test the constitutionality of the bill if it is passed.

Hanson charged that the proposed shifting of Outagamie County assembly district boundaries is an attempt to change the percentages of party voting to create three moderately strong Republican districts to replace two very strong GOP districts and one moderately strong Democratic district.

Hanson claimed that according to the 1966 vote for assemblyman, the Democratic margin in Rogers' district would be decreased by 2,801 votes. Based on the 1960 and 1964 presidential vote, the Democratic margin would be reduced by 1,542 votes, he said.

"Any way you look at it, this provision is a Republican gerrymander," Hanson asserted.

The vote on the Johnson amendment, which has been strongly backed by Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, came without explanation or discussion, despite attempts by Sen. George Borg, R-Delavan, to gain discussion of the matter.

Blocked Attempts

Lt. Gov. Jack Oslon and other Republicans blocked Borg's attempts, and the vote proceeded without discussion.

Senate minority leader Fred Risser, D-Madison, said, "This amendment puts a Democratic assemblyman out of office. If the majority party . . . can put a minority party member out by this device, they can put all minority members out of office. This is a serious matter. You had better think twice," he warned Republicans as the vote proceeded.

Sen. Taylor Benson, D-Franksville, charged that the move marked a "flamboyant arrogance of power."

"We must do everything we can to try to help him," he said of Rogers, faced with the changes in his district.

Republicans in authoring the measure claimed that the amendment was aimed at bringing a more singular nature to

Key Assemblyman Vows to Oppose UW-GB Spending

Kordus to Block Funds Until Site Suit Is Settled

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Assemblyman Robert Kordus, D-Milwaukee, a member of the powerful University Affairs Subcommittee of the State Building Commission, vowed Thursday to oppose any expenditures of additional state funds on planning or construction of the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay.

Kordus said that he will continue his opposition until a lawsuit contesting the selection of the Shorewood site on the city's northeast side has been settled. It would be inappropriate, he contended, to approve any additional spending until that test has been settled. The suit is now in a Dane County Circuit Court.

Kordus gave the first indication of his position at a meeting of the subcommittee Thursday when he asked for figures on the amount of plannning funds needed for the Parkside campus.

Expands Position

He expanded his position in an interview after the meeting.

Kordus said he would not vote for additional planning money, even for preliminary plans, until the suit is settled. He will not oppose expanding the official concept of the new campuses, however, as long as additional money is not needed for the planning.

He also opposed using any funds from the original authorization for the new campuses, which were to have been used to plan or construct the Green Bay campus or the Parkside school. If the state can proceed with the Green Bay campus on its present location, those funds will be needed for rapid development of the northeastern school, he said.

The three-man subcommittee has control of $537,000 in planning funds for the two new campuses. Of that sum, $155,000 is needed by April 15 to maintain a planning schedule aimed at opening the institutions in September 1969, the subcommittee was told.

The third member of the subcommittee, commission secretary, Gerald K. Emmer, is opposed to facets of the planning of the Parkside school relating to "surge" or temporary space development. Emmer backs full UW-GB development as previously outlined by the subcommittee.

Kordus said that he has informed Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, of his position on the spending question, but said he is not taking directions from the leading opponent of the Shorewood site in the matter. He is not consulting with other site foes, he added.

"I want to watch out for the taxpayers' money," he said. "After all, I pay taxes too, and that lawsuit hasn't been settled.

"It's the people up there starting the suits, not us. It's up to me to guard the public's funds. If we delay the school up there for a year or so, there's nothing that I can do about it."

The subcommittee is expected to act on the request for additional planning funds after the full building commission meeting Monday morning.

Hearing Set For Site Bill

Rogers Proposal to Use Larsen Farm To be Aired April 19

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The bill which would change the site of the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay campus will be considered April 19 in a public hearing in the state capitol.

Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, and six other opponents of the Shorewood site on Green Bay's northeast side, authored the bill which proposes to move the new campus to the Larsen Farms location on the city's southwest side.

Backers of the bill claim the Larsen Farms site is more accessible to potential students from the southern part of the Fox River Valley.

Shortly after the Assembly Education Committee was announced by Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, at the start of the session, it was charged it had been stacked to favor the bill. Froehlich has been an outspoken foe of the Shorewood site selection by the statutory site selection committee a year ago.

The hearing will be at 9 a.m. in room 213 Northwest of the capitol building.

Appleton Man Head of New Hospital Unit

OSHKOSH — Glen Knutson, director of personnel and public relations at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Appleton, was elected president of he newly-formed Wisconsin Society for Hospital Personnel Directors at an organizational meeting held here Wednesday.

Fox Valley representatives to the board of directors are Jesse Fissel, Mercy Hospital, Oshkosh, and Eric Jenschke, St. Agnes Hospital, Fond du Lac.

The objectives of the society are to advance the development of effective personnel administration in hospitals and other related care facilities, stimulate the exchange of information, further the professional education and personal development of its membership, formulate a code of ethics of personnel practices, and establish liaison with other organizations having similar objectives.

Fox Valley cities represented at the meeting were Appleton, Clintonville, Oshkosh, and Fond du Lac.

Oregon Girls' School Topic for Meeting

KIMBERLY — Rex Duter, administrator of the Oregon School for Girls, will explain the purpose of the institution and how it is operated at a Parent-Teacher Association meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the junior high school auditorium.

Towns Seek Legislation For Corporation Privilege

Four Valley Area Sites Included

Post-Crescent News Service

MADISON — Legislation to make four suburban towns in the Fox River Valley eligible for immediate incorporation as third or fourth class cities was ready for filing in the state legislature today by the Wisconsin Suburban League.

A league spokesman said the bill, if written into the law, would permit the incorporation of the towns of Menasha and Grand Chute on the borders of Appleton and Ashwaubenon and Allouez near Green Bay and thus make them immune from annexation attempts by their neighboring city governments.

Under present law, such towns, in order to incorporate, must have the approval of the state planning division, which examines their claims to urban characteristics. An exception is in Milwaukee County where a town of more than 5,000 population and an equalized valuation of at least $20 million is eligible to incorporate if it is adjacent to the City of Milwaukee.

Amendment Sought

John H. Rouse of the league said he proposes to amend the so-called "Oak Creek" law to have it apply to other towns of 5,000 residents or more and of $20 million valuation.

Rouse said the league, which now has members in the Fox River Valley, the Sheboygan area and the Racine-Kenosha County district, intends to make a strong push for the proposal.

In some other quarters, the bill is viewed as a strategic counter-offensive to the drive of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities to liberalize present annexation laws to allow cities, with the approval of the courts, to annex suburban territory lying within towns on a unilateral basis.

Hung Jury Averted by 17 Minutes

Find Janesville Man Guilty of Negligent Homicide

Only 17 minutes before the judge would have declared a deadlock, a 12-man Outagamie County Court jury Thursday night found a 24-year-old Janesville man guilty of negligent homicide in the Sept. 5 traffic deaths of a Manitowoc couple.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller, who presided over the two-day trial, ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Thomas J. Lubeck, a college student, who was charged last October following a finding by a six-man coroner's jury. Judge Keller ordered sentencing for 1:30 p.m. April 21. Lubeck remained free under $1,000 bond.

The Janesville man, who lived in Appleton the past summer while undergoing pharmaceutical training, was driving a car that sideswiped an auto driven by Mrs. Edna Hinz of Neenah then crashed head-on into a car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Krebsbach, both 59, of Manitowoc. The Manitowoc couple was killed almost instantly in the crash on U.S. 10, a mile west of Appleton.

'Hopeless'

The guilty verdict was announced at 8:58 p.m., after nearly four and a half hours of deliberation by the all-male jury. Twice the jury indicated it was "hopelessly deadlocked." The first time was at 5:20 p.m., after about two hours of deliberation. Judge Keller ordered the jurors be taken to dinner, then be returned for further deliberation. They returned about 7 p.m.

At 8 p.m., Judge Keller called the jury out. Five members indicated there was a "hopeless deadlock," but most felt a verdict could be reached if they stayed longer. Judge Keller ordered one more hour of deliberation — until 9:15 p.m. — before he would rule a hung jury, which would have necessitated a new trial before a different jury.

Outagamie County court officials said they could not recall the last time there was a hung jury.

12 Witnesses

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer called 12 witnesses for the state during the trial, while Lubeck's attorney placed four witnesses, including the Janesville man, on the stand.

Lubeck's attorney, in his final arguments to the jury Thursday afternoon, attempted to discredit testimony of state's witnesses who told of the speed of the Lubeck car just prior to the accident. He said the witnesses were not qualified to pinpoint the speed merely through observation.

Jurors included Wallace Roblee, 1630 S. Memorial Drive; Ray Schultz Jr., 1624 N. Gillett St.; Lawrence Wendorf, 212½ N. Meade St.; Wallace Wolff, 1430 N. Superior St.; and Roy Moore, 1344 W. Eighth St., all of Appleton; Luther Huebner, Raymond Baerwald, and Glen Sipe, Hortonville; Charles O Petersen, 1209 Desnoyer St., and Theodore Timmers, 104 Idlewild St., both of Kaukauna; Joseph Romensko, 930 Depot St., Little Chute, and Donald M. Fries, 118 Jean St., Combined Locks.

Dynamic Due at Lawrence

Psychological Selling Promoted at Seminar

Approximately 750 members of the Sales and Marketing Executives Club of Northeastern Wisconsin heard a "dynamic duo" of well-known sales figures Thursday night at Lawrence University's Memorial Chapel.

Speakers at the evening session of the SME sales training seminar were Jay Beecroft, sales training director of 3-M Co., and Larry Wilson, former life insurance salesman, now a self-employed speaker and trainer of salesmen.

Paraphrasing Mark Anthony's speech eulogizing the slain Julius Caesar, Beecroft explained "what history has to say about successful techniques in changing people's minds."

Beecroft is responsible for approximately 4,200 salesmen and 800 sales managers in 30 product divisions for 3-M.

Wilson retired at the age of 30 after a highly successful sales career during which he sold $15 million of life insurance. He spent a year studying sales' concepts, wrote a book on sales and created a new "psychological selling" course which he advocates on his speaking tour.

The program was introduced by Victor Mueller, SME president and vice president and sales manager of Home Mutuals Insurance Co. Guests in the audience were introduced by George Krampien, senior vice president of Aid Association for Lutherans.

Two footballs were raffled off and presented to the winners by Max McGee, left end for the Green Bay Packers.

Urge District to Solve Problem

Metropolitan Sanitary Region Proposed in Fond du Lac Area

FOND DU LAC — In a hearing before the Department of Resource Development (DRD) a civil engineer advocated the formation of a metropolitan sanitary district to solve Fond du Lac-Town of Fond du Lac pollution problems.

The hearing, called by DRD Director Freeman Holmer, is an attempt to find a solution to Lake Winnebago pollution.

The City of Fond du Lac has maintained that annexation of the town is the only way to extend its sewer services.

The town, due to a unique tax situation, has ardently opposed annexation, and instead proposes a metropolitan district.

Apparent Implications

The hearing has apparent state-wide implications and the decision which will come as a result of this and other hearings will determine whether cities will have to extend their utilities beyond their corporate boundaries.

During the morning session, Dr. Robert Arthur, a sanitary engineer from Fond du Lac, elaborated on a study he conducted on the pollution problem in this area.

In addition to the metropolitan district, he proposed three other alternatives. One, being individual sewage treatment plants in each of three trouble spots; another for the town to hookon to the city, and, a third, one plant in the town.

Teachers' Meeting in Oshkosh

Editor of 'Nation' Urges Changes To Fit Technological Revolution

OSHKOSH — The creation of a new society to accompany today's technological revolution was urged this morning in an address to the 76th annual Northeastern Wisconsin Education Association meeting by Carey McWilliams, editor of the "Nation."

Discussing the technological revolution, McWilliams said that contrary to the views of George Meany, automation is not a curse. "It can be a blessing, if we adjust ourselves to it properly," he said.

McWilliams said that today's leaders have been applying old remedies to solve new problems brought about by the technological revolution.

Need Changes

"The acceleration of this revolution," he said, "has not been followed by changes in economic, political, social and personal values.

"As a result," he said, "the education of the future must become an entirely continual process throughout the adult life."

Pointing to the problems caused by this revolution, McWilliams stated that knowledge today becomes obsolete in "lapsed time periods" of five, 10 and 12 years.

"The economic implications of this are enormous. There no longer is a correlation between poverty and unemployment. Some segments of society lag behind because they lack the aptitudes and training to move ahead," he said.

McWilliams said these people are becoming the social dropouts of today's society, and they are growing in number.

Urges Bonus

To combat these problems he urged an American version of the Canadian "baby bonus" program. He explained that when a child is born in Canada, there is a condition that if he remains in school until he is 16, the parents receive a monthly bonus.

He also urged American political leaders to consider the adoption of the guaranteed annual income program.

He urged American political parties to take on new responsibilities and to educate members about the problems brought about by the technological revolution.

The "Nation's" editor urged America to become more concerned with problems of the underdeveloped nations.

"We gave birth to this technological revolution, but we are surrounded by oceans of poverty. We keep becoming richer and more powerful, while others are becoming more poverty-stricken," he said.

He suggested that the nations which make up the western democracies should allocate a small percentage of their national products to be sent into an international development fund.

Officials Hear State Ideas on Shore Zoning

Laws Must be on Books by Jan. 1 To Meet Deadline

Officials from 14 counties Thursday learned what the State of Wisconsin considers the best approach to shoreland protection, required before next Jan. 1 by the new state water law, chapter 614.

More than 70 planners, zoning committeemen, and resource technicians from northeastern Wisconsin gathered at the Home Mutual Building, Appleton, to hear recommended methods of meeting the deadline.

A manual to assist county zoning authorities in preparing regulations to control development along the shores of lakes, rivers and streams, was outlined by Douglas Yanggen, planner for the University of Wisconsin (UW) Extension Division.

Prepare Manual

It was compiled by the extension division in cooperation with the Department of Resource Development, Board of Health, State Conservation Department, Soil Conservation Service and Public Service Commission.

Yanggen said, "It reflects the combined thinking of people from a number of different disciplines and agencies . . . a concensus of opinion."

The day-long sessions had been preceded by earlier meetings called by the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission to discuss the new law and its requirements.

County officials also received copies of a model county shoreland protection ordinance prepared by the UW extension.

Yanggen outlined the general requirements of the new law which says land within 1,000 feet of navigable lakes, ponds or flowages must be zoned, as well as shoreland within 300 feet of navigable rivers and streams or to the landward side of floodplains.

Requires Standards

"It does not prohibit development within those areas," Yanggen said, "but requires

Neenah Man Admits Tipsiness; Fined $35

Gary B. Brandt, 29, route 2, Neenah, this morning was fined $35 and costs or 14 days in jail after he pleaded guilty to an intoxication charge brought by Appleton police.

Brandt, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, was arrested Thursday at Seymour and Wilkie Streets.

Auto Leasing Firms Threaten To Leave Port

Winnebago Wants To Raise Rental Rates to Companies

OSHKOSH — Representatives of the three rental car agencies operating at the Winnebago County Airport and the county's Aviation Committee battled in circles for three hours Thursday night with the operators threatening to leave the airport if the county insists upon increased rentals.

Negotiations now apparently hinge on a legal ruling on whether the county's acceptance of rent money from the three agencies for the first four months of 1967 constitutes automatic renewal of the 1966 lease agreement.

E. H. Wallschlaeger, representative for the Avis Agency, told the committee to find out whether the contract was in force for 1967. "If so, we are willing to sit down and negotiate."

The committee agreed to get a legal ruling but tagged the agreement with an ultimatum that if accepting the rent did not constitute extension of the old lease, the three agencies would either accept the new contract proposal or get off the airport.

The county is now asking a minimum of $2,000 a year rent or 7 per cent of the gross revenue, whichever is greater, from each rental agency, plus $3.35 per square foot of floor space occupied in the terminal building. The county's first request which had been flatly refused by the three agencies, was for a minimum of $3,000 or 10 per cent of the gross.

The new lease also was to be retroactive to Jan 1, although the committee indicated it may be willing to waive that requirement.

Urban Van Susteren, one of the owners of the Hertz agency, asked the committee, "When do we have to move? I am 90 per cent certain we can't live with those terms." He then asked whether, if they moved out, the county would attempt to make the proposed lease retroactive for them even though they were not signing it.

When Supv. Alvin Pinckley, secretary of the committee, indicated he felt the additional rent still should be retroactive, Van Susteren replied, "That is jolting to my sense of business ethics." He then informed the committee the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled in past cases those terms could not be made retroactive when occupancy is being terminated.

Later, Van Susteren softened his rejection of the proposed lease and indicated he might be willing to negotiate further.

Seven Teams Enter Area Softball Loop

NEENAH — Seven teams have expressed interest in joining the Mid-State Open Softball League for its fourth season. The deadline for entering is April 10.

Teams and their managers include defending champion Frank & Pat's Pizza, Neenah, Dick Schultz; Jitter's Bar, Menasha, Doug Wiatrowski; Oscar's Fond du Lac, "Butch" Jacques, Oakfield (formerly Fairmont of Fond du Lac), Don Willie; Lox Club, Combined Locks, Bob Gossens; Bob & Mary's, Kaukauna, Clem Bowers; Jo & Joe's, Lanes, Whitelaw, Marv Braun.

The Whitelaw team is a new entry. Piggly Wiggly of Oshkosh, a member last year, has dropped out.

Jim George is acting president and Schultz, acting secretary.

League play will open May 7. The rules were changed so that most games will be played Sunday nights instead of Saturday.

Tipsy Driver Fined $175

Patrick Kiley, 21, Appleton, Loses License for Year

Patrick C. Kiley, 21, 218 W. Prospect Ave., arrested following an accident early the morning of April 2, today was fined $175 and costs or 60 days in jail after he pleaded guilty of driving while under the influence of intoxicants

In addition, Outagamie County Judge Gustave J Keller revoked Kiley's driver's license for one year.

Fund Drive Hits $14,334 Mark, USC Reports

The fund raising committee for the Family Service Association of the Fox Valley Inc. reported at a meeting at United Community Services headquarters this morning that $14,334 has been raised in the community.

This total does not include funds already pledged through the Junior Woman Club's Spring Fling, the Kings Daughter's Circles and the Neenah-Menasha Family Service Inc.

A spokesman said that because of the efforts of Mrs. Verner Haag and Mrs. Joseph Shiff, co-chairmen in this campaign, the association is aiming for a June 1 date to open the office.

American Can Reclassifies 2 Local Posts

NEENAH — Changes in responsibilities for two Neenah executives of American Can Co. and creation of a new executive postion were announxed by the firm today.

Lee Heroman, formerly director of Folding Carton plants for the Marathon Converting Operations, will become Director of Administrative Control. He will direct activities for the 16 Marathon Products Converting Plants.

John W. Fitzpatrick, former director of Flexible Packaging Plants, will become Director of Technical Operations and will be in charge of staff activities including quality engineering and standards, graphic arts, converting engineering and process engineering.

The new position of director of operations and production control will be filled by Edward J. Srenaski, formerly plant manager at Modesto, Calif.

The changes do not involve any movement of the personnel involved except for Srenaski who will be moving to Neenah.

Winnebago Hires Firm to Study New Air Terminal

OSHKOSH — Contracts were signed Thursday night by the county board's Aviation Committee with Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendorf, consultants, to conduct preliminary studies at the airport for construction of a new terminal or expansion of the present building.

The cost of the preliminary survey work will be $7,800 with that amount applicable toward future fees if the same firm is selected to do the architectural and engineering work for the actual construction.

Signing of the contract had been held up pending confirmation of the application of those fees.

Perliminary survey work will include updating the 1963 comprehensive airport plan done by the same firm, traffic projections to 1980, terminal space need study and preliminary alternate design plans.

Nursing Home Plans Snagged

Request Followed; Send Matter Back To City Commission

Plans of a Milwaukee developer to construct a $1 million nursing home on Madison Street in the vicinity of St. Elizabeth Hospital have been snagged temporarily.

Ald. John MacDonald (7th) had the city council reconsider previous approval of the development, and referred the matter back to the plan commission Wednesday night.

MacDonald said he was taking the action at the request of St. Elizabeth Hospital officials.

On March 15 the city council, acting on the recommendation of the plan commission, waived a setback requirement for the developer. The nursing home is to be located in the 9th Ward.

Newberry Property

Rezoning of Newberry Street property — a historical controversy which has laid dormant in recent months — was revived with the request of James Vanden Boogard to rezone from single family to commercial-light manufacturing his lot between Briarcliff Drive and the city limits.

The council authorized the city clerk to set a date for a public hearing.

At the same time it received a recommendation from the plan commission to deny Van Boogard's request.

However, Ald. Glenn Thompson (13th) made a brief speech in which he said he now favored the rezoning and wanted the people in the ward to know it so they could "choose up sides for the battle."

Withdrawn From Work

A year ago when the same rezoning was before the council, the meeting chambers were filled with mostly objectors. The petition for rezoning was withdrawn before a vote could be taken.

The council also:

—Set April 17 as the date for a hearing on the application of the city to have the old Outagamie County Airport property rezoned from residential to industrial. Ald. William Errington (15th) registered strong objection.

—Rezoned from residential to local business district the triangle between Badger Avenue and Memorial Drive, north of the existing service station.

—Denied a request to rezone a lot west of Birchwood at Grant Street from single to two-family, concurring in the plan commission position.

Engineer Will Study Church Parking Area

KAUKAUNA — A request has been received by city officials to permit angle parking on Hendricks Avenue near Bethany Lutheran Church in an effort to help solve the parking problem in the area during times of church functions.

The city engineer, Robert Natrop, has been authorized to make a study of the situation and report findings to the board of public works prior to aldermen making a decision.

Teachers Claim 1,000 Signatures On Petitions

MENASHA — The citizens of the Menasha School District have responded "warmly and encouragingly" to the members of Menasha Teachers Union Local 1166 AFL-CIO during this week's solicitation for support, Eugene Herubin, chairman of the action committee, said today.

Since Monday, the union's teacher-members have rung doorbells in the city and town, explaining what has happened during the past six months of negotiating a teacher's contract for the 1967-68 school year and to ask men and women to sign a petition indicating that they are behind the board of education and the Menasha teachers.

"Now we have more than 1,000 signers and the teachers are not only enthusiastic but their confidence has returned — confidence rebuilt because 90 per cent of the signers have told us that they are behind us," Herubin said.

"One person among the many we have contacted knew nothing about the lengthy fruitless negotiations which have been going on for the past six months. We have been gratified to learn that most everyone has been following the progress of negotiations, or lack of progress, in the newspapers, radio and television."

Coroner Kemps Orders Post-Mortem Exam To Find Cause of Death

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps ordered a post mortem examination to determine the cause of death of a 39-year-old Appleton man early today.

Kemps said that Eugene K. Miller, was found dead about 2:30 a.m. today by Eugene Koslowski, a friend who lives in Oshkosh. Miller was lying on a mattress on the living room floor at his home at 311 N. Locust St. Appleton police assisted with the investigation.

The Appleton Fire Department rescue squad was unsuccessful in attempts to revive the man with oxygen and heart massage. Miller, a former partner in the operation of the West End Tavern, 732 W. College Ave., was not married.

The body was released to the Meiselwitz Funeral Home Plymouth.

Appleton Driver Gets Jail Term

A 31-year-old Appleton man was sentenced to 180 days in jail this morning after he pleaded guilty of driving after his license was revoked.

Appleton police had arrested James M. Evenson, 902½ W. Winnebago St., following an accident March 15 in the 100 block of N. Richmond St. He appeared today in Outagamie County Court Branch 2. Judge Gustave J. Keller imposed the mandatory jail term and ordered Evenson's license revoked for another year.

The Appleton man also was fined $25 or another 12 days in jail when he pleaded guilty of leaving the scene of an accident.

Propose Elimination of Rural Zoning on East Side

MENASHA — About 60 property owners in the Town of Menasha turned out to support and block various zoning proposals Thursday evening in the town's first mass rezoning since the zoning freeze ended last August.

The public hearing in the Fox Valley Co-op building was the first step in changing the composition of the town. The recommendations from the zoning committee and board of adjustments of Winnebago County will now go to the county board and then back to a public hearing by the Town of Menasha board.

If the present action stands, the east side of the town will no longer have agriculture-zoned land and the entire strip along State 47 in the town will be zoned commercial.

18 Changes

A total of 18 zoning changes from agricultural to residential "A" were okayed; eight parcels were put into residential "B", the duplex and multiple family zone; two pieces were included in the recreational district; 13 in the commercial "A" zone; 10 in the commercial "B" zone, and one site included into an industrial district.

The county committee, comprised of Warren Miracle, chairman, Laurel Heaney, Town of Neenah chairman, Carl Mailahn, county zoning officer, and Edwin Harold, Town of Menasha assessor, eliminated two zoning requests Thursday.

Changes requested by Trader's Realty, Inc., for a parcel zoned Commercial "B" and an adjoining piece of land zoned Residential A to be rezoned Commercial "A" were turned down after residents in the area strongly objected to the proposal.

Estrada Pitches 4 Perfect Innings

Enhances Chance of Winning Spot With Mets; Orioles Beat Twins

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Chuck Estrada was perfect—and that might be just good enough to get him back into the major leagues.

The veterin right-hander retired all 12 men he faced Thursday night in the New York Mets' 2-1 10-inning victory over St. Louis at St Petersburg, Fla.

Estrada, listed on the roster of the Mets' Williamsport farm club in the Eastern League, most likely will move up to the parent club on the basis of his fine showing.

The former member of the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago Cubs, who spent most of last season with Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League, didn't pitch this spring until two weeks ago because of a blister on his index finger. The Mets obtained him from Vancouver for about $20,000.

Estrada got the victory when Jerry Grote doubled home Jerry Buchek in the bottom of the 10th. Don Cardwell pitched the first six inings for New York, giving up three hits and striking out six. Bob Gibson yielded one run on five hits and struck out eight in going seven innings for St Louis.

Woody Held's two-run double capped a three-run 10th-inning burst as Baltimore beat Minnesota 6-3 in a night game at Orlando, Fla , and the Chicago Cubs whipped the Chicago White Sox 8-4 under the lights at Arlington, Tex.

In day games, Washington outfumbled the New York Yankees but still won 5-2; California edged San Francisco 1-0; Atlanta slugged Houston 9-2; Boston topped Detroit 4-1; Kansas City trounced Philadelphia 11-3 and Cleveland routed Cincinnati 11-4.

Larry Haney hit a two-run homer and Frank Robinson connected with the bases empty for Baltimore. Bob Allison doubled in two runs for Minnesota.

The Cubs got five runs in the fourth, including two on a single by pitcher Ken Holtzman, in beating their city rival.

Washington's Joe Coleman pitched five hitless innings before giving up a run in the sixth in the Senators' victory over the Yankees at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Washington committed five errors and the Yankees three, including first baseman Mickey's Mantle's first of the spring.

George Brunet and Bill Kelso combined to shut out San Francisco for the Angels at Fresno, Calif. Jose Cardenal's sacrifice fly in the sixth drove in the game's only run.

Eddie Mathews' two-run homer in the sixth sparked Houston past Los Angeles at Wichita, Kan. Rusty Staub followed Mathews' homer with one of his own. Both blows came off Don Drysdale.

Boston scored three times in the sixth — twice on Tony Conigliaro's double and once on George Scott's single in beating Detroit at Lakeland, Fla Willie Horton suffered a severe strain of his left calf muscles while running out a single which drove in Detroit's only run. He will be sidelined for 12 days.

Ed Charles hit a three-run homer in the third for Kansas City, which also scored six runs in the sixth against Philadelphia at Bradenton, Fla.

Thome Named Lakeland Coach

Directed Chilton To Undefeated Season in 1966

CHILTON — John Thome, who guided the Chilton High School football team to a perfect 8-0 season in 1966, has accepted the head grid coaching job at Lakeland College, Sheboygan.

Thome, 25, will be succeeding Leroy (Andy) Anderson, who will be committing full-time interests in a sporting goods business. Anderson had a 2-7 record as Muskies' coach last season.

A graduate of Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, Thome came to Chilton as a football assistant in 1963. He took over the head coaching reins the following year, and Chilton came up with a 7-1-1 season. His 3-year record at the high school was 23-2-1.

Besides taking over the top coaching duties in football at Lakeland, Thome will assist the freshman basketball team. He is to graduate from Northern Michigan University with a Masters Degree in physical education this summer.

Ships Take FRVC Indoor Track Title; Terrors Are Fifth

Aubinger Erases Nordgren's Mile Record; 3 Other Marks Set

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MANITOWOC — Fired by record - breaking performances in the half-mile and two relay events, powerful Manitowoc swept to an easy victory over a pack of nine schools in the 1967 Fox River Valley Conference Indoor Track Meet Thursday night.

The Ships collected 50 points to out-distance runnerup Sheboygan North which finished with 28½. Oshkosh was third with 25½, followed by Green Bay Southwest 18; Appleton 15; Sheboygan South 14; Fond du Lac 10; Green Bay Preble 8; Green Bay West 5; and Green Bay East 2. West was competing in the meet for the first time.

Four conference records and two John F. Kennedy Field House marks fell by the wayside, and Manitowoc accounted for five of the better performances.

Appleton's best performances were turned in by Scott Schultz, who finished second in the mile run with a time of 4.40, and Cliff Tierney, who wound up third in the pole vault after clearing 12 feet.

Terrors garnering fourth places were Steve Kagen in the 60-yard dash, Dave Romanesko in the shot put (49-1¼), and Randy Thomas in the half-mile (2:09). Bob Simon leaped 20-3¾ in the long jump to grab fifth place, and John Vogt got the 15th Appleton point with a fifth in the high hurdles.

Coach Keith Kohlman's squad was shut out in four events — both relays, the low hurdles, and the high jump.

Cracks Record

The winners' Jerry Jorgenson brought the near-capacity crowd to its feet in the first running event of the night, when he raced to a 2:02 clocking in the 880-yard run. The effort chopped eight-tenths of a second off the old conference standard set by Dick Leslie of South in the 1965 meet, but was seven-tenths of a second below Jorgenson's own field house mark set earlier this year.

Manitowoc's two crack relay teams were expected to set new records and they did not disappoint. Tom Gass, Al Novak, George Wood and Jim Nickels combined for a time of 1:15.8 in the 4-lap relay, beating the old record of 1:17.2 set by Manty in 1962.

Then, in the final event of the night, Wergin Nickels, Bob Hackbarth and Brad Steckmesser clipped 3.8 seconds from the previous record by winning

Lawrence Trackmen Compete Saturday

Vike Inter-Squad Test Set

Twelve lettermen and two defending Midwest Conference champions have brightened the 1967 prospects for the Lawrence University track team.

Coach Gene Davis will get the first good look at his team under regular conditions Saturday when the annual intra-squad meet will be held at Whiting Field. The meet will be the first to be held on the school's new asphalt perma-track which was installed last fall.

The Vikings will open the regular season with a meet at Knox College April 15.

Heading the list of returning lettermen for Davis is Chuck McKee who won a pair of conference titles last spring. McKee won the long jump with a leap of 22 feet 11 inches and took the low hurdles in a time of :24 8. In addition, McKee placed second in the high hurdles and third in the high jump. He is expected to compete in all of these events again this season and also may enter some of the dashes on occasion.

Both Will Compete

The other returning conference champion is captain Chuck Porter, who won the 440 title and will again be running the middle distances for Lawrence this season.

Two other Lawrence lettermen placed in the conference meet as Kurt Euller was fifth in the pole vault and Ken Gatzke was fifth in the discus. Both will again be entered in those events this spring.

Also boosting the Viking hopes this spring is Dick Schultz, a basketball star who did not compete in track last season because of an injury. When he was a member of the track team in 1965, Schultz won the conference long jump title, was second in the 100-yard dash and placed fourth in the 220.

Other Lawrence lettermen include John Biolo, shot put and discus; Wayne Draeger, middle distances; Pete House, field events; John Howe, distances; Gene Paulus, sprints; Dick Piehl, hurdles and Dick Stujenske, distances.

Prize List Augmented by TV Set, Wrist Watches, 'Weekend for 2;' Sponsors' Nights Prove Popular

A surge of entries in the last three days has boosted early reservations for the fifth annual Post-Crescent Bowl-O-Rama past the 1,000 mark insuring a cash jackpot of better than $2,000 that will be divided between bowlers.

The 4-game classic will start Tuesday night at the 41 Bowl with shifts at 7 and 9 p.m. Bowling will continue on weekdays for five weeks with the tournament ending May 12.

Along with the surge of entries, there also has been a swelling of the merchandise prize list for contestants to take a shot at.

Perfect Game

The kegler who rolls the first perfect 300 game scratch in the tournament will be awarded a 1967 Rambler American through the courtesy of the Sam Malofsky Motor Co., of Appleton.

To the bowler cleaning up the first 7-10 split in the Bowl-O-Rama will go a new RCA Victor color television set, through the courtesy of McKinley Sales, Inc. of Appleton.

Handsome wrist watches will be awarded by the Martin J. Hupka Jewelers to the top triplicate rolled in the tournament for both the men's and women's divisions. The first three of the four games will be figured toward the triplicate award.

Season Pass

The Appleton Foxes Baseball Club has announced that it will present a season pass for all home games of the Foxes for any bowler who earns an ABC or WIBC Century Award during the Bowl-O-Rama. A Century Award is given when a kegler hits 100 or more pins over his or her regular league average.

In addition to this list of awards, there will be a special Bowl-O-Rama "Mystery Prize" of a weekend for two with all expenses paid at the beautiful Chanticleer Inn, the year-around resort and motel of the northwoods at Eagle River.

The luxury weekend is designated as a "mystery" award because the method by which it will be won will not be revealed until after the tournament so that all bowlers will have an equal chance at it.

The weekend will feature meals and accommodations at the beautiful Chanticleer Inn as well as golfing at the nearby country club along with boating and fishing in the chain of lakes that winds through the area.

Merchandise Awards

Besides these prizes, there will be merchandise awards presented after each Bowl-O-Rama shift. The high scratch game by both men and women will earn special awards which AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer went tromping through a muddy ditch. Jack Nicklaus foundered through woods and water. Billy Casper was bothered by the gusty, fickle winds.

But it was all clover for young Bert Yancey.

"It's a friendly course," the one-time West Point cadet said Thursday after forging a five-under-par 67 and taking a three-stroke lead in the first round of the 31st Masters Golf Tourney.

"It's a lovely course," Yancey continued after playing his first competitive round over the lush, flowery Augusta National course. A week ago he hadn't even seen the 6,980-yard, par 72 layout.

Palmer Fires 73

"Terrible," said Palmer, the only four-time champ and co-favorite with Nicklaus in the pre-tourney picking, who shot a 73.

"Not good," said Nicklaus, who has won the last two Masters' titles and had a first-round 72.

"Difficult," said Casper, the reigning U.S. Open champion who recovered for a solid 70.

"I love it," said Yancey.

But they agreed on one thing — 28-year-old Bert had played himself quite a round.

"I thought I'd do well," said Yancey, whose gallery on the first few holes consisted almost entirely of his mother, his father and his wife.

Black Hawks Trounce Toronto for 1-0 Edge

Chicago and Montreal, as expected, hold 1-0 leads today following their opening games in best-of-7 Stanley Cup semifinal playoffs Thursday.

But it was a lot easier for the Black Hawks than the Canadiens.

Chicago, the National Hockey League's regular season champions, walloped Toronto 5-2 while Montreal staged a furious last-period rally and topped New York 6-4.

The Canadiens, defending Cup champions, host New York in the second game of their series Saturday afternoon before a national television audience. Chicago and Toronto resume their series Sunday.

Denis DeJordy kicked out 42 Toronto shots and the Black Hawks got goals from Stan Mikita, the NHL scoring champ, sore-legged Bobby Hull, Pierre Pilote, Ken Wharram and Lou Angotti.

Hull, who scored 52 goals during the regular season but missed the final three games with strained ligaments in his left knee, complained after the game that he felt "like a man of 80."

Frank Mahovlich and Jim Pappin hit for Toronto.

The Rangers held a 4-1 lead midway through the third period on a pair of goals by Rod Gilbert and one each by Boom Boom Geoffrion and Vic Hadfield.

But the Canadiens roared back. Claude Provost jammed a goal under Ed Giacomin from close in and less than a half-minute later, J. C. Tremblay made it 4-3. Then John Ferguson's shot bounced off two Rangers and past Giacomin, tying the score.

Ralph Backstrom's second goal of the night put Montreal on top and Jean Beliveau wrapped it up with less than two minutes remaining.

"They just kept coming," said Emile Francis. "It's funny how a game can change so fast. We had control of it until the Canadiens got rolling They were like a brush fire then."

Pat Lutz, Pat Jack Sock National Sets

Total by Women Climbs to 29 For Season; Lois Bayer Has 582

Two more national honors counts by women Thursday night have boosted the total for the year to 29 in the Fox Cities area in what has to go down in the record books as a sensational year for keglers of the fair sex.

Pat Lutz powered a 618 series in the Hahn's Women's League last night and Pat Jack uncorked a 602 national count in the Hortonville Women's League at the Hortonville Lanes.

Mrs. Lutz, who fired four national honor counts last season, came through with her first of this campaign as she rattled games of 226 and 213.

Lois Bayer Hits 582

Runnerup honors in the Hahn's loop went to Lois Bayer who had games of 203 and 191 on her way to a booming 582 series.

Mrs. Jack pounded three consistent counts for her national series. She had games of 197, 201 and 204 as she recorded the first national set of the season for women at the Hortonville establishment.

In boosting the season total to 29 national counts, it was also noted that there have been three in the last two days and eight in the past week.

Pat LaValle socked games of 226 and 191 for a 567 series to lead the Bent Sabre League at Sabre Lanes last night. Other high scores included Shirley Palesh 192, Marion Holschuh 196-537, Sue Schroeder 180-545 and Pat Glasheen 500.

Rolls 540 Series

In the Women's National League at the 41 Bowl Thursday night, Shirley Gauerke fired a 219 game and Mary Grishaber had a 540 series. Shirley finished with a 508 set and Mary had a 191 line.

Hahn's Navy League Thursday night saw Carole Ristau lead with high game of 210 and Marge Lane had a 527 series. Carole closed with a 520 series and Marge had games of 197 and 192.

In Wednesday night action in the Sabre Jets League at Sabre Lanes, Ann Woyak had a 191 game and 525 series while Cleone Rohloff had a 528.

Val Sievert had a 199 game and Violet Werth rolled a 504 series to share honors in the AAL Women's League at Sabre Lanes last night.

In Tuesday night action at Ludwig's Lanes, Freedom, Del Evers powered a 204 game and 555 series. Bede Ludwig followed with a 193 singleton.

Ghosts Gain 'State' Berth

Win Sectional Volleyball Title In Montello

MONTELLO — The Kaukauna High School volleyball team fought its way into a berth in the State volleyball tournament by trouncing Alma Center Lincoln and Montello two games each in sectional play here Thursday night.

The Ghosts, coached by Dave Hash, beat the Alma Center team, 15-2 and 15-10 and Montello 15-11 and 15-2. Kaukauna wound up 4-0, Alma Center 2-2, and Montello 0-4 in the round-robin tournament.

Kaukauna, which earned a place in the 1963 state tournament, will face one of three teams yet to be named in the opening round of the state meet April 15 in Antigo.

will be made available through the courtesy of the 41 Bowl and The Post-Crescent.

With over 1,000 entries already registered and bowling limited to week nights only because of the state men's tournament, shifts are rapidly filling for the tournament

The special "sponsors' night" feature of the Bowl-O-Rama also has proved popular in its first year. Anyone bringing in a squad of 30 or more bowlers will qualify for a special sponsor's tournament which will be held on the Monday after the tournament closes, May 15. The sponsor also will be able to compete as a regular contestant in the Bowl-O-Rama and then be eligible for special awards at the "sponsors' night" tourney. Information about reservations for squads can be obtained by calling Bowl-O-Rama headquarters at the 41 Bowl.

Entry blanks for the Bowl-O-Rama can be obtained at area bowling establishments and also will appear periodically in The Post-Crescent.

Vikes' Roberts Optimistic About Netters

Strong Group of Sophs Challenge Lettermen for Jobs

When it comes to optimism, the "cup runneth over" for Coach Ron Roberts, of the Lawrence University tennis team, as the squad prepares for the season.

The Vikings will hold a freshman-varsity meet Saturday, then complete several challenge matches before a starting lineup will be selected for the first outside competition.

Lawrence opens the regular season with a match at Cornell College April 14.

Coach Roberts is "high" on his 1967 team. It is the same unit which went through last season and placed third in the Midwest Conference meet. No one was lost through graduation and along with six returning lettermen, Roberts has a sparkling crop of sophomores who have been steady challenges for the veterans in drills this spring.

"At the present time," Roberts noted, "only No. 1 man Pat Kenney has nailed down his position."

Kenney of Menasha, went through the 1966 campaign undefeated until he lost out in the conference finals. A junior, Kenney heads the list of returnees. Other lettermen include seniors Bob Bletzinger, John Beldo, Doug Opel and Bob Krohn The other monogram winner is junior Dave Klitzke.

Sophomores who are making strong bids for starting spots include Dave Frasch, Dave Holzworth, Paul Croake and Rick Ramsey Other sophomores who are trying for spots on the team include Dennis Waters, Frank Falter, Mark Swanson, Reid Ewing and Dave Wolfinsohn.

22 Appleton Pin Teams in State Tourney

The host city of Appleton will be represented by 22 teams in competition this weekend in the Men's State Bowling Tournament.

A total of 37 state cities will be represented by squads in competition which features the team event at Hahn's Lanes and the doubles and singles at the 41 Bowl.

Heading the list of cities is Eau Claire with 24 teams coming in, followed by Appleton and then Osceola with 12. Fond du Lac, which has 102 teams entered in the tournament will be sending six this weekend In addition there will be 15 from Madison.

Towne Beer Depot, Milwaukee, with a scratch average of 928 will be one of the top squads rolling on the 11:15 a.m. shift Sunday. Norm Luecke, with a 190 average, is top man on the team.

War Casualties Convalesce By Spending Day at Pimlico

BALTIMORE (AP) — For the young men in the boxes near the Pimlico finish line, even a losing bet is easy to overlook.

Dropping a deuce or a sawbuck on the races is nothing compared with fighting the enemy in Vietnam — where the price of defeat comes high.

About every week or so, a group of patients from the Walter Reed Medical Center in Washington, D.C., visits Pimlico for a day at the races.

Tremendous Response

We bring about 35 men," said Sgt. 1. C. Noel Stoffel, the public relations officer who accompanies the men and is headed for Vietnam himself later this month.

When we plan a trip to Pimlico as guests of the track," Stoffel said, we post notices in the convalescent areas of the hospital so the men can find out about it. We've had a tremendous response, and we have to have a cutoff point because the list fills up quickly."

The servicemen, many of them attending races for the first time, are enthusiastic spectators. They get as excited over a winning ticket on a 2-1 favorite as a veteran railbird with a $50 bet on a longshot.

Stoffel said another group is being organized to attend the opening baseball game of the Baltimore Orioles next Tuesday.

Chicago Bears Deny Signing No. 1 Choice

Phillips Quoted as Saying He Didn't Want to be Drafted

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears of the National Football League have denied that they have signed their No. 1 draft choice — two-time All America tackle Loyd Phillips of the University of Arkansas.

Phillips was quoted as saying Thursday in Fayetteville, Ark., that he had signed a three-year, no-cut contract with the Bears for more than $100,000

In Chicago Bear president George Halas Jr said the so-called signing was news to him. Halas added that an advisor to Phillips, Arkansas law professor E. J. Ball confirmed in a telephone call that Phillips has not signed any contract. Phillips had maintained the contract was signed last Wednesday

Halas said that Ball also denied that Phillips made other statements attributed to him Ball represents Arkansas players in professional negotiations.

Phillips was quoted as saying he did not want to sign his contract in Chicago as the Bears wanted. Phillips, according to the story out of Fayetteville, said· "I went there once and I didn't like it. I'd give anything if they hadn't drafted me."

Halas said the Bear office has received no signed contract from Phillips.

Bag Limit Plans Conflict

Wildlife Service Tells State to Establish Goose Quota for 1967

MADISON (AP) — The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, embroiled with the state over goose issues last year, has told Wisconsin it will establish a 1967 goose hunting quota if the state doesn't.

However, Alan T. Studholme of Washington, assistant service director, said Thursday the government would prefer Wisconsin establish its own acceptable hunting limits.

Studholme met with state conservation officials and with property owners from the area of Horicon National Wildlife Refuge, the scene last year of a showdown between state and federal game officials over how many Canada geese hunters should be allowed to take in Wisconsin.

Officials asked Studholme for a quota similar to that of Illinois, where the kill limit is often higher than in Wisconsin.

"The Illinois system is acceptable in Illinois," he replied. It would not serve in Wisconsin where goose migration creates different conditions, he said.

Studholme's suggestion was for limiting each hunter to one goose tag for the season. The number issued in the Horicon Marsh area would be even more restrictive with marsh property owners getting no special consideration.

The state's proposals were more liberal. Wisconsin suggested two tags per hunter outside the Horicon area. Hunters getting a single tag for the Horicon area could not use it elsewhere.

Jack Anton of Plymouth, an organizer of the Horicon Goose Alliance, said he does not believe federal tagging to be the only alternative to the state's proposals.

Anton said the problem will be discussed at county sportsmen's meetings starting Monday, and at a hearing April 17 at Horicon.

Augusta National Officials To Get Tests as Announcers

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System said Thursday it plans to use Augusta National officials to help with announcing chores when the Masters golf tournament is televised on Saturday and Sunday if a strike against the networks continues.

Last year's announcers, former pro golfers Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Byron Nelson, and Jack Whitaker, John Derr, Jack Drees and Harry Longhurst, are not working because of the strike against the networks by the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists.

Pro golfers will not announce, a CBS spokesman said, because they might jeopardize future announcing assignments.

"We are testing Augusta National members now to see how they can handle the announcing jobs," a CBS spokesman said. Clifford Roberts, chairman of the Masters, and Augusta National member Bill Kerr, will help CBS supervisory personnel during the telecasts.

The CBS spokesman said there was nothing to a report that golfers who played in the tournament when it was being televised would be barred for life from AFTRA.

Holtzman Hurls 7 Strong Innings

Cubs Down White Sox, 8-4

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs parlayed a 5-run fourth into an 8-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox here Thursday night in the first pre-season game between the two clubs since 1961

Ten Cubs batted in the big inning as winning lefty Ken Holtzman aided his own cause with a 2-run single after catcher Dick Bertell singled across the first run and before Glenn Beckert tripled for two more

Veteran Johnny Buzhardt was kayoed during the spree as Dennis Higgins came out of the bullpen to retire Ron Santo for the third out with just one pitch

Yields 4 Hits

In nailing down his expected opening day pitching assignment against Philadelphia in Chicago next Tuesday, Holtzman pitched seven innings on a yield of four hits. The lone Sox score off the 21-year old southpaw was the result of Ken Berry's triple and catcher Duane Josephson's sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Lee Thomas, the Cubs starter in right field, fell and knocked the wind out of himself chasing Ron Hansen's triple in the same inning before Holtzman pitched himself out of further trouble.

The game was played before a capacity crowd of 9,269—the largest the two teams have played before this spring

'Vultures' Keep Eyes Glued To Traumatic Hole No. 12

AUGUSTA, Ga (AP) — They are golf's vultures

They plant themselves at the 12th hole at Augusta National, munch sandwiches and chortle with sadistic glee as disaster tumbles on the shoulders of the Masters stars.

It is the shortest hole on the course — 155 yards — and the most dramatic. It's the hole where everything happens — usually bad

And the fans love it

"I wouldn't miss it for the world," said Helen Weeks, a housewife from Sumter, S C She lets her husband wander over the course but she stays fixed on the hillside overlooking awesome No 12

"I just love to watch them go into the water," she added

Real Challenge

The hole is called the Golden Bell It is a par three with a tight, hour-glass green. It is covered by water in front There's a steep bank back of the green A trap is at the front right and two are carved into the bank at the back

In a low hollow, the green is whipped by gusty, tricky winds, making accuracy almost impossible

Instead of apple blossoms and magnolia blooming in the back, it should be shrouded with funeral wreaths

It is the Hole of Despair.

Former Masters champion Claude Harmon plunked his tee shot into the drink.

"That's No 4," said George Smith of Cairo, Ga., keeping score on a big tab There would be a dozen more marks on George's slate before the day was done, and George would be happy

"Oh, look," exclaimed Mrs Sam McFarland of Turbeville, S C "Art Wall has lost his ball"

Wall, approaching the green two-under-par, had put his tee shot into the heavy thicket back of the green

"Shucks," mumbled a neighbor "They found it"

A rumble of disappointment swept the crowd gathered on the small hill, forming a natural amphitheater

Gay Brewer, two under through 11 holes, contributed to the day's joy by four-putting from the edge. Tom Bolt hit one into the mud, got on the edge of the green and then putted into a trap He wound up with a six.

The sadists couldn't hide their delight.

This is the most popular area on the famous course. Two stands are usually almost fully occupied The hillside is covered with picnic-style spectators

They don't want to miss a shot. They bring their lunches and stay there from morning until night

It's the climactic hole of the Masters — which brings either triumph or disaster

Mets Send Lewis to Minor League Base

on 8, 12, 16 and 18 and gained a share of second place with surprising Downing Gray, an amateur from Pensacola, Fla.

Tough old Julius Boros and Tony Jacklin, a 22-year-old English pro, were locked at 71 while Nicklaus and 10 others — including San Francisco amateur John Miller and veteran Sam Snead — were tied with 72s.

Yancey, a Tallahassee, Fla., native, had six birdies, one bogey, hit all 18 greens and 17 fairways in his excellent round

Yancey came into his own on the pro tour last season, winning three tournaments and $42,938 after a series of earlier misfortunes and disappointments.

Released from Hospital

He entered West Point in 1957 and was captain of the golf team in 1960. Shortly after, in his senior year, he suffered a nervous breakdown and was discharged from the service after he was released from the hospital.

The husky, boyish-looking Yancey turned pro in 1961 and joined the tour the next year. He played in 11 tournaments, didn't win a cent and dropped out.

He rejoined the tour in 1964, but hadn't finished higher than 27th before winning the Azalea Open last year He later added triumphs in the Memphis and Portland opens.

Palmer and Nicklaus were very critical of the course — but didn't offer it as an excuse Palmer said the grass on the fairways was very deep "giving us a lot of grassy lies." Nicklaus made the same observation "You can't put any spin on the ball," Jack said.

Both also complained of the wind, tricky, shifting and gusty

Casper had even more trouble He bogeyed the first hole when, on the backswing for his second shot, a spectator's hat blew to within a yard of the ball, he jumped and flubbed the shot.

Nicklaus hooked into the woods on his first drive and was in a lake on 13, and Palmer found a ditch on the same hole.

Second in History

But it wasn't all woes. Australian Bruce Devlin got only the second double eagle in the tournament's history, on the 530-yard eighth. After a big drive, he sent a four-wood to the front of the green, it bounced once and was in the cup.

The only other double eagle in the Masters came in 1935, when Gene Sarazen, the eventual winner, holed out with a 220-yard shot on the 15th.

Sarazen had a double bogey seven on that hole Thursday, then declined to turn in a card. So did Claude Harmon. Dick Mayer shot a 79 but was disqualified for failing to sign his card.

That cut the field to 80 for today's second round It will be trimmed to the low 44 and all players within 10 shots of the leader for the last two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

BRL Sign-Up Set to Start In Appleton

Appleton Babe Ruth League registration will begin Saturday afternoon.

Boys between 13 and 15 years of age may register from 1 to 3 p.m. at one of two sites — Fire Station No. 2 (S. Lawe Street) or the Northern State Bank.

Registration will be concluded Saturday, April, 15, during the same hours.

Two new teams have been added, and a second field likely will be used during the 1967 season, according to League President Stu Locklin. Four teams will play at the Hoover park diamond, while four other clubs are slated to play on the new diamond, at Einstein school.

removed later or do they remain for the rest of your life? My husband says they have to be removed; I say they should stay always. — Mrs. J.K.

For technical reasons in some cases the pins have to be removed, but in most cases the pins are left in permanently.

Dear Dr. Molner: What does it mean for a baby to be born with a veil on its face? A neighbor says she was, and claims that such a person will be clairvoyant. I have yet to find any truth in her so-called power of foresight. — Mrs. F.H.

Before birth, a baby develops inside the fluid-filled amniotic sac. The sac breaks prior to actual birth. Sometimes a bit of this sac may adhere to the baby's head.

Generations ago a superstition grew up that such a veil (a scrap of tissue, deposited by chance!) conferred ability to foretell the future.

Now we understand what these "veils" really are — but superstition dies reluctantly.

Note to Mrs. M.M.: You have such a sane viewpoint toward your beer-drinking problem that I think you can conquer it. You recognize that once you start, you don't stop. Many folks encounter the same stumbling block that you do — what to do when people say, "Oh, come on and have a beer." One effective answer is to say, "Sure — except if you don't mind I'll have coffee." (Or tea, or low-calorie soft drinks, since you have a weight problem to consider, too.)

Don't take chances with "kidney trouble." It may be only minor, but it can be dangerous. Read Dr. Molner's booklet "Your Kidneys — Facts You Need To Know About Them." Write to Dr. Molner in care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Parisians Deride Humphrey With Shouts of 'Murderer'

Demonstrators, Police Battle at Arch of Triumph

PARIS. (AP) — Fighting broke out between police and anti-Vietnam demonstrators today as U.S. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey went from talks with President Charles de Gaulle to the Arch of Triumph to lay a wreath on the tomb of France's unknown soldier.

A crowd massed around the arch when Humphrey arrived from Elysee Palace and sent up shouts of "U S. murderers" and "Peace in Vietnam." Some displayed placards with the same slogans.

Strong police reinforcements moved in and fighting broke out, but there appeared to be no serious injuries. Police hustled the demonstrators, including a number of students, into several police buses and took them away.

The fighting occurred where the avenue Des Champs Elysee joins the Place de l'Etoile, a huge traffic circle. The broad traffic circle separated the Champs Elysee from the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, where Humphrey laid a wreath.

Humphrey came from West Berlin, where noisy young demonstrators threw flour, a firecracker and beer glasses and waved a North Vietnamese flag outside two receptions Thursday night for the vice president. He was not hit and appeared unruffled.

As Humphrey arrived at Orly Airport today, about 200 demonstrators set up shouts for "peace in Vietnam" as they stood on the roof of the airport administration buisding several hundred yards from the honor salon where Humphrey stepped from his plane.

Car Splattered

Some of the demonstrators hurled eggs at a car full of newsmen but missed. One of the cars in Humphrey's motorcade was splattered with white paint as it drove into the city.

Humphrey paused briefly at his hotel on the Place de La Concorde, then drove four blocks to the Elysee Palace for the meeting and luncheon with De Gaulle.

The French Communist Party newspaper, Humanite, published a detailed program showing where Humphrey would be all day and urged followers to show him that "French public opinion condemns American aggression in Vietnam." It called him "the traveling salesman of American aggression."

Although the French government position on the Vietnamese war is not far from the Communist stand, French officials assured newsmen they were doing everything possible to make Humphrey welcome in Paris Working with American security officials, they arranged careful protection measures.

Talks Unproductive

But French sources said they could see little prospect of any new development or initiatives resulting from the vice president's talks with President Charles de Gaulle and other French officials.

"We both already know each other's positions very well on the main subjects," said one source, referring particularly to De Gaulle's opposition to the American presence in Vietnam.

Other likely subjects for discussion were East-West relations, the proposed treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons, British entry into the Common Market, the Kennedy round of tariff negotiations, and the poor relations between France and the United States.

Winding up his two-week fence-mending tour of Europe as a substitute for President Johnson, the vice president goes Saturday to Brussels. An aide said he would spend an extra day there, flying to Washington Monday, but did not explain why

Johnson Backer Wins Election In Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Democratic State Sen. Robert O. Tiernan of Warwick, a supporter of President Johnson's policy in Vietnam, is officially the winner of the special Rhode Island congressional election.

The State Board of Elections certified Tiernan the winner Thursday over his Republican opponent, Cranston Mayor James DiPrete Jr. after a recount of machine votes.

DiPrete, the pre-election favorite, advocated a suspension in bombing North Vietnam in the hope it might lead to peace talks

Tiernan's plurality was 313 votes out of the nearly 114,000 cast March 28 to choose a successor to the late Democratic Rep. John E. Fogarty.

About 3,000 votes went to an independent candidate, the Rev. Albert Q. Perry of Providence, who ran as a pacifist.

Tiernan is scheduled to take his seat in the U.S. House next Thursday.

How to Get Down?

U Thant Will Get UW Degree

Nathan M. Pusey, Carl Steiger Also To Receive Honors

Post-Crescent News Service

MILWAUKEE — U Thant, secretary general of the United Nations, will speak at the University of Wisconsin commencement exercises in Madison in June as he is awarded an honorary doctor of laws degree, President Fred Harvey Harrington announced today.

Thant will be among six guests receiving such degrees. Among them will be Carl E. Steiger, Oshkosh, former regent president and member of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education, and Nathan M. Pusey, president of Harvard University and former president of Lawrence College.

Also honored will be Robert J. Klaberg Jr., president of the King Ranch in Texas, Joshua Lederberg of Stanford University, a Nobel Prize-winning former member of the UW faculty; and Louis B Slichter, a geophysicist at the University of California at Los Angeles and member of a family associated with UW for 80 years.

Break Tradition

The speech by Thant will mark a break from tradition in commencement exercises at the university and comes, Harrington said, at the request of students. Traditionally, statements are made during the exercises by the governor and university and student representatives, but there is no formal commencement address.

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee will also confer an honorary doctor of science degree on Donald F Hornig, special assistant to President Johnson for science and technology.

Receiving doctor of science awards will be Klaberg, Lederberg, and Slichter.

Pusey will be made a doctor of letters and Steiger will join Thant in receiving the doctor of laws degree.

450,000 Workers Involved

Some Progress Noted In Trucker Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal mediators pressed for nearly round-the-clock talks today between the Teamsters Union and the trucking industry in an effort to reach a national contract agreement.

Sources reported some progress in the all-night negotiations that ended at 4:30 a.m. today. More talks were scheduled for 1 p.m.

Trucking Employers Inc., reported it had raised its offer of a three-year wage increase to 44 cents an hour from its previous 37-cent offer. But the union reportedly had not significantly dropped from its last reported demand of 56 cents an hour.

Numerous fringe benefits, working conditions and new trucking equipment demanded by the union also are involved in the negotiations.

12,000 Firms

The Teamsters national contract covering 450,000 workers in 12,000 firms represented by trucking employers expired at midnight last Friday. The union has been free to strike since then.

But trucking industry officials have threatened to counter with a lockout at 1,500 of the nation's biggest companies if the Teamsters strike even a few of the firms.

Chief federal mediator William E. Simkin told both sides it is vital to the nation's interest for them to continue talks and trucking operations until a contract agreement is reached.

Constant Talks

At Simkin's insistence, the negotiators remained at the bargaining table from 10 a m. Thursday until recessing early today, breaking only for meals

Government officials continued efforts to head off a threatened strike by six shopcraft unions next Wednesday against 138 railroads. Among those meeting with both sides Thursday was Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The unions reportedly want a 7 per cent pay increase plus additional increases for higher skilled men among the 135,000 workers involved The railroads are offering a 5 per cent hike recommended by a presidential advisory board

"It doesn't look good," reported one source.

Plane Missing On Thai Border

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A twin-engine Continental Air Service plane with five Americans and two Laotians aboard is missing on a flight from Luang Prabang to Ban Houei Sai on the Thai border, the U.S. Embassy said today.

The Americans, whose names were withheld, included three U.S. government employes and the pilot and copilot.

A search was under way for the missing plane, which was due in Ban Houei Sai Thursday morning.

A DC3 transport operated by Continental Air Service crashed March 29 on takeoff from Vientiane, killing three Thai crewmen. Continental Air Service is a U.S. line chartered by the U.S aid mission in Laos. It is a subsidiary of Continental Airlines.

River Cities Gird for Mississippi Flood

1965 Disaster Gives Communities Confidence They Can Stop Water

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mississippi River communities in southwestern Wisconsin continued to prepare today for the second worst flood in their history, but with an air of confidence born of the sad experience of the 1965 inundation.

"We're as ready as we'll ever be," said Mayor Warren Loveland of La Crosse. Mayor Edward Farrell of Prairie du Chien said his city too is entering the fight in full preparedness.

The Mississippi's level was holding steady upstream at Alma, and was showing signs of beginning to drop after causing evacuation of some families near Winona, Minn.

Evacuations in the Alma area were at a minimum. Buffalo County authorities said Cochrane was a dry community thanks to a dike. In 1965, lacking the dike, water was four feet deep in Cochrane.

Dikes, plus sandbags by the thousands, similarly were promising good flood defense in La Crosse, Prairie du Chien, Cassville and other river communities below Winona.

But the Weather Bureau warned that the Mississippi will reach levels above those of 1952, which had record depths prior to the 1965 flooding.

La Crosse, with a 12-foot flood stage, can expect a crest of 15.5 feet Saturday night compared with 17.9 in 1965 and 15.9 in 1952.

Prairie du Chien is to have a crest of 22.5 feet Monday, 4.5 feet above flood stage. The city had levels of 25 4 feet in 1965 and 21 feet in 1952.

A Weather Bureau spokesman said a 20-foot water level at Prairie du Chien "would cover a quarter of the town."

"But I think those people learned a lot in the 1965 flood," he added.

Cassville is to have a flood crest about five feet over flood stage.

The Job Corpsos, meanwhile told the state it has 1,000 teenage volunteers ready for flood duty if needed.

The Small Business Administration was already reminding river residents of access to financial assistance.

1966 Slaying Termed Lure To Kill King

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — A sheriff has testified he was told that the 1966 slaying of Ben Chester White was an attempt to lure Dr. Martin Luther King to his death.

Circuit Judge James A. Torrey was considering whether the testimony could be presented to the jury as evidence.

Sheriff Odell Anders of Adams County read in court Thursday statements he said were given to him by James L. Jones, 57, a white man being tried on a charge of killing White, 65, a Negro, and dumping his body in a creek.

The statements quoted Claude Fuller, 47, as saying White's murder was a ruse to get King to Natchez so he could be assassinated Nuller and Ernest Avants, 36, also have been charged in White's death and are to be tried later.

White had not been active in civil rights work and the sheriff's testimony was the first hint of a motive.

Anders testified while the jury was out of the courtroom because of defense objections to the statements

When White's body was found June 12, 1966, King was in Batesville, taking part in the James H. Meredith march through Mississippi. He did not go to Natchez.

Knotholer Not Ready for Jury

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — John Baker says he will not obey an order to report for jury duty at the Hamilton County Court House — it might interfere with a knothole baseball game

Mr and Mrs. Arthur Baker said they received notice Thursday that their nine-year-old son had been chosen for jury duty. "Somebody must have got things fouled up," they said

"I think I'll call them and tell them to wait a few years," said John, a third grader at Central Fairmount School.

Social Security Benefits Hike Unlikely by Suggested July 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances are fading fast that an increase in Social Security benefits will be in effect by July 1, the date suggested by President Johnson.

"Sept 1 is a good date to think about," said one source deeply involved in the legislative handling of the bill.

Congress is considered certain eventually to pass some legislation aligning payments more closely with today's cost of living But benefit increases probably will not be initially as generous as the 20 per cent average increase Johnson proposed, nor will the payroll tax increase be as steep as such a boost would require

House Republicans are backing a limited increase now with provision for further rises later Some key Democrats have expressed concern with the added tax burden on payrolls that the Johnson proposals involve.

Too Complex

The measure has been held back by a number of handicaps, including its own complexity.

It is really a half-dozen bills in one, dealing also with administrative adjustments of the medicare program, limits on federally assisted state health care undertakings, a pilot dental program for children and aids for the training of social workers.

The bill has run into a jammed schedule of the House Ways and Means Committee, which has been in almost daily session for two months.

The Social Security bill also is to some extent entangled with the proposal for an income tax surcharge, now also a candidate for delay or even possibly withdrawal.

Timing of Measures

The administration is concerned that the timing of the two measures — one taking money out of the private sector of the economy, the other pumping it in — avoid any violent disruptions.

The Ways and Means Committee will not begin until late next week its private review of the legislation.

The panel estimates that job will take at least six weeks and will be interrupted by the necessity to consider the second bill this year to increase the national debt limit.

The outlook is for House action sometime in June Then the whole process begins again in the Senate. Normally that body goes considerably beyond House-approved increases in Social Security, requiring conferences to design a compromise bill and another round of action in both houses.

Seek Expansion of Campus Planning

State Building Commission to Air CCHE Proposal Monday

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—The state Building Commission will be asked Monday to expand planning authority for the new branch campuses of the University of Wisconsin being developed in Brown and Kenosha counties.

The plan, which envisions full four-year operations in 1970, a year after opening, has been developed by the state Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHE).

Cost of the measure has been estimated at between $25 million and $35 million, far above the $12.8 milion now approved for the two projects and above the $24.8 million cost of the plans presented by the UW to the commission.

Supporting Figures

The plan will be supported by figures prepared on the exact cost of the project and the per student cost and space allowed under the CCHE plan. It will first be presented to the university affairs subcommittee of the commission Monday morning.

The unit prepared the plans Thursday after the exact cost requirements were called for by Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, head of the subcommittee.

Following the full commission meeting, the subcommittee will meet to consider allocation of an additional $155,000 in planning funds for the advancement of the lesser $12 8 million plan currently authorized and being followed.

If the amendment to that authorization is accepted by the full commission, it will not immediately alter the project work, but will expand the planning work being done this spring and throughout the summer.

The ultimate construction between the start and the end of the 1969-71 biennium will be far greater under the CCHE plan, however.

The moves were made informally by the subcommittee after hearing further reports from consultants and analysts of the state Bureau of Engineering on the exact costs of the schools contemplated under the $12.8 million plan.

Leonard started a building by building and use by use examination of the $12.8 million project, but ended when time ran out as Leonard and Assemblyman Robert Kordus, D-Milwaukee, had to return to sessions of their houses of the legislature.

He objected particularly to minor provisions of the $12 8 million plan which would allow the creation of seminar headquarters and a band storage room on the campus. All action was withheld on any possible changes in the planning until Monday.

If the Building Commission does approve a change in the planning concept, a request for the additional funds — which could range up to $22 million, will have to be made before the legislative Joint Committee on Finance next week, Leonard told the university and CCHE staff members attending the meeting

Correspondent Urges Military U. S. Victory

Discusses Vietnam For Teachers at Oshkosh Convention

OSHKOSH — In order to bring about a successful conclusion to the Vietnam dilemma, the United States "must win a military victory," John Morley, a veteran American news correspondent said this morning in addresses to about 7,000 teachers of the Northeastern Wisconsin Education Association here today.

Morley defended American involvement in the Vietnam conflict, and blamed the start of hostilities on a "coalition between Communists and belligerent Buddhists "

The origin of today's problems, he said, began shortly after the defeat of the French by Ho Chi Minh in 1954. He said America attempted to evacuate Christians from above the 17th parallel, but for the 25,000 to 30,000 who managed to escape from the north, the Buddhists and Communists slaughtered 10 times more

Cause Problems

"These are the people who caused the problem," Morley said.

He strongly urged the United States not to give in to demands at future conference tables for elections which would include both North and South Vietnam, because such elections could not be conducted democratically

Morley, who has recently been in southeast Asia, also spent several years in Russia.

He said indications today are that the young Russian people are becoming more Christian

"At the Baptist Church which I attended in Moscow," he said, "there were as many Russians attending service as there are in my Baptist church in California.

Control Russia

"In Russia the Army is preponderantly Christian, and the Army is the instrument through which Communism in Russia can be crushed. Whoever controls the Russian army will control Russia," he said.

Discussiong Russia's major area of concern today, Morley said the Russian people are "scared to death of the Chinese." He said there is real concern because of the rift which exists the length of the 6,400 mile Sino-Soviet border.

Morley traced a picture of hope for closer relations between Russia and the United States He said young people of the East and the West are the ones who will draw both sides together.

Science of Man

Teachers Told ESP Neglected in Research

OSHKOSH — "Scientific research is filled with areas dealing with the human being but the field of extra sensory preception (ESP), a distinctive science of man, has been neglected."

Speaking on research and new developments in ESP to approximately 7,000 teachers attending the Northeastern Wisconsin Education Association convention here, was Dr. J Gaither Pratt, researcher in Parapsychology and member of the psychiatry department, University of Virginia.

"Basically, in this field we investigate incidents which scientifically ought not happen, but do happen every day," Dr Pratt said

Isn't Chance

"We must remember that chance and lady luck are simply not explanations in many of these cases," he added.

Outlining some recent developments around the world, Dr Pratt briefly touched on telepathy, and clairvoyance, precognition and the concept of mind over matter.

He told of his investigation in the Soviet Union where a great deal of successful experimentation has been done in the field of telepathy. Here the use of silent hypnosis, where a subject is put to sleep by the thoughts of the hypnotist transmitted to the brains of the subject, is common.

In America, he said, dreams and precognition, when the mind penetrates areas of time to reach into the future, is under study.

Study Mind

Mind over matter, or the power of thought to influence objects such as the rolling of dice, are also being investigated.

Other matters, including poltergaists, are discussed by Dr. Pratt in his book "Parapsychology; An Insider's View of ESP," published last year.

"At the present time we are more concerned with questions rather than final diagnosis because this field is still in its infancy," the doctor stressed.

"We cannot say what long-range consequences will be, but we feel we are filling a gap in the field of knowledge," he added.

Commission Attacks Action

the machinery in action for dealing with the Goodland Field matter.

The committee indicated it did not intend to become involved in "a verbal war" with the commission.

"We are a steering committee to do something about helping an industry expand and build a new ball park or sports center," said Ald. John MacDonald (7th), committee chairman. "Let's shelve the resolution (the commission's) and go to work "

Mayor George Buckley said that the board of public works was the jurisdictional body for purchasing and disposing of city property, having that statutory authority.

Democrats Hit Plan for County Redistricting

the Outagamie County assembly districts. Urban districts would be made more urban, they said, and a rural district would be made more rural.

Republicans later modified their position on debate of the question, but after the amendment had once been adopted. Johnson defended his amendment after reconsideration of the vote was asked. The vote, following further arguments, was again 21-12 for adoption on a straight party line route.

"This amendment is designed to permit each of those assemblymen to respond to the needs of their districts," Johnson said.

Vote Totals

Schreiber recounted vote totals for the past nine years in the district, claiming that the Democrat totals would have been substantially altered by the proposed lines.

In 1966, he claimed, Rogers vote would have been decreased by 2,800 votes. Rogers said after the adoption that he won last fall's election by about 3,000 votes, and that the new lines would have caused him to win election by only a narrow margin of a few hundred votes.

Schreiber said that the 1958 to 1966 average Democratic vote in the district would have dropped 1,594 votes.

In the presidential elections of 1960 and 1964, he said, it would have decreased the margin by 1,542 votes

"You can use all the arguments that you want about urban and rural splits," he said "But it all comes down to a gerrymander

"I ask you not to mess around with the reapportionment on the books There is a census in 1970," he pleaded

Risser asked Johnson why the amendment had not been offered by Lorge

Strangely Silent

"We have here an extremely competent and able senator representing Outagamie County but for some reason he has been strangely silent on this amendment affecting his area Why should a freshman senator from about as far away as you can get introduce an amendment to this effect," he asked

Lorge said that President Johnson was not respected in Outagamie County "I am trying to bring some repute to the name of Johnson in the county," he joked

The bill itself is the only one which is permitted under a 1964 reapportionment of the state legislative seats ordered by the State Supreme Court Only one correctional bill is allowed following those changes, and majority leader Leonard entered as the first Senate bill of the session a measure which would alter district lines in his suburban Milwaukee area, and Democrats charge, make a changeable Assembly seat securely Republican Affected by the bill would be the City of Glendale.

District Changes

Removed from Rogers district would be the towns of Freedom, Kaukauna, Oneida, Osborn, Seymour, and Vandenbroek, the Village of Little Chute and the City of Seymour.

Added are the 7th, 9th to 11th and 13th wards of Appleton.

Remaining in the district are the town of Buchanan, the villages of Combined Locks and Kimberly, and the City of Kaukauna

Removed from the district represented by Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, are the wards of the City of Appleton added to Rogers' district, and the 16th district, which is transferred to the Outagamie County district represented by Ervin Conradt, R-Shiocton

In Conradt's district would be that Appleton ward and all other towns, villages and cities in Outagamie County.

If passed, the bill will be sent to the Assembly, where a strong fight over the Rogers' district provisions can be expected.

Officials Hear Ideas On Shoreland Zoning

that development must meet minimum standards."

It will be the responsibility of counties to zone their shorelands. Yanggen said the relationship between units of government regarding zoning will change when the new law goes into effect.

Previously, counties could draw zoning ordinances but towns weren't required to adopt them. The new law does not leave adoption of shoreland protection ordinances to the discretion of towns, Yanggen said.

Additionally, counties not having shoreland ordinances by Jan. 1, 1968 will be required to answer to the state. The state may draw the ordinances at county expense and administration of the regulations will be left to the counties.

In such cases, Yanggen said, the ordinances could be amended only if the counties first received state approval.

A question that has plagued officials for years, the determination of "navigable waters," was discussed briefly by the state planner. Since zoning will be required only along those bodies of water considered navigable, the final definition will have a considerable effect in many areas.

Define Navigable

"There is no list of navigable waters available," Yanggen sai Generally, 'navigable' is syn mous with 'floatable'," he said.

"As far as rivers and streams are concerned, it has been suggested that if either is shown as a solid line on a United States Geological survey quadrangle map, it should be considered navigable ... if it is a dotted line, it should be considered non-navigable," he said.

"The advantage of that is that it does not require a case-by-case approach to determine case approach to determin not," he added.

Other recommendations in the manual and the state's model code include the use of a "zoning administrator" for each county. Yanggen said the counties might need such an employe for administration of the complex statute.

He also said a permit system should be used for the new law.

Grants Available

The law provides that counties are eligible for an annual grant in aid of up to $1,000 to defray expenses of administering the new ordinances. However, only $40,000 has been appropriated for the first year Yanggen said. The state has 72 counties.

"It would be possible that the legislature might increase the annual appropriation," he said, if the counties showed a serious attempt to ease the state's pollution troubles. "That's only speculation on my part," Yanggen added.

Attending the meeting were county officials from Outagamie, Calumet, Winnebago, Fond du Lac, Waupaca, Manitowoc, Waushara, Shawano, Menominee, Kewaunee, Oconto, Sheboygan, Door and Brown.

Thieu Warns Of Attacks in Buffer Zone

Threatens Invasion of North; U. S. Pilots Hit Missile Sites

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's chief of state threatened today to bomb Hanoi or invade North Vietnam if the North Vietnamese don't stop attacking the South Vietnamese half of the demilitarized zone.

The threat by Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu came in the wake of a Communist attack on a South Vietnamese border post as well as the raid Thursday by perhaps 2,000 North Vietnamese troops on the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

In the air war against North Vietnam U.S. planes attacked Communist missile sites Thursday within the defense ring surrounding Hanoi and Haiphong, North Vietnam's major port. Two of the sites attacked were only five and seven miles from Haiphong.

Just south of Haiphong, two U.S. destroyers, the Waddell and the Duncan, were hit by Red shore batteries Thursday. But the Navy said there were no casualties and damage to the ships was light.

Geneva Violation

Thieu said Communist attacks in the South Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam are a deliberate violation of the 1954 Geneva agreement, and South Vietnam "reserves the right to retaliate in any form to protect itself."

Asked what form the retaliation might take, Thieu said Hanoi might be bombed or South Vietnamese troops could be sent into the North.

"And these actions must be considered as self-defense," he added.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky flew to Quang Tri today to survey the damage from the latest Red attacks south of the Ben Hai bridge, which marks the border between North and South Vietnam and is the dividing point between the northern and southern halves of the demilitarized zone.

Ky's government filed a protest with the International Con-

U.N. Mission Leaves Aden

British Blamed For Not Helping In Official Dealings

ADEN (AP) — The U.N mission to help the South Arabian Federation and Aden toward independence angrily broke off its visit today, charging the British with lack of cooperation.

The three-man mission's sudden departure resulted from its refusal to deal officially with the British-backed South Arabian federal government and the government's retaliatory refusal to let the head of the mission, Manuel Perez Guerrero of Venezuela, make a policy statement on television

Guerrero said his group would deal only with the British as the administering power

Jury Told of Viciousness Of Stabbings

State Presents Speck Evidence in Chronological Order

PEORIA, Ill., (AP) — A pathologist reported today that the body of one of eight nurses slain in their Chicago dormitory bore about 18 stab wounds ranging in length from a quarter inch to four inches.

Dr. Eugene Tapia, a native of Cuba who is assistant director of pathology at the Cook County (Chicago) morgue, testified at the trial of Richard Speck on charges of murdering the young women, one at a time, on July 14, 1966, in their townhouse living quarters.

Dr. Tapia gave testimony about the findings in the examinations of the bodies.

Detective Testifies

The state, presenting its evidence in a chronological pattern, had a Chicago detective describe how he found the bodies of the slain young women.

Detective Jack Wallenda's testimony came Thursday after the defense concluded an unexpectedly brief cross-examination of Corazon Amurao.

Miss Amurao, 24, the Philippine exchange nurse who survived the slaughter, identified Speck, 25, as the killer Wednesday.

Gerald Getty, Cook County public defender who is Speck's counsel, cross-examined Miss Amurao gently. He passed quickly over the details of the four hours during which the girl, hiding under a bed, watched her friends taken to their deaths.

He asked Miss Amurao if her first description of the intruder was, "a man, 25 years of age, 6 feet tall, short or crew cut hair, no hat, wearing a waist-length jacket, dark pants?"

The girl replied, "I did not say 'crew cut,' sir."

The police artist sketch showed a man with a crew cut. Getty alleges that Speck wore his blond hair long on July 14.

Assembly Approves Bill Ending Oleo Ban

Tax of 5¼ Cents Per Pound Placed On Margarine Sale

MADISON (AP) — A 72-year era of dairy domination neared an end Thursday night when the Assembly passed 67-30 an oleomargarine repealer bill with a new sales tax of 5¼ cents a pound.

A hard core of rural interests suggested most of the 42 amendments offered in a 10-hour debate, but was stymied in its efforts to do more than lengthen the marathon session before the measure was adopted and sent to the Senate.

The proposal to remove the nation's last ban on colored oleo includes using the sales tax to help fund a $5 million animal and dairy research center at the University of Wisconsin.

If the Assembly bill becomes law, purchasers of colored oleo in Wisconsin still would have to pay a tax of five and a quarter cents per pound.

Neighboring Illinois, where many Wisconsin residents have been buying colored oleo for years, has no tax on oleo as such but does impose a four per cent sales tax. On oleo costing

Baby Saved by Angler on Avon

HAMILTON, Scotland (AP) — Angler John Culshaw was fishing Thursday when his line hooked a drowning baby.

The child, 20-month-old Sam Rodgers, was floating face down in the River Avon. He had fallen in after toddling away from his riverside home.

Vulshaw, 16, said he reeled in "and panicked when I saw it was a baby."

At that moment the baby's father charged down the bank and scooped the baby up. Culshaw's hook was embedded in the child's jacket.

Doctors at Hamilton Hospital said the baby's condition was serious but said he had a fair chance of surviving.

Vietnam Hero Disarms Gunman

2 Police Die as Bystanders Stand by

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla (AP) — A man who killed two policemen could have been stopped without bloodshed, Police Chief William Barnes says.

"If just one person had stepped in, my men would be alive today," Barnes said. He said a group of women witnesses told him several men stood by Thursday while a berserk man disarmed Sgt. William H. Fletcher and killed him with his service revolver.

"They just stood there." Barnes said. "And if my man had used his pistol to subdue the suspect he would have been charged by the press with police brutality."

Charged With Murder

Fletcher, 52, and motorcycle patrolman David Van Curler, 31, a father of five, were slain with their own service revolvers as they answered a complaint at a federal savings and loan association.

John C. Cooley, 32, an unemployed Negro, was charged with first degree murder. He was captured in front of the Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan Association as he stood over the dead policemen, a gun in his hand.

Cooley was subdued by Thomas Gorham, 20, a Silver Star winner who picked up Van Curler's discarded gun and got the drop on Cooley. Van Curler's pistol had only one bullet in it but the other was empty.

With Fletcher and Van Curler lying dead in the street, Gorham held the gun on Cooley while onlookers yelled: "Kill him! Kill Him!"

"Even the guy yelled, 'Yeah! Shoot me, I wanna die!' And I told him, 'You don't have to worry about that'," said the Army veteran who won his medal by overrunning a Viet Cong machine gun nest.

"When the guy saw me he dropped the gun and raised his hands," Gorham said. "That's all I wanted. I ignored the cries of the crowd.

"That guy didn't look as tough as a Viet Cong."

Gorham remained calm until police reinforcements took charge of Cooley, who was not injured.

Fletcher, a 19-year veteran of the force, first answered a call for help by a female teller who said a man had tried to kick in the door, shouting, "Let me in. I'm John the Baptist!"

Witnesses said the man, raving and wild-eyed, first shot Fletcher, then cut down Van Curler before he could get off his motorcycle.

Conviction Appeal Planned

Bobby Baker Gets 1 to 3 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker, onetime Senate aide, was sentenced today to not less than one year and not more than three years in prison.

Baker stood quietly in the courtroom as Judge Oliver Gasch pronounced the sentence

Baker was convicted of seven counts on charges of income tax evasion, theft and conspiracy The judge sentenced him to one to three years on each count, with the sentences to run concurrently.

His attorneys said the conviction will be appealed.

Says Nothing

Before pronouncing sentence, Gasch said: "Mr. Baker you may speak."

"I have nothing, your honor," Baker said.

Baker told a reporter who called his home here Thursday that he was "fine." Since his trial, he said, he had been "looking after quite a few enterprises."

"I have plenty to keep me busy," he said.

This has been his story since 1963, when he resigned as secretary to Senate Democrats after issues were raised about his financial dealings outside his Senate job.

He made $19,600 a year at that post but also amassed a fortune he estimated once at $2 million in various interests such as law, real estate and motels.

At one time, Baker's immediate superior was Lyndon B. Johnson, who was Senate Democratic leader before he became vice president and then President.

Referred to Kerr

At his trial, Baker testified that then-Vice President Johnson referred him to the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., when Baker went to Johnson about his financial troubles.

A big issue in the trial was what Baker did with some $100,000 raised by California savings and loan company executives in 1962, ostensibly for political campaigns. Baker said he turned the money over to Kerr, who died in 1963. The government charged that Baker pocketed $80,000 for his own use.

Might Affect Surtax Plans

Federal Reserve Board Cuts Its Discount Rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first drop in the Federal Reserve discount rate in more than 6½ years could spell more trouble for the administration's plan for a 6 per cent surtax on corporate and most individual incomes.

The board, in a dramatic move Thursday which could signal a further general easing of credit and lower interest rates, dropped the discount rate from 4.5 to 4 per cent over most of the country effective today.

But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said the action should reinforce opposition to the surtax plan designed partly to stem inflationary pressure expected by government economists later this year.

Proxmire said softening business conditions demanded the unanimous action taken Thursday by the board for 10 of its 12 districts. Although the Atlanta and St. Louis districts failed to seek a lower discount rate, they are expected to follow suit.

If government policy now is aimed at stimulating the economy, Proxmire said, "it would be a mistake to shove up taxes that would discourage business expansion at the same time we reduce interest rates to encourage business."

The Treasury Department welcomed the discount action as a sign of a "desirable further easing of credit availability and interest rate levels." The administration has sought lower interest rates.

Some government experts said the lower discount rate would act as a stimulant to the economy which is now more sluggish than the administration anticipated. This could give the administration stronger economic data to present to Congress later this spring in defending its surtax plan.

A lowering in the discount rate normally means lower interest rates for businessmen seeking loans and for consumers buying houses, automobiles and other goods on the installment plan.

Just how fast the lower discount rate might be felt on consumer loans is open to conjecture. One New York banker said loan demand still is good but in time consumers should be able to borrow money more cheaply.

The discount rate is in the charge made by the Federal Reserve for funds borrowed by its more than 6,000 member banks to improve their reserve positions. Other interest rates are pegged upward from it.

Israel, Syria Fighting Starts On ground, Air

TEL AVIV, Israel, (AP) — While a tank battle raged below, Israeli Mirage jets and swift Syrian MIG21s slugged it out today in dogfights that Syria said swept over Damascus. Israel said six MIGs were shot down and Syria claimed two Mirages.

An Israeli spokesman said two MIGs were shot down in a morning battle and four after fighting in the skies resumed in the afternoon. He made no mention of Damascus and said all the Syrian planes were downed in the area of the Sea of Galilee, where the intense ground fighting was in progress.

Before the first aid battle, Israeli and Syrian forces engaged in a long-range duel of tanks, artillery and mortars across the desert frontier south of the Sea of Galilee that continued into the afternoon.

Most Since 1930 Were Solved

Ransom Kidnapings Rare

NEW YORK (AP) — Kidnaping for ransom in the United States became commonplace in the depression '30s, but since World War I crimes like the abduction in Beverly Hills of 11-year-old Kenneth Young have become increasingly rare.

One major recent kidnaping that has remained unsolved is that of Daniel Goldman in Miami in March 1966. His parents were asked for $50,000 ransom, but the money was not paid and the boy never found.

Three Others

The FBI says the Young case, the Goldman case and only three others of more than 700 kidnapings since the passage of the Lindbergh law in 1932 remain unsolved. Under the law, the bureau is given jurisdiction when it is believed the victim has been taken across state lines.

The three other unsolved cases:

Mary Lou Olsen, 10, kidnaped Jan. 3, 1960, in National City, Calif. No request for ransom was made. The body was found nine days later in a ravine 6 miles south of Tijuana, Mexico.

Peter David Levine, abducted while on his way home from school in New Rochelle, N.Y., Feb. 24, 1938. The boy's body was found washed up on the shore of Long Island Sound in New Rochelle May 29 after attempts to pay a $30,000 ransom were unsuccessful.

Charles Fletcher Mattson, 10, snatched Dec. 27, 1936 in Tacoma, Wash. while playing with three friends. A ransom of $28,000 was demanded. The child's body was found near Everett, Wash.

Other Cases

Other major kidnaping cases since 1930 include:

Michael Katz, Kansas City, seized March 18, 1930. Returned March 19. Ransom of $200,000 paid.

Nell Donnely; Kansas City, seized Dec. 17, 1931. Returned Dec. 18. Ransom demand of $75,000 not paid.

Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., 19 months, Hopewell, N. J., seized March 2, 1932. Found dead May 12. Ransom of $50,000 paid.

Charles Boettcher II, Denver, seized Feb. 12, 1933.

Lack of Jurisdiction

Judge Dismisses Powell's Court Suit

WASHINGTON, (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. dismissed today Adam Clayton Powell's suit for his seat in Congress.

Hart also denied Powell's application for a three-judge court to hear the constitutional challenge of the resolution that excluded him. He said the federal court does not have jurisdiction in the case.

Herbert Reid, one of Powell's attorneys, said that the issue will be taken as quickly as possible to the U.S. Court of Appeals. Reid said he would file the appeal probably some time today.

'Firmly Embedded'

"The doctrine of separation of powers, which developed over a period of two millennia, is firmly embedded in the warp and woof of our constitution," Hart said in his 12-page decision.

Hart said for the court to decide the case and grant what Powell had asked "would constitute a clear violation of the doctrine of separation of powers."

On that basis he accepted the core of the House defense against the action by the New York Negro Democrat.

Misuse of Funds

The House excluded Powell on grounds he misused Education and Labor Committee funds, defied New York State courts in a defamation suit and was contumacious toward House committees that investigated him.

He contends the House wrongfully established qualifications not required by the Constitution.

Powell asked Hart to set up a three-judge panel to hear a constitutional challenge to the resolution that excluded him.

The law authorizes a district judge to establish such a panel when an act of Congress is challenged. The House contends its resolution is not an act of Congress.

Powell, who will try to regain his seat in a special election Tuesday, also asked Hart for an injunction ordering the House to seat him immediately. Thursday in Albany, New York's highest court ruled Powell could run for the 18th Congressional District seat.

Hoffa's Son Enters Field Of Politics

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — James P. Hoffa, 25, son of imprisoned Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, says he will be a Democratic candidate for the Michigan Legislature.

Young Hoffa said Thursday he will run in Detroit's heavily Democratic 19th District in an April 25 special election to fill a vacancy created by the recent death of House Democratic Leader Joseph Kowalski.

Hoffa, an attorney, has served since last summer as a legislative aide to the State Senate Labor and Judiciary committees.

New Assessor Appointed At Fremont

Council Also Makes Appointments to Village Committees

FREMONT — The assessor's position, which is appointive, was filled at the Tuesday council session after the election. Rufus (Gene) Garrow was appointed for one year to succeed Evan Redemann.

Appointments are LeVan Toepke, Dr. Walter Neuschafer and Melvin Maierhafer to the fire department board and hall library and finance committee; Dr. Neuschafer, Harold Abraham and Walter Warnke, building permits; Allan Schafer, Abraham and Walter Warnke, dumping grounds, park and beach; LeVan Toepke, Dr. Neuschafer and Schafer, street and light; Harold Abraham, Maierhafer and Warnke, welfare.

Ludtke Reappointed

Serving on the board of health will be Edward Neubauer and Dale Ludtke. Arden Kester was re-appointed fire inspector, and Ludtke will be policeman, weed commissioner and village maintenance man.

David Kinsman, who served as fire chief after the resignation of Gordon F. Toepke, was appointed chief. Toepke, after 20 years of service, resigned earlier this year, but had been assisting Kinsman.

Richard Johnson, Waupaca, again was retained as village attorney.

An ordinance regulating the collection of refuse pickup was passed, and will become effective upon publication. One license to be issued to a route-collector, will be subject to cancellation by either party upon 30 days notice. The cost of the collections will be financed by the subscribers to the service. Individuals may still haul their own refuse, on Wednesdays and Saturdays, to the Fremont dumping grounds.

Schedule Clean-Up

Clean-up dates within the village have been scheduled for April 19 and April 26. On those dates the village maintenance man, with the village truck, will haul away rubbish placed along the road.

The fire department board was given authority to purchase a portable pump for the village if the demonstration at Monday evening's fire meeting proves satisfactory.

A bartender's license was granted to Michael Redemann.

Ivan Brasch was issued a building permit to remodel the interior of his home, at an estimated cost of $1,000.

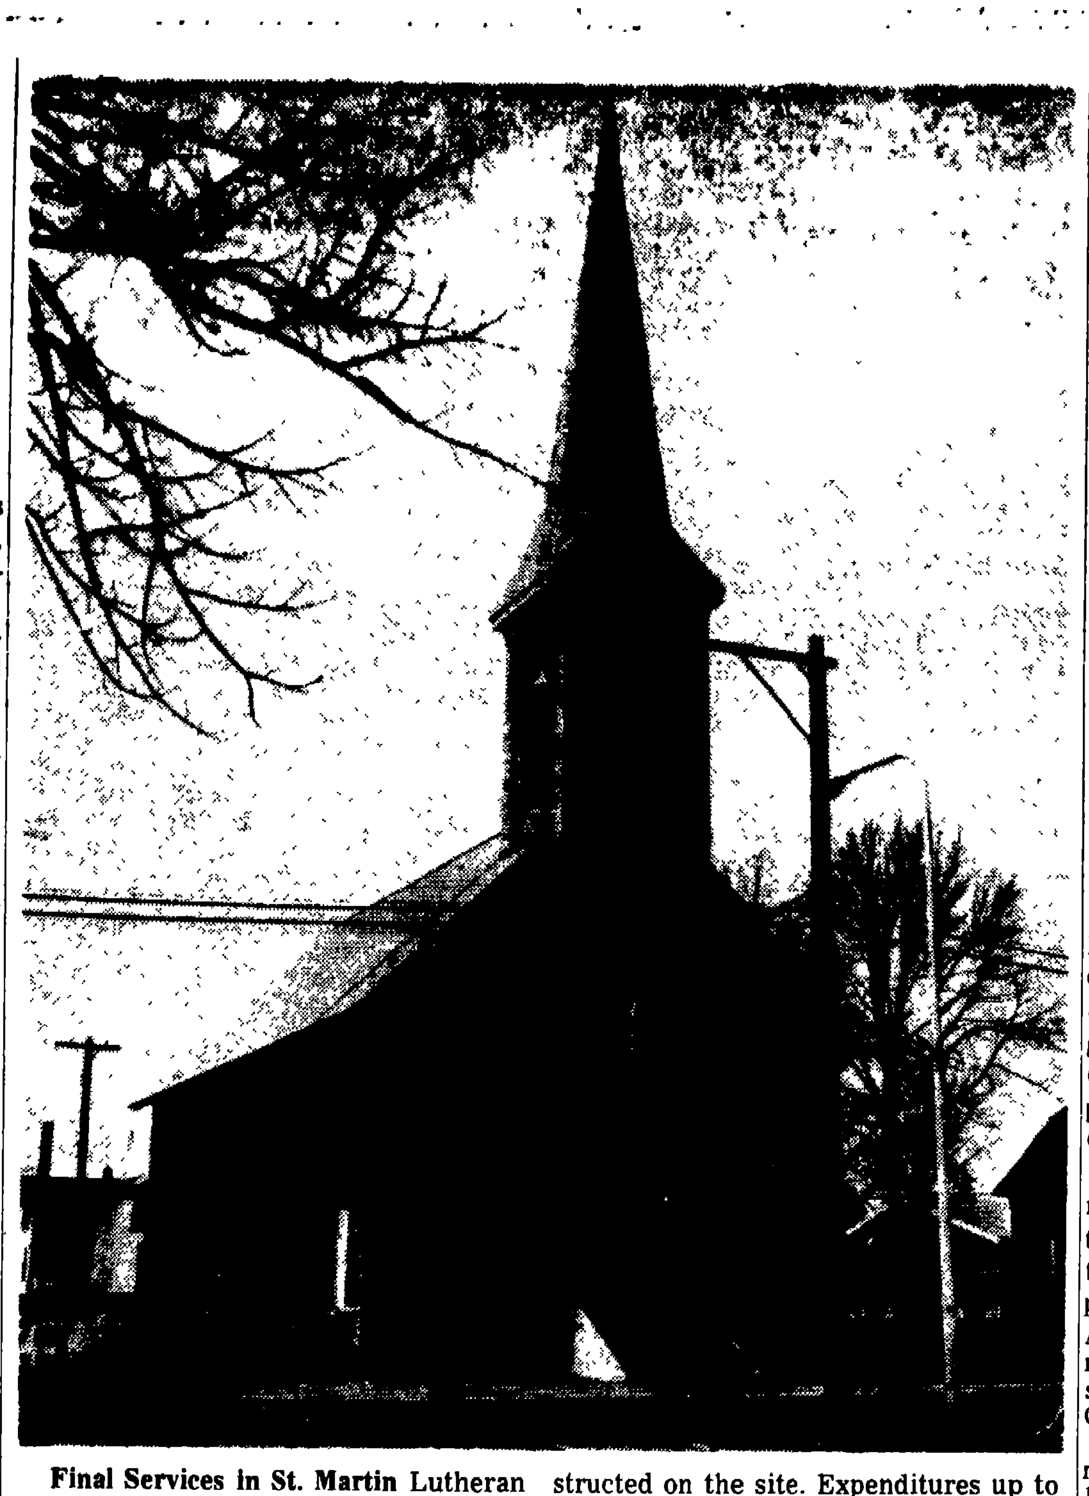
Hankins New C of C Head

Clintonville Group Also Changes Committee Chiefs

CLINTONVILLE — Henry Hankins was elected president of the Clintonville Association of Commerce at a meeting of the board of directors at 5 p m Tuesday at the association's office. He succeeds the late Otto Falk.

Donald Buelow was elected vice president to succeed Hankins. Other officers are Earl Moldenhauer, secretary, and Richard Kuepper, treasurer.

Two changes in co-chairmen of committees were made by the board. Kenneth Spearbraker was named co-chairman with Carl Hensel of the industrial development committee. Donald Buelow was named co-chairman to replace Spearbraker on the general community development committee and will serve with Kuepper.



Final Services in St. Martin Lutheran Church, Clintonville, which was built in 1890, will be held Sunday. The church and adjoining parsonage will be razed and a new church complex will be constructed on the site. Expenditures up to $610,000 for a building program have been approved by the voters of the congregation. (Laib Photo)

Key Assemblyman Vows to Oppose UW-GB Spending

Kordus to Block Funds Until Site Suit Is Settled

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Assemblyman Robert Kordus, D-Milwaukee, a member of the powerful University Affairs Subcommittee of the State Building Commission, vowed Thursday to oppose any expenditures of additional state funds on planning or construction of the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay.

Kordus said that he will continue his opposition until a lawsuit contesting the selection of the Shorewood site on the city's northeast side has been settled. It would be inappropriate, he contended, to approve any additional spending until that test has been settled. The suit is now in a Dane County Circuit Court

Kordus gave the first indication of his position at a meeting of the subcommittee Thursday when he asked for figures on the amount of plannning funds needed for the Parkside campus.

Expands Position

He expanded his position in an interview after the meeting.

Kordus said he would not vote for additional planning money, even for preliminary plans, until the suit is settled He will not oppose expanding the official concept of the new campuses, however, as long as additional money is not needed for the planning.

He also opposed using any funds from the original authorization for the new campuses, which were to have been used to plan or construct the Green Bay campus or the Parkside school If the state can proceed with the Green Bay campus on its present location, those funds will be needed for rapid development of the northeastern school, he said

The three-man subcommittee has control of $537,000 in planning funds for the two new campuses. Of that sum, $155,000 is needed by April 15 to maintain a planning schedule aimed at opening the institutions in September 1969, the subcommittee was told.

The third member of the subcommittee, commission secretary, Gerald K. Emmer, is opposed to facets of the planning of the Parkside school relating to "surge" or temporary space development. Emmer backs full UW-GB development as previously outlined by the subcommittee.

Kordus said that he has informed Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, of his position on the spending question, but said he is not taking directions from the leading opponent of the Shorewood site in the matter. He is not consulting with other site foes, he added.

"I want to watch out for the taxpayers' money," he said. "After all, I pay taxes too, and that lawsuit hasn't been settled.

"It's the people up there starting the suits, not us It's up to me to guard the public's funds. If we delay the school up there for a year or so, there's nothing that I can do about it."

The subcommittee is expected to act on the request for additional planning funds after the full building commission meeting Monday morning.

Hearing Set For Site Bill

Rogers Proposal to Use Larsen Farm To be Aired April 19

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The bill which would change the site of the University of Wisconsin - Green Bay campus will be considered April 19 in a public hearing in the state capitol.

Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, and six other opponents of the Shorewood site on Green Bay's northeast side, authored the bill which proposes to move the new campus to the Larsen Farms location on the city's southwest side.

Backers of the bill claim the Larsen Farms site is more accessible to potential students from the southern part of the Fox River Valley.

Shortly after the Assembly Education Committee was announced by Assembly Speaker Harold V Froehlich, R-Appleton, at the start of the session, it was charged it had been stacked to favor the bill. Froehlich has been an outspoken foe of the Shorewood site selection by the statutory site selection committee a year ago.

The hearing will be at 9 a m in room 213 Northwest of the capitol building.

Bloodmobile To Visit at New London

NEW LONDON — A quota of 125 pints has been set for the Badger Bloodmobile visit at the American Legion Club 1:30 to 6:30 p m. Monday, according to Mrs. Elroy Stern, general chairman

Donors will be recruited from New London and towns of Caledonia, Lebanon and Mukwa.

Mrs. Stern said new plastic donor cards for permanent records were being mailed to donors who participated in the last bloodmobile program.

Government Day Delegates Picked At Waupaca High

WAUPACA — Student officials who will represent the high school in the County Government Day program, scheduled April 27, were named in a general election Wednesday.

'Gerrymandering' Hit In Amendment for Redistricting of County

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The State Senate Thursday adopted an amendment to a legislative reapportionment bill which would substantially change the lines of Outagamie County's Second Assembly District, leading minority Democrats to charge that the legislative seat was being gerrymandered to remove a Democrat from office.

Final consideration of the bill was delayed until next week.

The seat is held by Democrat William Rogers, D-Kaukauna. If effected, the amendment would make major changes in the voting structure of the district, according to Rogers and senatorial critics of the measure introduced by Sen. Raymond Johnson, R-Eau Claire, and supported by legislators from the Outagamie County area.

The vote on the amendment to the bill introduced by Sen. Jerris Leonard, R-Bayside, was 21-12, a straight party line tally.

Rogers said today he has been assured by the Democratic Party organization that the legality of the measure will be challenged in the courts if the legislature enacts it. Rogers called the bill an "obvious gerrymander."

Later this morning, Louis Hanson, chairman of the Democratic Party, confirmed the plan to test the constitutionality of the bill if it is passed

Hanson charged that the proposed shifting of Outagamie County assembly district boundaries is an attempt to change the percentages of party voting to create three moderately strong Republican districts to replace two very strong GOP districts and one moderately strong Democratic district.

Hanson claimed that according to the 1966 vote for assemblyman, the Democratic margin in Rogers' district would be decreased by 2,801 votes. Based on the 1960 and 1964 presidential vote, the Democratic margin would be reduced by 1,542 votes, he said.

"Any way you look at it, this provision is a Republican gerrymander," Hanson asserted.

The vote on the Johnson amendment, which has been strongly backed by Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, came without explanation or discussion, despite attempts by Sen. George Borg, R-Delavan, to gain discussion of the matter.

Blocked Attempts

Lt. Gov. Jack Oslon and other Republicans blocked Borg's attempts, and the vote proceeded without discussion.

Senate minority leader Fred Risser, D-Madison, said, "This amendment puts a Democratic assemblyman out of office. If the majority party . . . can put a minority party member out by this device, they can put all minority members out of office. This is a serious matter. You had better think twice," he warned Republicans as the vote proceeded.

Sen. Taylor Benson, D-Franksville, charged that the move marked a "flamboyant arrogance of power."

"We must do everything we can to try to help him," he said of Rogers, faced with the changes in his district.

Republicans in authoring the measure claimed that the amendment was aimed at bringing a more singular nature to

Laws Must Be on Books January 1

Officials from 14 counties Thursday learned what the State of Wisconsin considers the best approach to shoreland protection, required before next Jan. 1 by the new state water law, chapter 614.

More than 70 planners, zoning committeemen, and resource technicians from northeastern Wisconsin gathered at the Home Mutual Building, Appleton, to hear recommended methods of meeting the deadline.

A manual to assist county zoning authorities in preparing regulations to control development along the shores of lakes, rivers and streams, was outlined by Douglas Yanggen, planner for the University of Wisconsin (UW) Extension Division.

Prepare Manual

It was compiled by the extension division in cooperation with the Department of Resource Development, Board of Health, State Conservation Department, Soil Conservation Service and Public Service Commission.

Yanggen said, "It reflects the combined thinking of people from a number of different disciplines and agencies . . . a concensus of opinion."

The day-long sessions had been preceded by earlier meetings called by the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission to discuss the new law and its requirements.

County officials also received copies of a model county shoreland protection ordinance prepared by the UW extension.

Yanggen outlined the general requirements of the new law which says land within 1,000 feet of navigable lakes, ponds or flowages must be zoned, as well as shoreland within 300 feet of navigable rivers and streams or to the landward side of floodplains.

Requires Standards

"It does not prohibit development within those areas," Yanggen said, "but requires

Dredging Plan Considered for Spring Creek

Town of Brillion Voters Discuss Watershed Group

FOREST JUNCTION — Formation of an association for the Spring Creek watershed to control spring flooding and late summer pocketing of water was discussed at the annual meeting Tuesday of the Town of Brillion.

The creek, in its present condition, poses a problem to town farmers.

Bruno Zucollo, Calumet County soil conservationist, explained the views the department had on the area. Part of the watershed area consists of land being acquired by the conservation department to be developed as a wildlife area.

Wilmer Struebing, a former town chairman. said three groups are interested in the area. They are the Town of Brillion, City of Brillion and the conservation department. He also suggested investigating the possibility of acquiring federal funds to aid in opening the creek's channel.

The voters agreed to a state survey of the watershed to determine what action can be taken.

Salaries of town officials were continued at the same rate as last year Highway personnel salaries will be set by the board.

A resolution was adopted to charge an $8 monthly fee for parking house trailers If the fee is delinquent the charge will be hiked to $10.

The Junior and Senior German classes at Clintonville Senior High School presented a program for their parents and guests after a dinner at the school. Here the Treidels, Jean Obrecht, Barb Keller and Mary Kay Snider, sing one of the German songs they contributed to the program.

Hilbert Kiwanians Helping Pay for Little Boy's Surgery

HILBERT — A fund raising project for two-year-old Scott Boesch, who underwent rare heart surgery in December to transplant a pulmonary vein, is being conducted by the newly-formed Hilbert Kiwanis Club.

Lawn fertilizer is being sold by club members.

All profits will go to the "New Heart for Scott Boesch Fund" at the State Bank of Hilbert.

The fund was started at the bank in December with contributions from area residents and some as far away as Arizona, who read of Scott's plight in The Post-Crescent.

His surgery, expected to cost from $5,100-$10,000, was called successful by Madison physicians who recently examined him.

Scott is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boesch, route 1, Hilbert. He welcomed a baby brother who was born Saturday at Calumet Memorial Hospital

First Three Months

Accidents, Fatalities Up in Waupaca County

WAUPACA—Traffic accidents and fatalities in Waupaca County for the first three months of this year are running slightly ahead of the same period last year.

Capt. John F. Penney of the county traffic patrol said 102 accidents occurred on the highways of the county through March 31, compared to 96 during that period of 1966. The patrol investigated 28 accidents in March.

One fatality also was recorded during the month bringing the total for the year to two. Last year at this time the county had no highway deaths.

25 Injured

Along with the one traffic fatality during the month, 25 people suffered injuries in traffic accidents which involved 42 vehicles.

County traffic patrolmen made 55 traffic and three criminal arrests, issued 66 warnings and 41 5-day tickets during March.

Patrolmen made 23 blood runs, escorted 16 funerals, directed traffic at four fires, transported 14 prisoners, and assisted 45 motorists in trouble.

The patrol's seven squad cars were driven a total of 21,963 miles in March.

Miss Hey Days Contest Set in Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Preliminary eliminations in the "Miss Hey Days" contest for 1967 will be held at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the junior high school cafeteria. Contestants must be 16, 17 or 18 years old, either a graduate or currently attending the Clintonville Senior High School.

Entry blanks are available at the senior high school office and the deadline for entries is Saturday. Contestants will be judged on a combination of personality, poise and beauty.

Seven semi-finalists will be selected Tuesday night, one of whom will be elected queen to reign over the Clintonville celebration on July 7, 8 and 9.

Frank Zadra's 228 Is Top Score in Brillion Men's National League

BRILLION — Frank Zadra cracked a 228 game and 578 series and Dennis Ott had a 554 series for Sommers Insurance team in National League bowling this week.

Jim Allen's 572 series and Joe Schuh's 550 series for El Carole's and Struebing's, respectively, were the other two high counts posted.

Doughty's team is in first place with a 50½-27½ record.

Two Drivers Forfeit $28 at New London

NEW LONDON — Two drivers involved in traffic accidents in late March each forfeited $28 in Municipal Justice Court Thursday when they failed to answer city police charges.

Dennis Besaw, 21, 1005 W. Millard St., was charged with failing to yield from a stop sign resulting in a two-car collision March 29 at Millard and Wyman Streets.

Douglas M. Kopitzke, 21, 406 E. Beacon Ave., was charged with failing to report an accident March 28 at the car wash on Oshkosh Street.

Ray Buchberger To Head Darboy American Legion

DARBOY — Ray Buchberger was elected commander of the Leo Van Roy American Legion post at its meeting Wednesday night.

Pat Berben is vice commander; Floyd Jahnke, finance officer; Gordon Mader, chaplain; Kenneth Schmalz, service officer, and Pat Stumpf, sergeant-at-arms. The new officers will be installed at the monthly meeting of the Calumet County Council.

The post approved purchase of the book "The American Legion Story" for donation to the Holy Angels School library. Berben and John Spierings head the committee for replacement or repair of the school's flag pole. Cost will be paid by the auxiliary.

Plans for the annual picnic were discussed. Retiring officers will meet with the new officials sometime this month to make definite plans.

Delegates to attend the annual spring conference at Two Rivers April 23, are Art Alesch and Buchberger.

Boys Registered For New London Baseball League

NEW LONDON — Boys who will play in the Boys Baseball League are being registered by Allen Lubinski, league director.

Lubinski said registration forms and $2 for insurance must be returned by April 19. Boys must be eight years old by Oct. 1 to qualify for play in the minor division.

Boys who will be 12 before Oct. 1 and up to age 16 will play in the major league. Senior high school boys will not be eligible to play.

Lubinski said managers and umpires were needed for the league because another year has been added to the eligibility.

The annual draft and organizational meeting will be at 8 p.m., May 3, at Ebert's Hall.

Student at Clintonville Tied for Contest Lead

CLINTONVILLE — Gary Paul, a senior at senior high school, has tied for first place among 105, 682 entries in a national dairy cow judging contest.

Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Paul, route 1, Bear Creek, is tied for first place in the junior division in the 37th Hoard's Dairyman judging contest. His instructor, R. J. Schlomann, was notified Wednesday.

In order to break the tie, Paul will be required to do more judging in five different categories and supply reasons for his judgement, Schlomann explained.

His test results must be in by April 15.

Correction

Eighth Dist. Rep. John Byrnes will hold office hours at the courthouse in Appleton next Friday morning and not today as stated in Thursday's Post-Crescent. His hours will be from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Constituents will be seen in the order of arrival.

Royalton Grade Closed

Mite Mighty Potent Parasite; Classes Scratched Due to Itch

ROYALTON — The Royalton Grade School was closed last Monday when 73 of 90 pupils were sent home because of an infestation of acariasis (mites).

The Board of Health closed the school. It reportedly will be reopened next Monday.

Families of the pupils were urged by the Waupaca County nurse's office to use a thorough soap and water bath and application of benzyl benzoate emulsion, or the emulsion and DDT to suppress itching and get rid of the tiny parasites.

The mites can be passed from one person to another, and may cause infection and rash. Ordinary laundering or dry cleaning of clothes will kill the pests.

Royalton is located six miles west of New London on State 54. The school is in the Manawa School District.

Council Delays Action on Clintonville Civic Center

Committee to Conduct Survey Of Housing for Needy, Elderly

CLINTONVILLE — An offer to begin preliminary studies for the proposed Clintonville Civic Center, recommended by the citizens' advisory committee, was held over Tuesday night pending consultation with Max Anderson Associates, planning consultants for the city.

Coucil members delayed action on the preliminary study after hearing a letter from Knodle-Rose and Associates, a Beloit architectural firm. The study would offer space requirements, a proposed site, preliminary floor plans and a scale model.

Construction cost estimates would be included in the study, according to the Beloit firm.

Survey Housing

The proposed center would house a fire station, municipal offices, a library and a community recreational center.

Mayor Frank Sinkewicz also told councilmen that the housing and relocation committee will conduct a survey to determine if there is a need for low-rent housing for needy and elderly city residents.

The committee's report will be delivered to the council when it is complete.

In other action at the council meeting, members:

—Advised the new owner of the Clintonville Sales Office building, S. Main Street, that the structure may be effected by urban renewal planning, which is expected to begin soon.

—Accepted an offer from Oscar Blomgren to exchange about two acres of his property on the north side of Seventh Street for water and sewer facilities on his property south of the street. The land may figure in straightening the Pigeon River if such a program is undertaken.

—Authorized the board of public works to advertise for bids for installation of water or sewer facilities at Fairway Estates, a portion of Anne Street, Riverside Drive and the Graceland Cemetery.

—Approved tavern operators' licenses for Timothy Hutchinson, Harold Reissman, Esther Reinke and Lillian Mae Kautz.

—Authorized the police and fire commission to advertise for bids to lease or purchase a squad car.

Rescue Unit

Aldermen discussed asking bordering townships for assistance in buying a rescue unit. The Town of Larrabee voted $300 towards equipment for the unit at its annual meeting Tuesday afternoon and the Town of Matteson likewise had voted $200 towards it.

The towns of Deer Creek and Bear Creek and the Village of Embarrass are to be contacted by a committee which includes Aldermen Ed Wanta, chairman, Cal Waite and Evan Hedtke.

April 12 was announced as the date for a meeting of the State Highway Department with the County Highway Commission and Dey's, Inc., Shawano, to discuss blacktopping for the year. The city of Clintonville will figure in blacktopping since N. Main Street will be blacktopped from 20th Street north to the city limits, and the project will continue on State 22 to the Shawano county line.

Hung Jury Averted by 17 Minutes

Find Janesville Man Guilty of Negligent Homicide

Only 17 minutes before the judge would have declared a deadlock, a 12-man Outagamie County Court jury Thursday night found a 24-year-old Janesville man guilty of negligent homicide in the Sept. 5 traffic deaths of a Manitowoc couple.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller, who presided over the two-day trial, ordered a pre-sentence investigation for Thomas J. Lubeck, a college student, who was charged last October following a finding by a six-man coroner's jury. Judge Keller ordered sentencing for 1:30 p.m. April 21. Lubeck remained free under $1,000 bond.

The Janesville man, who lived in Appleton the past summer while undergoing pharmaceutical training, was driving a car that sideswiped an auto driven by Mrs. Edna Hinz of Neenah then crashed head-on into a car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Krebsbach, both 59, of Manitowoc. The Manitowoc couple was killed almost instantly in the crash on U.S. 10, a mile west of Appleton.

'Hopeless'

The guilty verdict was announced at 8:58 p.m., after nearly four and a half hours of deliberation by the all-male jury. Twice the jury indicated it was "hopelessly deadlocked." The first time was at 5:20 p.m., after about two hours of deliberation. Judge Keller ordered the jurors be taken to dinner, then be returned for further deliberation. They returned about 7 p.m.

At 8 p.m., Judge Keller called the jury out. Five members indicated there was a "hopeless deadlock," but most felt a verdict could be reached if they stayed longer. Judge Keller ordered one more hour of deliberation — until 9:15 p.m. — before he would rule a hung jury. which would have necessitated a new trial before a different jury.

Outagamie County court officials said they could not recall the last time there was a hung jury.

12 Witnesses

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer called 12 witnesses for the state during the trial, while Lubeck's attorney placed four witnesses, including the Janesville man, on the stand.

Lubeck's attorney, in his final arguments to the jury Thursday afternoon, attempted to discredit testimony of state's witnesses who told of the speed of the Lubeck car just prior to the accident. He said the witnesses were not qualified to pinpoint the speed merely through observation.

The attorney also objected several times to allowing testimony regarding a minor hit and run accident Lubeck was involved in at Badger and Wisconsin Avenues just before the fatal accident. He said the hit and run mishap was not related to the three-car crash.

The attorney also told the jury that Mrs. Hinz, in pulling out of the Outagamie County Hospital driveway onto U.S. 10, before she was sideswiped by the Lubeck car, created an "emergency situation," that caused Lubeck to swerve and crash into the Krebsbach auto.

Jurors included Wallace Roblee, 1630 S. Memorial Drive; Ray Schultz Jr., 1624 N. Gillett St.; Lawrence Wendorf, 212½ N. Meade St.; Wallace Wolff, 1430 N. Superior St.; and Roy Moore, 1344 W. Eighth St., all of Appleton; Luther Huebner, Raymond Baerwald, and Glen Sipe. Hortonville; Charles O. Petersen, 1209 Desnoyer St., and Theodore Timmers, 104 Idlewild St., both of Kaukauna; Joseph Romensko, 930 Depot St., Little Chute, and Donald M. Fries, 118 Jean St., Combined Locks.

Plan Observance of Law Day for May 1

Outagamie County Lawyers, Wives Arrange Local Schedule

Attorney John G. Kellogg and Mrs. Daniel J. Burns Jr. are heading local preparations for Law Day, May 1.

Kellogg represents the Outagamie County Bar Association, and Mrs. Burns is chairman for the Outagamie County Lawyer's Wives. They have announced that Law Day programs will include a speaker's bureau, distribution of "Rule of Law Quiz" to schools, posters and displays in stores and public buildings, a trip to the state Supreme Court, and a banquet.

"No man is above the law, and no man is below it" is theme for this year's Law Day. The holiday was instituted after a proclamation by President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958. It became a national observance by virtue of a resolution adopted by the 87th Congress.

Speaker's Bureau

Heading the speaker's bureau is attorney Irving G. Curry, III. Civic groups, fraternal organizations, churches, schools, and other interested organizations may request speakers. There is no prepared format for speech subjects. Talks will be given by practicing attorneys.

A visit to the Wisconsin Supreme Court is being arranged by Mrs. Walter H. Brummund. Lawyers' wives will make a tour of the Supreme Court quarters at the State Capitol in Madison, and observe a Supreme Court session May 10.

Plan Dinner

At the Law Day dinner, members of the bar association who have been in practice 25 years or more will be honored.

Those in charge of displays and posters around the county are: Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Kelland W. Lathrop, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Lorge, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Lubinski, Mr. and Mrs. Peter S. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis M. Wydeven and Mr. and Mrs. Urban J. Van Hoof.

Ordinances Urged at New London Meeting

Alderman Says Council Should Consider Controls on Air Pollution; Cites Dangers

NEW LONDON — The need for several new ordinances to control nuisances was brought before the council Wednesday.

E. F. Buelow, 115 S. Water St., said water pollution control is a good thing, but the need for controls over air pollution were being pushed into the background.

"Just take a look around. Air pollution is not only a health hazard, but damages property," Buelow said.

Buelow indicated the matter of air pollution should be looked into and something done about it.

Disaster Area

He questioned Ray Pelishek, public works director, about the city being a so-called disaster area. If it is, I expect to get something because I have spent a good deal of time improving my yard and it is washing out because of the current high water, Buelow said.

Pelishek said he didn't know any more than he had read in newspapers, but Buelow could make a written report for forwarding to the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Buelow raised a complaint about the Curtiss Company piling lumber on Smith Street between Wolf River Avenue and the Wolf River. It is up to the council to see that the lumber is not piled on a public street, he said.

Several Calls

Police Chief Jack Algiers said his department had received several calls on the matter and the problems seemed to be that the street wasn't clearly marked.

Mayor Harry S. Emans referred the piling of lumber on streets to the board of public works for investigation.

Ald. Gilbert Kroll (1st) reported that several complaints on burning rubbish in the city were being made and an ordinance governing rubbish burning should be adopted.

Emans referred the rubbish burning issue to the board of health for study and preparation of an ordinance.

WSU-O Coach to Talk

BRILLION — Bob White, basketball coach at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, will speak at the April 20 all-sports dinner sponsored by the Brillion Jaycees.

Brillion High School lettermen will be guests at the 7:30 p.m. dinner at St. Mary Church hall.

Dennis Krizenesky is chairman and tickets can be purchased in advance from Jaycee members.

Democrats Hit Plan for County Redistricting

the Outagamie County assembly districts. Urban districts would be made more urban, they said, and a rural district would be made more rural.

Republicans later modified their position on debate of the question, but after the amendment had once been adopted. Johnson defended his amendment after reconsideration of the vote was asked. The vote, following further arguments, was again 21-12 for adoption on a straight party line route.

"This amendment is designed to permit each of those assemblymen to respond to the needs of their districts," Johnson said.

Vote Totals

Schreiber recounted vote totals for the past nine years in the district, claiming that the Democrat totals would have been substantially altered by the proposed lines.

In 1966, he claimed, Rogers vote would have been decreased by 2,800 votes. Rogers said after the adoption that he won last fall's election by about 3,000 votes, and that the new lines would have caused him to win election by only a narrow margin of a few hundred votes.

Schreiber said that the 1958 to 1966 average Democratic vote in the district would have dropped 1,594 votes.

In the presidential elections of 1960 and 1964, he said, it would have decreased the margin by 1,542 votes.

"You can use all the arguments that you want about urban and rural splits," he said. "But it all comes down to a gerrymander.

"I ask you not to mess around with the reapportionment on the books. There is a census in 1970," he pleaded.

Risser asked Johnson why the amendment had not been offered by Lorge.

Strangely Silent

"We have here an extremely competent and able senator representing Outagamie County but for some reason he has been strangely silent on this amendment affecting his area. Why should a freshman senator from about as far away as you can get introduce an amendment to this effect," he asked.

Lorge said that President Johnson was not respected in Outagamie County. "I am trying to bring some repute to the name of Johnson in the county," he joked.

The bill itself is the only one which is permitted under a 1964 reapportionment of the state legislative seats ordered by the State Supreme Court. Only one correctional bill is allowed following those changes, and majority leader Leonard entered as the first Senate bill of the session a measure which would alter district lines in his suburban Milwaukee area, and Democrats charge, make a changeable Assembly seat securely Republican. Affected by the bill would be the City of Glendale.

District Changes

Removed from Rogers district would be the towns of Freedom, Kaukauna, Oneida, Osborn, Seymour, and Vandenbroek, the Village of Little Chute and the City of Seymour.

Added are the 7th, 9th to 11th and 13th wards of Appleton.

Remaining in the district are the town of Buchanan, the villages of Combined Locks and Kimberly, and the City of Kaukauna.

Removed from the district represented by Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich, R-Appleton, are the wards of the City of Appleton added to Rogers' district, and the 16th district, which is transferred to the Outagamie County district represented by Ervin Conradt, R-Shiocton.

In Conradt's district would be that Appleton ward and all other towns, villages and cities in Outagamie County.

If passed, the bill will be sen to the Assembly; where a strong fight over the Rogers' district provisions can be expected.

Officials Hear Ideas On Shoreland Zoning

that development must meet minimum standards."

It will be the responsibility of counties to zone their shorelands. Yanggen said the relationship between units of government regarding zoning will change when the new law goes into effect.

Previously, counties could draw zoning ordinances but towns weren't required to adopt them. The new law does not leave adoption of shoreland protection ordinances to the discretion of towns, Yanggen said.

Additionally, counties not having shoreland ordinances by Jan. 1, 1968 will be required to answer to the state. The state may draw the ordinances at county expense and administration of the regulations will be left to the counties.

In such cases, Yanggen said, the ordinances could be amended only if the counties first received state approval.

A question that has plagued officials for years, the determination of "navigable waters," was discussed briefly by the state planner. Since zoning will be required only along those bodies of water considered navigable, the final definition will have a considerable effect in many areas.

Define Navigable

"There is no list of navigable waters available," Yanggen said. "Generally, 'navigable' is synonymous with 'floatable'," he said.

"As far as rivers and streams are concerned, it has been suggested that if either is shown as a solid line on a United States Geological survey quadrangle map, it should be considered navigable .... if it is a dotted line, it should be considered non-navigable," he said.

"The advantage of that is that it does not require a case-by-case approach to determine case approach to determin not," he added.

Other recommendations in the manual and the state's model code include the use of a "zoning administrator" for each county. Yanggen said the counties might need such an employe for administration of the complex statute.

He also said a permit system should be used for the new law.

Grants Available

The law provides that counties are eligible for an annual grant in aid of up to $1,000 to defray expenses of administering the new ordinances. However, only $40,000 has been appropriated for the first year Yanggen said. The state has 72 counties.

"It would be possible that the legislature might increase the annual appropriation," he said, if the counties showed a serious attempt to ease the state's pollution troubles. "That's only speculation on my part," Yanggen added.

Attending the meeting were county officials from Outagamie, Calumet, Winnebago, Fond du Lac, Waupaca, Manitowoc, Waushara, Shawano, Menominee, Kewaunee, Oconto, Sheboygan, Door and Brown.

USO Fund Drive Set Saturday in Weyauwega

WEYAUWEGA — Saturday has been designated United Service Organization (USO) Day in the city.

The USO provides recreation centers for servicemen and now operates 10 clubs in Vietnam.

Mrs. Clarence Radtke has been selected chairman of the campaign by Mayor Walter Kamp.

The drive will be conducted by a committee of high school girls, headed by Sarah Mallo, Cathy Resch and Sandy Schroeder. They will make a house-to-house canvass for donations and will sell booster buttons.
